PACT BATTLE LOOMS AS VIEWS OF ENVOYS CONFLICT AT HEARING

8-Inch Gun Cruiser Plan Shows Adams at Odds With Stimson.

TREATY NAVY'S COST SET AT NEAR BILLION

Johnson Cites Possible Joker Against U. S. in Article 19.

BRITAIN BENEFITED BY ESCAPE CLAUSE

Navy Chief States General Board's Advice Was Not Sought at Parley.

By ALBERT W. FOX.

A real battle over certain features of the London naval treaty now looms in the Senate as a result of conflicting testimony given yesterday by Secretary Stimson, Secretary of the Navy Adams and Admiral Pratt, chief naval adviser to the American delegation. The simultaneous functioning of the committee on foreign relations and the committee on naval affairs subjected the treaty defenders to a crossfire of sharp questioning which necessarily developed points of difference respecting vitally important matters.

At the end of a hectic day, the following developments stood out conspicuously:

First—All three witnesses agree that the treaty will be beneficial to the country as a whole and the Navy in particular.

Second—The cost of the treaty Navy will be between $800,000,000 and $1,071,000,000.

Third—There is conflict in the view which Secretary Adams holds toward superiority of 8-inch gun cruisers for America's needs and views entertained by Secretary Stimson and Admiral Pratt.

Escape Clause Forced on U. S.

Fourth—The escape clause was forced upon the American delegation by the British and Secretary Adams concedes that America may have to build the types of ship desired by the British to cope with the Franco-Italian menace, or abandon parity.

Fifth—The abandonment of America's position on 8-inch cruisers was made necessary by the insistence of Japan.

Sixth—The American Rodney, which the delegation demanded as a means of obtaining parity, was abandoned in return for British permission to America to modernize existing capital ships.

Seventh—Senator Johnson disclosed what may prove to be a joker in the text of the treaty, and his assertion that America is victimized thereby and loses cruiser parity with Great Britain brought no complete answer.

Secretary Stimson concluded his testimony yesterday morning after submitting to a severe cross-examination at the hands of Senator Johnson. The Secretary himself explained his plight and embarrassment by saying that he was like a man with one hand tied behind his back. By this he meant that he was not free to make unrestricted answers to many of the pointed questions. Senator Johnson, among others, conceded that the position of the Secretary of State was necessarily delicate and told Mr. Stimson not to answer any question that would embarrass him.

Adams Questioned by Hale.

While Secretary Stimson was concluding his testimony, Secretary Adams was replying to pointed questions by Senator Hale before the naval affairs committee. The replies by Mr. Stimson did not consistently harmonize with the statements by Secretary Adams. At times there was direct contradiction owing to the apparent desire of the Secretary of State to avoid blunt assertions which might expose the inner workings of the delicate negotiations.

The same contradictions were shown in the testimony of Admiral Pratt before the foreign relations committee and Secretary Adams before the committee on naval affairs. The day ended with many important matters unexplained to the satisfaction of senators.

The clouds of confusion may lift today when Secretary Adams appears before foreign relations and Admiral Pratt takes the stand before Senator Hale's committee on naval affairs, but in the meantime it is proving difficult to reconcile information so far produced.

Alleged Joker Revealed.

One point raised by Senator Johnson, in his examination of Secretary Stimson, remains unanswered and raises the question of whether or not a costly joker has found its way into the official text of the pact from the effect of which the United States would be the victim.

Mr. Johnson pointed out that article XVI of the treaty gives a table

Mrs. John Buchanan Sues Wealthy Mate

Says Husband Deserted Her and Discontinued $12,000 Allowance.

John R. Buchanan, wealthy society man, of Warrenton, Va., and son of the late Gen. Buchanan, who left an estate valued at more than $4,000,000, was named defendant in a suit for maintenance filed yesterday in District of Columbia Supreme Court by his wife, Mrs. Ruth Lester Buchanan, daughter of Wharton E. Lester, prominent Washington attorney.

Mrs. Buchanan, through her attorneys, Wilton J. Lambert and Rudolph H. Yeatman, tells the court that her husband deserted her on February 17 last, without "right or just cause." Since then, the wife asserts, her husband has discontinued her allowance of $1,000 a month and "has neglected and refused and still neglects and re-

INDIA AWAITS MOVE AGAINST SALT DEPOT

Woman Successor to Gandhi Goes Ahead With Plans for Raid.

POLICE ARREST NATIVES

Bombay, India, May 14 (A.P.).—All India was tense tonight as Mrs. Sarojini Naidu, successor to Mahatma Gandhi as head of the civil resistance movement, went ahead with her plans to descend on the salt depot at Dharsaana at 6 o'clock tomorrow morning while the government appeared equally determined there would be no raid.

Mrs. Naidu visited Bombay today and then returned to Karadi en route to Dharsaana to which she is planning to lead a group of volunteers as a determined gesture against the government. Mahatma Gandhi's plan to lead a similar raid was one of the chief causes for his eventual arrest ten days ago.

The government is taking drastic precautions against any raid on the salt depot. It has issued an order prohibiting the assembly of more than four persons in the neighborhood of Dharsaana and is stated to have transferred the whole police force of Jalalpur to the threatened point.

The first woman arrested since the civil disobedience campaign began was taken into custody today and sentenced to one year's simple imprisonment. She is Mrs. Lakshmipathi, a widely known social worker of Madras, who went to Vedaranyam to lead a demonstration against the government.

The all-parties conference began its sessions here today. A debate regarded with especial interest took place before the Calcutta corporation which adopted a resolution offering "most respectful homage to Mahatma Gandhi, apostle of nonviolence, and tendering him most sincere felicitations on his incarceration and the signal triumph achieved by him and his campaign."

The resolution was opposed by Moslem members whose spokesman was A. K. Fazlul, a former minister. He said he could not agree with the word homage in view of the oath which he

CONFERENCE TANGLE MAY KILL TARIFF BILL

Compromise by Senate on Flexible Clause Seen as Only Hope.

SMOOT EVINCES WORRY

(Associated Press.)

The prospects that after sixteen months of work there may be no tariff bill were being seriously discussed yesterday by both Republican and Democratic leaders after the Republican conferees on the measure worked themselves deeper into a morass of difficulties over procedure.

Party chieftains conceded that whether a bill finally will be sent to the White House hung on the slender thread of an agreement by the Senate to give its conferees a free hand to work out a compromise on the flexible provision.

Half a dozen conflicting viewpoints were expressed as to the next move. It was quite generally understood, however, that the Senate Republican conferees would ask the Senate the latter part of the week to let them return the measure to conference with no ties binding them to the Senate's legislative flexible provision.

The House, supported by President Hoover, has turned down the flexible clause withdrawing presidential rate changing power, and its conferees are unwilling to hold further conferences until the Senate has authorized a "full and free conference."

Both Democratic and Republican Independent groups conferred during the day on strategy plans, but no definite courses were determined. Further conferences will be held today.

Republicans asserted the coalition, which wrote the debenture and legislative flexible provisions into the measure at the height of its power, could kill the bill by denying the conferees a free hand.

Democrats countered with the claim that the Republicans were inclined to let the bill die. Some went so far as to predict that President Hoover would prefer the present law instead of the pending measure.

Senator Smoot (Republican), Utah, on whose shoulders the burden of

HALTED HOUSE ORDERS ARREST OF ABSENTEES

Longworth Among Those Brought In Under Seizure Rule.

ABSENCE OF QUORUM PRECIPITATES MOVE

Six Hours of Filibuster on Minor Measure Spurs Action.

MEMBERS, HUNGRY, TAKEN FROM TABLES

Unusual Procedure Voted for First Time Since Eight Years Ago.

(Associated Press.)

For the first time in eight years the House of Representatives had to order arrest of its members last night to secure a quorum, and one of the first to be escorted into the chamber by the sergeant at arms was Speaker Longworth.

The move came over a relatively unimportant measure, a bill by Representative Ketcham (Republican), of Michigan, to provide for expansion of the foreign agriculture information service.

For six hours the House found itself in a filibuster, as Representative Wood, of Indiana, and Representative Stafford, of Wisconsin, both Republicans, exhausted every parliamentary maneuver to prevent action on the measure.

Arrest Was Approved.

Finally the House approved a motion by Representative Quin (Democrat), Mississippi, to order arrest of all members who were absent without permission. The absentees started streaming in, but soon it was discovered that those who had remained supperless in the chamber had departed in search of food. Sixty members left while the arrest of others was sought. The House sergeants at arms then started taking members away from the tables in the House restaurant. On the second roll call put by Speaker Longworth a quorum was established and members proceeded with debate on the bill.

In the gallery was the Speaker's wife, Alice Roosevelt Longworth, who had been attracted to the chamber by the unusual situation.

Sergeant at Arms J. G. Rodgers was dispatched to bring in absentee members upon adoption by a roll call of 122 to 74 of a resolution for the arrests.

Tilson Signs Warrants.

Representative Tilson, Republican leader, who was in the chair as speaker pro tem, began signing warrants immediately upon adoption of the resolution. Some members were found nearby, but officers started searching for other representatives at their homes, theaters and elsewhere.

Eight years ago a similar situation developed when the membership was needed for a vote on the Dyer antilynching bill.

A quorum of the House is a majority of 218 members, while there

CANNON FACES LONG GRILL ON MARKET DEALS

Bishop Is Quizzed Three Hours by Committee at Conference.

FORMAL TRIAL HANGS ON HEARERS' VERDICT

Declines to Comment on Quiz; Questioners Are Sworn to Secrecy.

MARRIAGE CEREMONY CHANGE IS APPROVED

Self-Government Is Granted Korea, Brazil and Mexico at Dallas.

Dallas, Tex., May 14 (A.P.).—For three hours this afternoon Bishop James Cannon, jr., of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, was questioned by his fellow churchmen regarding his stock market activities, and tonight he had still more to tell.

F. P. Culver, chairman of the episcopacy committee, said Bishop Cannon would return for the night session and that the committee "probably" would have a statement to make.

Bishop Cannon, whose leg was injured recently in an automobile accident, limpe dfrom the committee room with a smile on his face and talked more affably to newspaper reporters than he has done since coming to Dallas more than a week ago for the quadrennial conference of the church.

Postpones His Comment.

He still declined, however, to comment on the charges.

"I've decided," he said, "that it's best not to make statements."

"So we've discovered," one reporter observed. The bishop chuckled and added that he would make a statement "at the proper time." Pressed for an interpretation, he said the "proper time" would be when he was called officially to talk.

All members of the committee are sworn to secrecy.

Bishop Cannon is charged with "playing" the stock market, and more than a score of delegates to the conference have urged a trial to clear up the accusations. The bishop will not be tried by the Church unless the episcopacy committee makes such a recommendation.

Marriage Rite Amended.

The committee on revisals today concurred in the memorial of the Louisville Conference to amend the marriage ceremony of the church by striking out the words "obey" and "serve."

The memorial will be submitted to the general conference of the church.

Autonomous church governments for Korea, Brazil and Mexico and a permanent bishop for China were apprdoved at the conference today.

While the first tthree churches will be set up as separate bodies, their relations to the mother church will be retained in what was characterized

SENATE PASSES BILL PROVIDING TRANSFER IN DRY ENFORCEMENT

What Did McBride Mean?

(Associated Press.)

F. Scott McBride, superintendent of the Antisaloon League, said in a statement yesterday that he wished "to make it plain that it is not my view that the Volstead act authorizes the manufacture of beer or home brew."

His statement said:

"Many of the headlines and news articles in the press, referring to my testimony before the Senate lobby committee on Tuesday, May 13, convey the impression that I said home brewing or the making of beer in the home was lawful under the Volstead act.

"I made no such statement and the record shows that I did not. I was questioned regarding a speech by Congressman Fort in the House of Representatives in which he quoted from section 29 of the Volstead act as follows:

" 'The penalties provided in this act against the manufacturing of liquor without a permit shall not apply to a person for manufacturing nonintoxi-

The official record of McBride's testimony shows he was asked by Chairman Caraway, of the lobby committee, if Representative Fort had not made a speech in which "he rather wanted to upset the dry program, didn't he?" The official record continues:

"McBride—I think not.

"Caraway—Well, I was under the impression that he was for a modification.

"McBride—No, he said that the law permitted the making of liquor in the home. It was his interpretation of the law as it is."

Later:

"Caraway—You don't agree with his interpretation?

"McBride—Well, now, we think that was a very good speech that he made as a whole.

"Caraway—That isn't what I asked you.

"McBride—That is his interpretation. I think probably he is right."

A little later:

Amendment to Ban Use of Poison in Alcohol Meets Defeat.

SLIGHT WET ADVANCE SEEN IN LATTER VOTE

19 Ballots to Drys' 54 Are Most Mustered in Long Time.

CHANCE FOR GRFAT CHARGES PASSED BY

Little Enthusiasm Is Felt for Measure in Congress or Prohibition Ranks.

By CARLISLE BARGERON.

The Senate yesterday passed without a roll call the bill concentrating all prohibition enforcement in the Department of Justice. It is the first and the last, in so far as this session is concerned, of the measures sought by the President in tightening up enforcement.

There was no contest on the bill as a whole, but Senator Tydings, of Maryland, forced a wet and dry roll call on his amendment to prohibit the use of poison in industrial alcohol. It was defeated 54 to 19.

The question of the Government putting poison in industrial alcohol is, of course, not a clean-cut wet and dry issue, and Senator Tydings, in fact, urged that his amendment be considered on huminaritan grounds without regard to prohibition, but the wets and drys usually line up on such collateral matters as if the question of prohibition itself were involved.

Interpreted as Wet Gain.

This being the case, significance was attached to the fact that Senators Sullivan and Kendrick of Wyoming, Wheeler of Montana, Couzens, Johnson of California, Patterson, Phipps and Reed voted for the amendment. Some of these are listed as staunch drys and none of them has ever been a belligerent wet. It is, indeed, the largest vote anything originating in the wet camp has mustered in a long time.

On the other hand, such mild wets as Senators Baird and Metcalfe heeded the contention of Senator Hebert, who had the bill in charge, that the prohibition against poison had no place in the transfer bill. Senator Metcalfe very unwisely, in the opinion of many observers, because he is up for reelection in a very wet State and his opponent, former Senator Gerry, will quite likely make the point that he voted to kill all the drinkers in the country.

The dry stubbornness of Senator Walsh, of Montana, was a sidelight. He is to have strong Republican opposition in his State and his opponent is to run as a wet. And Montana has become wet enough to impress Senator Wheeler, Senator Walsh's colleague.

Walsh Votes Unhesitatingly.

Under the circumstances, one might expect some modification of Senator Walsh's dry stand, at least, especially on such an occasion as that afforded yesterday. However, he voted against Senator Tydings' amendment without hesitation.

Aside from the diversion offered by Senator Hebert and also by Senator Norris that Tydings' amendment should be introduced as a separate piece of legislation, the question of whether alcohol drinkers should be killed or not was fairly clearly drawn.

Senator Tydings, a wet, contended that it would be just as logical to equip automobiles with a contrivance by which they automatically blew up and killed all the occupants when they reached an unlawful speed, as it was to poison industrial alcohol because its use for beverage purposes is unlawful.

Senator Sheppard, dry, contended the poisoning had to be placed in

HOOVER, FIRST LADY AID CHURCH PROJECT

Lead Movement to Build Third Quaker Meeting House in Capital.

EDIFICE'S SITE ACQUIRED

The President and Mrs. Hoover are leaders in a movement to build a third and larger meeting house for the Society of Friends in Washington, it was learned yesterday, largely because of the increase in the congregations of the two present Quaker houses since the inauguration of Mr. Hoover, himself a Quaker.

A tract of land was acquired yesterday by representatives of a committee in charge at the corner of Florida avenue, Decatur and Phelps places northwest, as the site of the edifice. The Chief Executive and the First Lady are understood to be substantial contributors to the building fund.

The proposed structure, which will be of national significance, and will be called "the Washington Friends' Meeting House." It will be a typical replica of one of the historic Friends' meeting houses of colonial times—long, low, one-story structures with gradual, sloping roofs. The acquired plot will afford ample space for a beautiful lawn surrounding the building, its area being more than 16,000 square feet with frontages on all three thoroughfares.

It is understood that under present arrangements the new meeting house will merely supplement and not replace the present houses at 1817 I street northwest and Thirteenth and Irving streets northwest. The President and Mrs. Hoover worship at the latter.

The committee in charge of the project will meet in about ten days to select an architect and major construction material, probably stone. The committee represents both branches of the society in Washington as well as in various parts of the United States.

In the negotiations relative to the purchase of the tract, President L. P. McLachlen, of the McLachlen Banking Corporation, represented the purchasers and Shannon & Luchs, Inc., the sellers, Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Tuttle, jr. The consideration was not reported.

VIRGINIAN TO DEFY BLUE LAWS SUNDAY

C. B. Rosenberger, Fined Under Old Statute, to Carry Fight to Higher Courts.

PERSECUTED, HE SAYS

C. B. Rosenberger, of 440 Wilson boulevard, Clarendon, Va., who yesterday was fined $14.25, including costs, under the old blue laws, for painting a house on Sunday, will defy the authorities next Sunday, his lawyers announced last night. Mr. Rosenberger next Sunday, it is said, will continue the work of painting his house.

The lawyers, John J. McGinnis and Hugh McCaffery, last night prepared an appeal from the fine and will file it Friday in the Circuit Court of Virginia. If the decision of the lower court is upheld, the lawyers plan to appeal to the court of appeals, which sits in Richmond.

Mr. Rosenberger gave out the following statement concerning the fine last night:

"I pay taxes and levies on my house and other property in Arlington County, Va., to an amount set by the State and county. In return for this, I contend that I am entitled to the rights and privileges guaranteed by the Bill of Rights in the Constitution of these United States to every citizen regardless of his religious belief or lack of religious belief. Therefore, I shall challenge with all the legal resources available to me the right of the civil authorities to heed the demands of organized bigotry and idiotic fanatics who are attempting to use the police powers of the State for the purpose of religious persecution."

Mr. Rosenberger contends that the authorities are "making him the goat" and believe that he is being persecuted.

The fine was imposed by Justice Harry I. Thomas after Rosenberrer entered a plea of not guilty.

George Washington Museum Gains Relics

Cake Recipe, Calling for Pint of Wine and Written By Martha Custis, Among Pieces Given By Ladies' Association.

Several valuable contributions to the George Washington museum at Mount Vernon have been made during the annual meeting of the Mount Vernon Ladies' Association, now in session, at the national shrine, it was learned yesterday.

A brown coat worn by General Washington has been presented by Mrs. C. B. Kefersten, through Mrs. Henry Danforth, vice regent for New York.

Two original deeds for tracts of Mount Vernon land, covering Dogue Run and Hunting Creek, have been donated by William Evarts Benjamin, also through Mrs. Danforth.

A lock of Washington's hair, mounted in a crystal locket, has been given by Mrs. R. D. Johnston, vice regent for Alabama.

A needle book made from a dress of Martha Washington is a gift from the sons and daughters of Mrs. Charles Custis Harrison, vice regent for Pennsylvania from 1896 to 1922. The same donors presented a recipe for a cake written by Martha Parke Custis for her grandmother, Martha Washington. The text of the recipe follows:

"To make a great cake. Take 40 eggs and divide the whites from the yolks and beat them to a froth then work 4 pounds of butter to a cream and put the whites of eggs to it a spoonfull at a time till it is well worked then put 4 pounds of sugar finely powdered to it in the same man then put in the youlks of eggs and 5 pounds of flower and 5 pounds of fruit. 2 hours will bake it add to it half an ounce of mace and nutmeg half a pint of wine and some french brandy. This was wrote by Martha Custis for her Grandmama."

Two small pieces of Washington's coffin were presented by Mrs. Abel Walter Spalding, of Mount Vernon, N. Y., through Mrs. Eliza Leary, vice regent for the State of Washington.

A handsome antique mahogany bookcase was contributed by Miss Helen Coolidge through Miss Jane A. Riggs, vice regent for the District of Columbia. A beautiful silk flag for the use of the association was donated by Mrs. Thomas P. Denham, vice regent for Florida. The flag was first used on the occasion of the official visit of the Governors of Virginia and the board of visitors to Mount Vernon.

Lieut. Col. U. S. Grant, 3d and Representative Sol G. Bloom, of New York, associate directors of the Bicentennial Commission, have been guests of the association to confer on plans for the 1932 Washington celebration. A committee was appointed from the association to assist in promoting the observance.

Robsion to Introduce Bill To Punish Gaming Players

Patron as Well as Operator Would Be Guilty Under Senator's System.

Not only the professional running a gambling establishment but the players caught in such an establishment would be punished under the terms of a bill that is to be introduced by Senator Robsion (Republican), of Kentucky.

At present, the players are simply booked as witnesses and released.

The Kentucky senator held a long conference yesterday with District Attorney Leo A. Rover and Chief of Police Pratt, who told him of the legal obstacles that make it difficult to catch and prosecute gamblers.

At the conclusion of the conference, Senator Robsion declared that more teeth were needed in the gambling laws here, and announced that he would draft legislation to

New Policy Defies Order of Utilities Commission; District Blamed.

At midnight last night Diamond Taxicab Co. officials, in defiance of an edict of the Public Utilities Commission, began to operate their cabs on a flat rate with an admitted lack of safety to the riding public.

This ultimatum of Harry C. Davis, manager of the company, was accompanied by his observation that the lower rate necessitates additional speed which will likely result in many accidents.

Mr. Davis conceded that the new rate will increase the possibility of hazard to the public. "We are forced to reduce our rates," he said, "in order to exist. By operating at the flat 35-cent rate in the city proper we consider the rate below that which brings safety. We will be forced to speed and speeding brings accidents."

the alcohol to keep bootleggers from making unlawful use of it.

The roll call follows:

For the amendment—

Republicans: Bingham, Blaine, Couzens, Glenn, Johnson, La Follette, Patterson, Phipps, Reed, Sullivan.

Democrats — Broussard, Copeland, Hawes, Kendrick, Ransdell, Tydings, Wagner of Massachusetts, Wheeler—19.

Against—

Republicans: Allen, Baird, Borah, Capper, Dale, Deneen, Fess, Frazier, Gillett, Goldsborough, Greene, Hale, Hatfield, Hebert, Howell, Jones, McCulloch, McMaster, McNary, Metcalf, Norris, Oddie, Pine, Robinson of Indiana; Robsion, Schall, Shortridge, Steiwer, Thomas of Idaho; Townsend, Vandenberg, Walcott, Waterman, Watson.

Democrats: Ashurst, Barkley, Black, Bratton, Brock, Connally, Dill, George, Glass, Harris, Harrison, McKellar, Overman, Robinson of Arkansas, Sheppard, Simmons, Swanson, Thomas of Oklahoma; Trammell and Walsh of Montana—54.

The airing of prohibition enforcement shortcomings with charges of corruption and much tearing of feathers that some months ago had been expected from Senators Borah and others did not materialize. Much has happened and the senators are tired.

The Senate made only minor changes in the bill which will probably be accepted by the House without sending the measure to conference. Then it goes to the President.

Senator Tydings also sought to modify the provision which gives the Department of Justice the veto power over the issuance of alcohol permits. The Treasury is still to have the supervision of these permits, but the Department of Justice will share equally in the responsibility of issuing them. A formidable fight against this dual authority with the difficulty of placing responsibility developed in the House when that body considered the bill, but the Senate, where so much fireworks had been anticipated, did not even respond to this feature.

Little Enthusiasm for Bill.

Passage of the bill marks what might probably be called another milestone in prohibition enforcement. There was no enthusiasm for the bill, however, either in Congress or among the dry organizations. The attitude seemed to be that the President wanted it, so let him have it.

It is only one of the many phases of enforcement reorganization which President Hoover wants to effect but it is the only one that Capitol Hill leaders deemed advisable to pass before the elections.

Senator Glass, of Virginia, took occasion to clip off any credit for the passage of the bill which the National Law Enforcement Commission might claim. The idea was not original with that agency, the senator pointed out, but has been floating around before the commission was ever heard of. Indeed, the commission, the senator said, has done nothing with the $250,000 that was appropriated for it except study child delinquencies and the effect on civilization of the automobile. When the question of giving the commission another $250,000, now pending, comes up for consideration, he said, he will have something further to say, and he probably will.

WHEAT NAMED CHIEF OF DISTRICT COURT

Youngest Justice on Bench Selected to Replace Walter I. McCoy.

MAY INSTITUTE CHANGES

The mantle of Chief Justice of the District of Columbia Supreme Court yesterday was awarded to the youngest member of that tribunal—Associate Justice Alfred A. Wheat.

The nomination of Judge Wheat to the office made vacant last December when Chief Justice Walter I. McCoy retired at the age of 70, was sent to the Capitol by President Hoover late yesterday, and is expected to be confirmed by the Senate at an early date.

The promotion of the New Yorker leaves an associate justiceship vacant. A nominee for this post, it is understood, has not yet been selected.

The new chief justice is expected to make several radical changes in court procedure. It is understood that he will recommend the appointment of a surrogate to attend all probate and lunacy matters, which will materially relieve congestion, and that he favors hearing domestic relations cases in chambers, as in New York courts, instead of openly as at present.

Surprised at Appointment.

Justice Wheat expressed surprise when told by newspapermen that he had been named to the chief justiceship. He was called from the noonday luncheon of the justices and told of the nomination.

He declared that he had not been advised that he was to be elevated, and made it clear that he had shared with the members of the bar the desire to see Justice Wendell P. Stafford, senior associate justice of the court, elevated to the chief justiceship.

Justice Wheat was appointed to the District of Columbia Supreme Court bench May 3, 1929, by President Hoover and was sworn in on June 3. Since then he has been devoting most of his time to equity cases and District and Federal condemnation proceedings.

Members of the bar and court attaches expressed general gratification yesterday over the elevation of Justice Wheat, declaring that he is a well-read and capable attorney and since becoming a justice has shown rare judicial temperament.

Prior to his nomination as associate justice, the newly-named chief justice was acting as assistant to the Solicitor General of the United States.

Native of New Hampshire.

Although he was born in New Hampshire, Justice Wheat, at the time he was appointed to the local court, was regarded as a New Yorker. Previously, President Coolidge had nominated him for a Federal judgeship in Brooklyn, but the nomination, together with a number of others, was caught in a legislative jam and died.

Justice Wheat was graduated from Dartmouth College in 1889. He then came here and enrolled at the Columbia Law School (now George Washington) and at the same time taught a small class that eventually developed into Business High School.

It was reported yesterday that the two men who are in front for the office of associate justice are Paul E. Lesh and Joseph W. Cox, both local attorneys. Others under consideration are John E. Laskey, W. W. Millan, and George Butte.

JOHN B. RANDOLPH RITES.

War Department Clerk Had Been in Federal Service 69 Years.

Funeral services for John B. Randolph, assistant chief clerk of the War Department, who died early yesterday at Walter Reed General Hospital, will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at St. Paul's Episcopal Church. Interment will be in Arlington National Cemetery.

Mr. Randolph was a native of Washington, and had spent 69 years in the Federal service, military and civil. He was 87 years old and a descendant of the famous Randolph family of Virginia. He had administered the oath of office to every chief of engineers since the administration of Gen. Thomas L. Casey, who completed the Washington Monument and built the State War and Navy Building and Congressional Library. He is survived by the widow, Mrs. Gabriella White Randolph, and two daughters, Mrs. Richard Hines, now visiting in Russia, and Mrs. Harrison Osborne, of Brooklyn, N. Y.

Douglas McDougal, of the United States Marine Corps, commanding the Nicaraguan National Guard as brigadier general, said today the guard ha dorders to clean numerous groups of bandits out of their mountain retreats and announced the details of a number of engagements.

In addition, it was learned today that the cabinet had decreed an "estado de sitio," or state of siege, for 60 days in northern departments of Matagalpa, Chontales, Hinotega, Esteli and Segovuas.

Between May 5 and May 12 Gen. McDougal said guardsmen had six contacts with the outlaws in the north. Five hundred men, officered by United States Marines, patrol that district, while 200 regular Marines stationed there cooperate with the guard.

Clash Near Honduras.

The guard's losses were four dead and three wounded in the six engagements, while about 125 bandits were killed.

At Naranjo, near the Honduran border, a small patrol had a fifteen-minute skirmish with bandits May 5, killing two of them and capturing a small quantity of arms. The group was understood to have been headed by the Salgado and Ortiz factions. The latter was a lieutenant of Augustino Sandino when that chieftain operated in the northern hills. There were no guard casualties.

The next day a small patrol was ambushed at Angel, also near the Honduran border, and one guardsman was wounded.

On May 7, at San Juan, a patrol in the vicinity of Barrial Hill encountered about 100 bandits, who opened fire from four sides. The bandits used bombs, Thompson and Lewis machine guns and rifles. Four members of the guard were killed and two were wounded. Four bandits died. The guard lost all of its supplies in the two-hour engagement.

25 Dead in Last Fight.

The next day a patrol met a small group of bandits at Amucayan, near Telpaneca, but there were no casualties. The guard captured nineteen saddle horses, dynamite, bombs, arms and ammunition.

Two bandits were killed in an engagement May 10 at Aguacate, near Ocotal. One bandit leader was identified as Benjamin Gutierrez. Arms and ammunition were captured.

The last contact reported was near Yali in the Miraflores Mountains May 12. Twenty-five bandits were found dead after the fight.

Gen. McDougal said he did not believe the bandits were directed by a leader.

Unconfirmed rumors have been received here that Gen. Sandino had left San Salvador presumably for Nicaragua.

terized as a "mother and daughter" relation. This bond will extend to furnishing of funds by the mother church to an extent which may be as great as that now in effect.

Organization in Brazil.

The Brazil Methodist Church will, perhaps, remain more closely associated with the South church than either of the other two autonomous groups, since those in Korea and Mexico will be formed of a unification of the northern and southern Methodist Episcopal Church groups.

The Church in Brazil will cooperate through a "general council" with the mother church. On the general conference, members of the Brazilian church and missionaries from this country will serve, working with the mother church through the board of missions. Jurisdiction of the bishop to be selected in Brazil will not extend beyond the Brazilian church.

China Self-Government.

Delegates from China said no separation from th American church body was desired. While the other groups expressed the belief they were ready for self-government, the Chinese leaders declared they had "too many other tasks."

"If yo uthink mission days are over in China," said Z. T. Kaung, of Shanghai, spogesman for the group, "you are mistaken. They are just beginning. It took 70 or 80 years to lay this foundation, and now is the time to work."

Bishop W. N. Ainsworth, of Macon, Ga., has served as superintendent of the China Conference.

GangThat RobbedEnvoy And U.S.Adviser Nabbed

Bucharest, Roumania, May 14 (A.P.).—The entire gang of bandits who attacked and robbed Charles S. Dewey, American advisor to the Polish government, and Carlos A. Davila, Roumanian Minister at Washington, recently near here, were captured near Mogosoaia during the night.

Most of the jewels belonging to the Countess Czoembeck, wife of the Polish Minister to Roumania, who was also with the two men, were recovered, as was also part of the money taken from the party. The bandits were old offenders.

The feature of the convention will be a banquet at the hotel tonight, at which Ogden L. Mills, Undersecretary of the Treasury, will be the speaker. Entertainment will be provided by a long list of radio stars from the Columbia Broadcasting System, which also will broadcast Mr. Mills' address.

The opening session, which will start at 10 o'clock this morning, will be closed to all except actual agency members of the association, while the afternoon meeting will be open to the general membership.

L. Ames Brown, president of Lord, Thomas & Logan, of New York, will be the first speaker on the morning program, followed by William S. Hedges, president of the National Association of Broadcasters. Others who will address this session include John N. Roper, vice president of J. Walter Thompson Co.; Lee H. Bristol, president of Bristol-Myers Co.; H. T. Ewald, president of Campbell-Ewald Co. and chairman of the National Outdoor Advertising Bureau; J. Fred Woodruff, vice president of Campbell-Ewald Co., and F. R. Gamble, executive secretary of the American Association of Advertising Agencies.

Speakers in Afternoon.

Varied discussions of all phases of newspaper advertising will be held during the afternoon session, which will take place at the conclusion of a luncheon to be held in the hotel.

At this meeting, Stewart J. Mims, vice president of J. Walter Thompson Co., will talk on "Use of the A. A. A. Research;" Dr. Daniel Starch, director of the association's research bureau, will explain "Four-A Newspaper Reader Surveys," and President Benson will discuss "The Future of Newspaper Advertising" and "Local and National Rates."

Mr. Benson will be followed by Kenneth Collins, executive vice president and publicity director of R. H. Macy & Co.; P. L. Thomson, director of public relations for the Western Electric Co., who will talk on "Circulation—Qualitative and Quantitative," and F. G. Thorough Investigation Seen of Campaign Conducted in That City.

CONFERENCES ARE HELD

Philtdelphia, May 14 (A.P.).—After a day of conferences with local political leaders and public schools, Senator Gerald P. Nye, of North Dakota, chairman of the Senate campaign investigating committee, indicated his committee would conduct a thorough investigation into primary campaign in Philadelphia after the election of May 20.

"The charges and countercharges which our committee has already received from various factions," senator Nye said, "are of such a nature that we know we will have to conduct a most thorough investigation when this primary is over."

Senator Nye came here to survey the political conditions and particularly the amount of money being spent by the United States senatorial candidates, Secretary of Labor James J. Davis, on the Philadelphia Republican organization ticket; Senator Joseph R. Grundy, candidate to succeed himself, and Francis H. Bohlen, running as a "wet." The North Dakota senator left for Pittsburgh tonight and will be joined there tomorrow by Senator Robert S. Wagner (Democrat), New York.

During the day Senator Nye conferred with District Attorney John Monaghan, United State Attorney Calvin S. Boyer, Deputy City Controller S. Davis Wilson, J. Hampton Moore, city manager for the Davis-Brown ticket, and members of the registration commission. He also made a personal inspection of several wards.

SENATORS WELCOME FEDERAL RADIO SUIT

U. S. Action Against Ten Big Corporations Hailed by Committeemen.

NEW PATENT LAWS SEEN

(Associated Press.)

The Department of Justice's anti-trust proceeding against ten corporations which recently agreed on uniting radio holdings was welcomed yesterday by members of the Senate interstate commerce committee.

Senator Dill (Washington), Democrat, said the department's suit was "more comprehensive than anything I expected in course of a five years' fight on the issue." Chairman Couzens issued a statement calling attention to "great public interest and concern" in the proceeding, which he said marked "a healthy condition."

Senator Wheeler (Montana), Democrat,, who was among Senate leaders in demands for action against the corporations, said failure of the litigation to "dissolve the whole set-up" would "reveal a need for overhauling of the patent laws."

Senator Dill placed in the Congressional Record a copy of the department's petition to the district court at Wilmington, Del., for "a series of orders," which he said would mean "complete dissolution" of the corporations' agreements from 1919 to the present.

Original Pact Attacked.

"The suit attacks the original agreement in 1919 between the Radio Corporation of America and the other corporations," Senator Dill said, "and holds in effect that the new agreement is merely the consummation of agreements all along the line before the last transaction."

The Washingtonian said the litigation would also raise an issue against the corporations' "parcelling out the future of the industry by having patents bought and paid for—and the manner in which they should be distributed among them—before they are secured."

"For several years past much difference of opinion has existed as to whether these corporations were being conducted in violation of law," Senator Couzens' statement asserted. "The country is entitled to know, and the Congress is entitled to know particularly because of its legislative responsibilities. I hope that the suit will be expedited so that the country may know how far these corporations may go."

Clearing of Situation Seen.

Senator Wheeler said a decision against the department would make clear the legal situation.

"The patent laws were passed with a view toward protection of the little fellow from interference with his patents, when there was no indication of conditions that have developed. With the patents no longer in the hands of the little fellow who needs protection," Senator Wheeler said, "I have felt for some time that the patent laws needed a thorough overhauling. This might demonstrate it."

The department suit was filed, it announced, "to test the legality" of agreements for pooling radio holdings among the Radio Corporation of America, the General Electric Co., Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Co., the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. and six other corporations.

ABSENTEES IN HOUSE ORDERED ARRESTED

were only 200 present at the roll call. Practically none had had supper and many complained of hunger.

Mrs. Owen Applauded.

Applause greeted Representative Ruth Bryan Owen (Democrat), Florida, the first absentee to appear on the floor. She was quickly followed by Representative Treadway (Republican), Massachusetts, and four or five others.

The galleries of the House began to fill as soon as word of the arrest order went out, but as absentees started entering at a faster rate the tension lessened. Representative Crisp (Democrat), Georgia, as soon as 222 members were present, asked that further arrests be dispensed with but a vote on the motion was asked by Representative Stafford.

Confusion reigned in the House after the vote revealed that a number of members had left the chamber, while warrants were being issued, in order to eat.

Doors Not Ordered Closed.

Representative Stafford sought adjournment, but was voted down. Representative Crisp, of Georgia, sought to have the doors closed until a quorum had been accumulated in the House, but acting Speaker Tilson ruled that the doors had not been ordered closed. At this point Speaker Longworth was brought into the house by the Sergeant at Arms.

Speaker Longworth took the chair and ordered a roll call to determine how many members were present. The filibuster developed after both proponents and opponents of the measure contended alike that they badsupport Hoover and the Federal Farm Board in their conflicting stands.

Representative Ketcham led the debate for his bill as a farm relief measure and emphasized that only through enactment of the bill could the farm board obtain information it desired relative to foreign markets.

Representative Wood assailed it as a measure "without merit" and contended that the foreign service of the Department of Commerce could provide the desired information.

had taken and because it was against the tenets of Islam. Moreover, he declared, events in the corporation during the last few days had convinced the Moslems that if the congress really succeeded in capturing the administration of the country there would be no hope for the Mohammedan minority in India.

The Gandhi movement, he contended, had failed to draw into its fold the most stable elements of the Indian population. It was a move on the part of those who now were down in political life and were trying to retrieve their position, he said.

Reports of aerial activity by the British army along the northwest frontier were received during the day. The Madda Khels particularly have given trouble and it is understood further operations against the villages of the tribe are likely. It was stated they would be bombed after due warning had been given the inhabitants.

Early this morning the authorities, with the help of the frontier constabulary, made a surprise move and surrounded a village which had been the scene of activities of so-called red volunteers. The constabulary disarmed all tribesmen and arrested several of them.

Reports from various districts indicated that efforts to paralyze communications were being made by cutting wires, blocking roads and felling trees.

During the day a plane crashed in Khyber Pass and two pilots were killed.

London, May 15 (Thursday) (A.P.). A Calcutta dispatch to the Daily Mail says that five Indians were injured by police clubs in Cornwallis street there yesterday after they had tried to call a strike in consequence of the arrest of Abbas Tyabji.

They stopped busses and taxicabs for a while but later were driven off by the police. The dispatch said the government was taking severe measures throughout the district and had declared three Satyagraha committees unlawful.

Ahmadabad, India, May 14 (A.P.). A number of prominent prisoners from the ranks of India's civil disobedience campaigners in the Sabarmati Jail today began a hunger strike in protest against segregation from other prisoners.

The strikers included Vallabhai Patel, brother of the former president of the legislative assembly.

Sholapur, India, May 14 (A.P.).—Wholesale arrests of civil disobedience leaders, including two men suspected of the murder and burning of two constables, occurred here today.

Troops of the Royal Ulster Rifles, aided by civil police, began combing the city for Gandhi followers. During their cleaning up operations they came upon a veritable arsenal of swords and spears in a private house.

Before dawn more than 200 natives had been arrested in connection with the curfew order which last night forbade citizens being abroad in the streets between 7 p. m. and 6 a. m. Some of these were released with a warning. Others were held on suspicion of being ringleaders in the campaign of killings and arson of last week. It was stated officially that those not brought before a military court would be given civil trials for minor offenses.

An exodus of Sholapur inhabitants today followed the curfew proclamation and the earlier instituiton of martial law. Trains leaving the city were crowded to capacity.

WIFE LAUNCHES SUIT AGAINST BUCHANAN

fuses to support her or supply her with the money for her needs and requirements or to pay the bills for necessities," which she contracts. She states, however, that he has paid the wages of the household help and gardeners working in and about the countrty home in Virginia, 50 miles from Washington, and also bills for groceries and other foodstuffs used by her and her three children.

The wedding of Miss Lester and Mr. Buchanan was a society event of 1916. Since the marriage they have lived at the Washington home at 1728 Massachusetts avenue northwest or at the countrty home, according to the wife.

Mrs. Buchanan tells the court that she and her husband lived happily until February 2 last, when, "after a disagreement which resulted in a quarrel between them," the husband left her fifteen days later.

The wife asserts that in 1926 her husband received a one-third interest in his father's estate, and at that time was worth more than $1,800,000, of which approximately $1,200,000 constitutes a trust fund held by trustees for his use and benefit during life, and which goes to his children at his death. Mrs. Buchanan says that her husband made more than $140,000 during 1929.

It is pointed out in the petition that since 1927 they have spent the summer months in Canada, where they own an island; the winters in Florida, and that at all times they maintained a home, the expense of which was $40,000 a year.

In addition, they have employed continuously during the past four years a governess-housekeeper, a cook, two maids, a laundress and a chaffeur for the wife, as well as a gardener, a gardener's helper and two stable boys at the country home. Three automobiles, a $36,000 cruiser yacht, with a captain and steward, are owned by the husband, Mrs. Buchanan says.

Since he began receiving the money from his father's estate, the wife asserts, her husband has given her an income of $1,000 a month until his alleged desertion.

Mrs. Buchanan states that she is now occupying one of the two houses on the country estate, and that her husband has stated that she can not live there and that he has threatened to take steps to stop her residence there.

Mrs. Buchanan asks the court to award her maintenance commensurate with her husband's income and her former scale of living, and also asks that her husband be restrained from molesting her or interfering with her residence at the country home.

EXTORTION CHARGED TO COLLOGE STUDENT

California Youth Tried to Get $3,000 From Widow, Police Declare.

DEATH THREATS CLAIMED

Los Angeles, May 14 (A.P.).—An indictment charging Bernard Swalley, 21-year-old Pasadena, Calif., junior college student, with extortion will be asked of the grand jury tomorrow, the district attorney's office announced tonight. Swalley, who came here from Birmingham, Ala., where his parents live, was arrested yesterday and accused of attempting to extort $3,000 from Mrs. F. W. Emery, wealthy San Marino, Calif., widow, by threats of death.

The grand jury also will be asked to consider evidence against three other youths, Leo Trimbley, 21; Jack Harback, 21, and Sylvester Bertram, 24, who were arrested for questioning.

The three were released from jail tonight and allowed to go to their homes, but told to remain in contact with officers. Police said Swalley, who still assumed entire responsibility for the plot, had made a full confession that he threatened Mrs. Emery with death unless she left the money at a designated spot.

Despite Swalley's statement that he was playing a lone hand, Detective Lieutenant William F. Hynes, who arrested him, declared he was investigating the possibility that Swalley might have been the leader of an extortion ring which for some time has been sending threatening letters to Pasadena and San Marino residents. Hynes said he found numerous newspaper clippings concerning wealthy and prominent persons in Swalley's rooms. The detective also quoted the youth as admitting he had written to various persons asking for financial help in the promotion of a "South American cruise."

Swalley said he had planned the extortion plot because his people could not send him any more money and he wanted to finish school. "I don't know what I would have done to Mrs. Emery if I hadn't thought she would bury the money like I told her to do," he said.

Swalley was arrested when he was caught digging the money out of a hole in the ground where a detective, disguised as a woman, had placed it.

Mrs. Emery informed the police immediately after she received threatening letters demanding the money. The woman, widow of F. W. Emery, oil and lumber magnate, who died ten years ago, later left for Europe, but became ill at New York City and is under care of physicians there.

Bancroft Is Questioned In Attack on Student

Mineola, Long Island, May 14 (N. Y.W.N.S.).—George Bancroft, motion picture actor, his wife, and Henry Fink, his manager, made a call today at the office of District Attorney Elvin H. Edwards, of Nassau County, to tell what they knew of the assault on Rutger Bleecker, a college student, who received a fractured jaw at the Panchard Inn, Massapequa, Long Island, after Bleecker had made alleged disparaging remarks about the actor.

After the conference Edwards said that he was making further investigation and that within 24 hours he will know whether he will hold Bancroft further as a witness for the people. After leaving Edwards' office Bancroft signed about 40 autographs for a group of girls who rushed the party.

The men ordered released with Capone were Nick Circella, 35, Albert Prignano, 38, and Sylvester Agoglia, 35.

strengthen the gambling code in three respects.

In addition to providing punishment for those who frequent gambling places, he said, his bill would extend the padlock law to cover such places, and would increase the penalties for gambling.

Senator Robsion first took an interest in the gambling situation here the day that Public Printer George Carter appeared before the Senate District committee and complained about a gambling establishment opposite his plant.

Conference Is Guarded.

At that time, Maj. Pratt suggested that a law be enacted which would permit the police to raid any establishment that was outfitted with a barricade. At present, a gambling place may be raided only after a policeman or a stool pigeon has made a bet in the place.

Yesterday's conference was held behind closed doors. Present besides Mr. Rover and Maj. Pratt were Assistant District Attorney Neil Burkinshaw, Assistant Corporation Counsel Vernon West, and Building Inspector John Oehmann.

CLEAN-UP WEEK

By REPRESENTATIVE CLARENCE J. McLEOD.
House Committee on the District of Columbia.

Washington has always been known as a city of parks, trees and flowers. Much can be done by the Government in its park work to keep up this fine reputation. Each individual citizen can contribute his share by resolving to make a beauty spot of the little plot which he controls. The collective effect of this work, if carried out generally and conscientiously, will be immeasurable.

The results that have been achieved in the last few years in sections of the city where the work has been organized and carried out under the stimulus of the local community organizations, indicates positively what can be accomplished. The outlay of a trivial sum of money and a little effort will convert the most unkempt parking into a garden spot which will make the owner proud of his home.

Clean-up week suggests these thoughts to our minds and furnishes an opportunity for every resident to exert that small individual effort which in aggregate will be sufficient to place Washington beyond all question in the position of the most beautiful city in the world.

OBSERVE CLEAN-UP WEEK, MAY 19-24.

First Lady Better; Takes Park Drive

Dr. Boone Believes She Will Be Entirely Well in Month's Time.

Mrs. Herbert Hoover has recovered from her sprained back to such a degree that yesterday she was able to take a short automobile ride through the parks of Washington and along the Potomac driveway.

Capt. Joel T. Boone, U. S. N., the White House physician, reported that the fresh air had appeared to have benefited the First Lady, who has been confined to the White House for more than a month. Mrs. Hoover sprained her back when she slipped on a rug. Dr. Boone believes that in another's month's time she will be entirely well.

Meanwhile, she will continue to use the wheel chair in which she has ridden about the White House for the past two weeks.

FLEXIBLE CLAUSE COMPROMISE SEEN AS ONLY HOPE FOR TARIFF

the administration's fight has rested, was plainly worried over the outlook.

He said it was up to the Senate whether a bill ultimately would emerge from the long tariff labors.

Senator Watson, of Indiana, the Republican leader, expressed the individual opinion that a bill would be passed, but tempered this with a statement that anything might happen.

Crisis Reached, Says Harrison.

"If our motion to obtain a further conference without any ties is lost the bill will be dead," he said.

Senator Harrison, of Mississippi, one of the Democratic conferees, said the most critical stage of the legislation had been reached and insisted that unless Congress was given the final say over rates under the flexible provision there was little hope for a bill.

The Democrats and Republican independents are endeavoring to determine whether to make their fight when the request for a free conference is made or wait until a complete conference report is brought back to the Senate, when the issue would be whether to accept or reject the entire bill.

Two Are Arrested In Slaying of Girl

Des Moines City Employes Also Face Charges of Assault.

Des Moines, Iowa, May 14 (A.P.).—Carl McCune, 34, and Elmer Gibson, 35, were arrested tonight in connection with the assault and slaying of 9-year-old Evelyn Lee. Warrants for their arrest were issued today.

Sheriff Park A. Findley obtained the warrants. He alleged the two men left Des Moines driving a car resembling one which stopped beside the girl as she was walking home Saturday afternoon. Her body was found in underbrush at the southeast edge of the city Monday.

Evidence on which the order for the arrests was given was purely circumstantial, Findley said. McCune was described as being left-handed. Physicians earlier had expressed the opinion that the girl was choked to death by a left-handed man because of the position of bruises on her throat.

MEETING PLANNED FOR TRADE GROUP

Membership of Reorganized Alexandria Chamber to Gather May 23.

CLUB LISTS COMMITTEES

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU.
212 S. Washington St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

The first meeting of the entire membership of the reorganized chamber of commerce will be held in the auditorium of the Elks Home at 8 o'clock May 23, according to President John Barton Phillips. The new by-laws provide that full meetings shall be held the second Tuesday of each month, which will bring the second meeting on June 10. At the May 23 meeting the roll of new members will be called and stencils made for a mailing list. It is understood no regular business will be conducted.

Consideration of candidates for the post of industrial manager is proceeding rapidly, and it is believed that after a first study of credentials of the various applicants the committee can narrow them a few, who will be invited to Alexandria for a personal conference. At least one of these candidates is expected to address the May 23 meeting of the chamber. In lining up the candidates, the trade body has had the aid and advice of the civic development department of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

President Phillips has been authorized by the board of directors to request a conference with the city council before action is taken on the renewal or revision of the public service company charter, which will expire shortly. The merits of the case, however, were not discussed by the board, but it was regarded as a matter which should be studied by the chamber.

Mrs. Mary W. Troth, recently re-elected president of the Business and Professional Women's Club, at the meeting on Tuesday night announced the standing committees for the year, and also the local club members selected to serve with the State federation in preparing for the entertainment by Virginia of the biennial convention in Richmond, July, 1931, of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs.

Miss Alice Gronau is State chairman for the pageant to be staged during the convention, and her committee is Miss Winnie Cox, Miss Catherine Johnson, Miss Anita Noble, Miss Kroes Ficklin and Mrs. Mary W. Troth.

Miss Margaret Germond, State vice president, is also State publicity chairman, and will be assisted by the local publicity chairman of every club in the State.

Miss Alice H. Whitton is a member of the State convention finance committee, of which Miss Robena McGee, of Lynchburg, is chairman, and her local assistants will be Miss Marguerite Davis, Mrs. Annie L. Demaine, Mrs. Beulah Garner, Miss Evangeline Greisemer and Miss Esther Heishley. Miss Minnie Brock will serve on the "seeing Virginia old and new" committee.

The local committees for the year are: Education, Miss Elizabeth Ramey, chairman; Miss Oreon Bruce, Miss Gladys Guinn, Miss Catherine Johnson, Miss Ellen Fawcett and Mrs. Mary Finney Smith.

Program, Miss Corinne T. Reardon, chairman; Mrs. D. C. Book, Miss Margaret Germond, Miss Minnie Herndon, Miss Lauramay Peverill, Miss Winnie Cox and Miss Mayrie Logan.

Transportation, Mrs. W. Clifton Cunningham, chairman; Mrs. Charles Power and Miss Mary Esther Moore.

Health, Miss Mary Williamson, chairman, and Miss Lucy M. Graves.

Public relations, Mrs. Harry B. Caton, chairman; Miss Minnie Brock, Miss Rose Peakee, Miss Alice Norford, Miss Eleanor Watkins, Miss Edith Whitton and Miss Louise Rowlett.

Membership, Miss Adelyn Apperson, chairman; Miss Mary Monroe and Mrs. Louise Witter.

Emblem, Miss Rietta Butler, chairman; Miss Mary Esther Moore.

The club's monthly letter, "This and That," will continue under the editorship of Miss Corinne T. Reardon, assisted by Miss Minnie Brock and Mrs. Ernest Simpson.

Reports from the Sate convention in Clifton Forge, May 9-10, were given by Miss Oreon Bruce, Mrs. Otis H. Hullings, Miss Bertha K. Allison, Miss Florence A. Long and Miss Corinne T. Reardon.

The club will this year follow its established custom and entertain at supper at the George Mason Hotel the graduating class of girls from the seventh grade into high school. The only entertainment feature of the meeting was a group of songs by Mrs. Albert M. Briggs, accompanied by Mrs. D. C. Book.

The annual State convention of the grand council, Order Fraternal Americans, will be held in Alexandria Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week, sessions being held in the auditorium of the Elks' Home. Approximately 150 delegates from councils in every section of Virginia are expected to attend.

The annual convention of the Daughters of America will be held on the same dates, their sessions being in Odd Fellows Hall, North Columbus street, and will also be attended by approximately 150 delegates.

An open meeting of the Order Fraternal Americans will be held Monday night in Odd Fellows Hall, when addresses will be delivered by John Barton Phillips, president of the Chamber of Commerce; City Manager Wallace Lawrence, O. C. Stubbs, of Covington, Ky., and Col. John H. Trimyer. Responses to their talks will be delivered by C. N. Bailey, of Norfolk, and Mrs. Sarah W. Johnson, of Newark, N. J.

On Tuesday night the Order Fraternal Americans will give a banquet in the George Mason Hotel for 150 guests, at which the principal speaker will be Senator J. M. Robsion, of Kentucky. Tuesday afternoon the delegates will go on a sight-seeing trip to Mount Vernon and Arlington Cemetery, and also inspect the historic points of Alexandria.

Mrs. W. Cameron Roberts is chairman of the annual poppy sale of the American Legion Auxiliary to be held on Saturday, May 17, with headquarters at 717 King street, and will be assisted by members of the local unit and also a committee from the American Legion Post.

The second day tests of automobiles being conducted here by the American Automobile Association in conjunction with the local police department, showed 79 out of 179 cars passed the tests. Many of these were subjected to a second test after having minor adjustments made, and made a clear record.

Alexandria is the third city in the United States to use the new testing apparatus, according to officials of the American Automobile Association, the first being Springfield, Ill., and the second Jacksonville, Ill.

The final public dance of the season of the American Legion Post will be held tomorrow night, from 9 to 1 o'clock, in Gadsby's Tavern, with the social committee of the post in charge.

R. Peden Henderson, aged 42, died Tuesday night at the Alexandria Hospital. Besides his wife, Mrs. Helen F. Henderson, he is survived by a son, Edward Henderson; his father, Horace Henderson; four brothers and four sisters. He had been employed in the car repair department of the Southern Railway and was a member of the Brotherhood of Railway Carmen of America, Andrew Jackson Lodge of Masons, the Loyal Star Auxiliary and the Benefit Association of Railway Employes. The funeral will be held at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon from the Baptist Temple, conducted by the pastor, the Rev. Ryland T. Dodge, assisted by the Rev. Edgar Carpenter, rector of Grace Episcopal Church.

TWO YOUTHS JAILED ON COUNTY CHARGES

Absence of Rear Light on Auto Leads to Discovery That Car Was Stolen.

VIRGINIAN IN CUSTODY

Two youths who "borrowed" an automobile in Laurel Sunday to hasten their trip to the sunny southland will have to postpone the trip for twelve months because State Policeman C. W. Cubbage was conducting a miniature drive on automobile rear lights.

The pair, Robert McCormick, 19 years old, and George Hahner, 17, both of Jersey City, N. J., were sentenced to serve twelve months each in the Maryland House of Correction by Judge J. Chew Sheriff yesterday in Hyattsville branch of Prince Georges County Police Court on charges of unauthorized use of an automobile.

Officer Cubbage noticed the car the youths were riding in as it passed him near Berwyn without a rear light burning. He stopped the car and after some questioning found that the car had been stolen from Laurel about three-quarters of an hour before. The youths told him they were headed for Florida.

Samuel Moss, 23 years old, of Glenallen, Va., was sentenced to serve 25 days in jail and to pay fines totaling $50, on charges of driving an automobile while intoxicated, reckless driving and exceeding a speed of 40 miles an hour. Charges of leaving the scene of an accident without stopping to render assistance are still pending.

Moss is alleged to have been driver of the automobile which struck and seriously injured Mrs. Julian Schultz, of Colmar Manor, two weeks ago and failed to stop. A short time after the accident Officer Cubbage observed the car traversing the Baltimore boulevard in a zigzag manner and forcing other traffic from the road. He gave chase, and, after an exciting chase of several miles through College Park, captured Moss when a truck blocked the fleeing car. A companion of Moss escaped.

Cubbage took Moss and the car to Justice of the Peace George Phillips, at Berwyn, who held the defendant on the driving while under the influence of liquor charge. When the State policeman arrived at Bladensburg Jail with his prisoner, he found the entire county force looking for him on the leaving after colliding charge.

Moss' ill-fortune did not stop here, however, for while Judge Phillips was directing the storage of the car, he noticed a thin trickle of suspiciously smelly liquid dripping from the rear of the car. Federal prohibition officers were called and found that the rear compartment held a load of alleged liquor. Federal men placed a detainer against Moss and when the county courts are through with him he must face a Federal court on liquor possession charges.

Deputy Sheriffs A. W. Hepburn and Harry Robinson and County Policeman V. M. Nichols yesterday raided a still located near the Baltimore boulevard at Ammendale. Two men who were tending the still which was in operation escaped after a chase through the nearby woods.

The policemen broke up a 1,000-gallon still and confiscated alleged liquor and mash.

ABERDEEN DEFEATS THREE AIR ATTACKS

Planes of Red Forces in One Mission Reach Goal Unmolested.

VISIBILITY IS POOR

Bad weather and good spotting yesterday enabled the Blue defenders of Aberdeen, Md., to meet successfully almost every attack by planes of the Red forces stationed at Bolling Field in the private war being carried on between them. During the morning only one flight of three attack planes eluded the observation net and reached Aberdeen unmolested by Blue pursuit. On the other hand, two attack flights and three flights of bombardment were spotted en route and the message relayed to fast pursuit planes which intercepted them.

In the afternoon, another attack flight, taking advantage of low-hanging clouds and bad visibility, managed to sneak through the network and reach its objective. Two flights of attack planes which made the attempt were intercepted. One flight of bombers also made the effort, but, within 3 miles of their objective were hemmed in by bad weather and forced to "hedge-hop" back to Bolling, glad that their old enemy weather had not downed them, even though they escaped their newer enemy, the Blues.

An official communique, radioed directly from the front last night, said:

"This morning pursuit succeeded in intercepting three out of four Red missions. Only one Red attack formation escaped observation and got through. In the afternoon only one Red attack succeeded by skillful flying through very bad weather, and this mission was entirely successful. One flight of bombers tried, but turned back within 3 miles."

Farm Board Member Makes Danville Talk

Special to The Washington Post.

Danville, Va., May 14.—Overproduction on the farm, low prices and the high cost of credit have made the farmers of today worse off than the Negroes ever were under the old system, according to Dr. F. B. Bomberger, of Washington, member of the Federal Farm Board, who addressed local business men and bankers on the work of the board.

"There is criticism of the Federal Farm Board by business men because they think that it is to help the farmer at their expense. Actually, it is helping all business through the placing of agriculture on a basis of economic equality with industry," Dr. Bomberger said.

CONSOLIDATION PLAN FOR SCHOOLS URGED

Fairfax County Chamber of Commerce Works for Five-Year Project.

CHILDREN'S OUTING SET

FAIRFAX BUREAU OF THE POST,
P. O. Box 345, Fairfax, Va.
Phone Clarendon 2324-W-2.

The Fairfax County Chamber of Commerce, at its regular monthly meeting in Herndon, gave special attention to the proposed plans of the Fairfax County School Board for consolidation of schools in the county. E. C. Gibbs, chairman of the chamber's special committee on school consolidation in the southern magisterial districts, reported that several meetings have ben held and that he is planning to call a joint meeting of the chamber committee, the supervisors' committee and officials of the Mount Vernon District at his home some time next week, to plan a tentative five-year program for development of these districts.

George P. Harrison, of Herndon, chairman of the chamber highway committee, made an address advising the southern sections of the county to profit by the mistakes of the northern district by planning wisely for school consolidation and to issue bonds to meet necessary expenditures. He further asked the people of Dranesville District to forget their differences and to cooperate with the county board in making a success of high school consolidation at Herndon. Dr. Charles A. Russell, oldest practicing physician in the State of Virginia, joined with Mr. Harrison in his plea for support of consolidation and better schools. He contrasted present educational conditions with those prevalent during his youth. Herbert Williams, school trustee from Providence District, stated that, in his opinion, the chief aim of the chamber should be to aid i nthe improvement of undeveloped sections of the county by extension of good roads and building modern schools.

He also stated that the best way to reduce individual taxes is to improve sections of the county that are now unproductive.

John Rooney, member of the water power development committee of the chamber, reported that the committee's efforts in having legislation passed in regard to the Potomac River and Great Falls had been successful and that Gov. John G. Pollard had appointed former Gov. Harry Flood Byrd, Representatives R. Walton Moore and Thomas R. Keith, of Fairfax, as members of the Virginia Potomac River Commission. Mr. Rooney spoke of the importance of water power development and its relation to northern Virginia. He asked for cooperation of the public. The chamber water power committee was continued in power with instructions to assist the commission as much as possible.

The chamber passed a resolution of regret on the death of Hugh T. Clarkson, who had been a member of the chamber for several years.

The highway committee was instructed to cooperate with the highway committee of the Annandale School and Community League to obtain a connecting link between the Columbia Pike and the new Mount Vernon Memorial Boulevard and the Arlington Memorial Bridge.

At a meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association at Falls Church Mrs. C. B. Livingston was elected president for the coming year, Mrs. Paul G. Reddington, vice president; Mrs. Robert Garner, secretary. Mrs. C. A. Ransom was reelected treasurer.

Mrs. Ransom and Mrs. Harmon Green, who served as chairmen of the committees on luncheons and lodgings during meetings of the District P. T. A. Association on April 11 and 12, were given a vote of thanks. Letters of appreciation for hospitality the teachers received during their stay in Falls Church were read from Divisional Superintendent of Schools Wilbert T. Woodson, of Fairfax; Miss Kathleen Clarke, of Manassas, secretary of the teacher's association, and from Miss Nancy Gregory Edwards and teachers of the Madison School in Falls Church.

The treasurer's report was read, and a balance of $83 was shown in the treasury. Refreshments were served at the close of the business meeting by Mrs. E. P. Harrison, Mrs. J. C. Parrott and Mrs. O. P. Livingston.

The Fairfax Garden Club will meet this afternoon at the home of Mrs. James E. Nickell in Fairfax. Final plans for the spring flower show in Willard Hall on May 28 will be made.

The regular monthly meeting of the Fairfax County Firemen's Association will be held tonight in the engine house at McLean. Several questions of importance in county-wide fire fighting organization will be discussed.

A meeting of the Fairfax County Teachers Association in the auditorium of the Fairfax School has been called for tonight by Miss Dorothy Otley, president, and members of the executive committee. The spring meeting has been called to consider a proposed amendment to the by-laws of the association which would provide for election of officers in the spring rather than in the fall. This would allow the new president time in which to plan the year's work before opening of the school year. Each teacher will be asked to advance 25 cents to clear off the year's indebtedness and also leave a small balance in the treasury. The president has appointed a nominating committee which consists of Miss Agnes Donaldson, chairman; Miss Mary Ambler, and W. R. Crabill.

The annual picnic for children of all the mission Sunday schools conducted in Fairfax County by students from the theological seminary, will be held Saturday at the seminary. Each child has been asked to bring a basket lunch. In the morning a sermon will be preached to the children by one of the professors, and the afternoon will be devoted to a program of games and athletics.

D., No. 1, Alexandria. The accident occurred at Groveton on the Washington-Richmond highway. Green was taken to the Alexandria Hospital.

James Allen, 17, giving his address as Washington, D. 700 Maryland Miners Reported on Strike

Lonaconing, Md., May 14 (A.P.).—Miners employed by the Georges Creek Mining Co. and several other concerns in this section, today joined 200 workers of the Sonny Mine who walked out Monday following posting of a new wage scale.

Miners' leaders said 700 men were idle, and added that an organizer of the United Mine Workers of America from Grafton, W. Va., had been asked to organize the field. The new scale was said by the miners to call for the loading of a long ton of 2,200 pounds at the former rate for a short ton of 2,000 pounds.

VIEWS OF STIMSON, ADAMS AT VARIANCE ON NAVAL PACT

of cruisers, &c., "the completed tonnage" of which must not exceed certain figures on Deember 31, 1936. In the 8-inch gun cruisers, the United States is given 182,880 metric tons with 149,149 metric tons for the British, making an American superiority of approximately 33,000 metric tons.

Secretary Stimson had previously explained that the ratio of allotable 8-inch gun and 6-inch gun cruisers had been agreed upon on a basis of 1½ to 1, the greater tonnage being allowed for the 6-inch vessels. Application of this formula to the table gave Great Britain the right to build 1½ times as much tonnage in 6-inch gun cruisers as the 33,000 ton difference in large cruisers so that the table shows a British superiority of 49,000 metric tons, the figures being United States 145,796, Great Britain 195,275 metric tons.

Johnson Claim Outlined.

All this would be scrupulously in accord with the stated agreement if America had the right, stipulated in the treaty text, to have 182,880 tons of 8-inch cruisers, according to Senator Johnson. But America, he pointed out, is sepcifically limited in another part of the treaty to 160,000 tons of completed 8-inch cruiser tonnage. This, Mr. Johnson added, reduces the American superiority in 8-inch gun ships to about 13,000 tons and permits Great Britain to have a superiority in smaller vessels of less than 20,000 tons instead of the 49,000 British superiority actually provided.

Senator Johnson assumed at first that there was an error in this part of the treaty text and pressed hard for a reply. Mr. Stimson parried skillfully but without direct answer. The senator from California insisted that the text of the treaty was the best evidence as to America's right to complete only 160,000 tons by December 31, 1936, and he claimed that the false figure of 180,000 had been used as a measuring rod to determine Great Britain's tonnage in 6-inch gun ships.

Senators Swanson, Walsh, of Montana; Robinson, of Indiana; Black and Reed were drawn into the debate, but no explanation was given for the discrepancy. Senator Johnson believes that no possible explanation can vary the plain statement and figures in the treaty text.

Explanation by Adams.

At the afternoon session before the naval affairs committee Secretary Adams admitted to Senator Hale that 160,000, instead of 180,000 tons, would be the limit of America's completed 8-inch gun tonnage under Article XVI, but he indicated that the discrepancy would be taken care of if America built 6-inch gun ships instead of completing an eighteen-ship program of 8-inch cruisers.

Much had been said both by Secretary Stimson and Admiral Pratt in favor of the 6-inch gun ship, and the inference was that America agreed to delay her last three 8-inch gun ships because of uncertainty as to the wisdom of building them. Secretary Adams told the naval affairs committee, in response to questions, that the delay was due to the fact that Japan forced us to agree to it.

Secretary Adams stood stanchly by the 8-inch gun cruiser as superior to the 6-inch gun ship for American purposes in his testimony before the naval affairs committee, while, at the same time, his chief aid at the London conference, Admiral Pratt, told the foreign relations committee that he had changed his mind and favored the 6-inch gun ship for many purposes.

Escape Clause Discussed.

With respect to the escape clause, Secretary Adams admitted that it was designed to benefit Great Britain and that the American delegation had to accept it as a British protection against France and Italy. The United States could not set up a colorable excuse and build any type of ship desired by America if Great Britain exceeded the treaty limit, according to Mr. Adams. "We would have to build ships in the category stipulated by the British," he added.

"That is, if Japan would permit," interposed Senator Broussard.

Senator Hale asked if America would not be compelled to build ships we don't need or sacrifice parity, and Mr. Adams did not contest this.

Divergence on 6-Gun Program.

Another divergence of viewpoint developed with respect to the view which the general board of the Navy entertains toward the 6-inch-gun program, in substitution for the 8-inch-gun policy.

On the first day of the hearing Secretary Stimson had expressed the opinion that the general board unanimously supported the delegation. Secretary Adams said yesterday that the general board had not been consulted at all during the negotiations.

Mr. Adams likewise admitted that he did not choose the naval advisers to the delegation, as they were chosen by the President.

DIAMOND CABS DEFY COMMISSION ORDER

He laid the blame for the situation on the District Government. "They are giving us no protection from fly-by-night cab drivers and we are forced to defy the order of the Public Utilities Commission commanding us to operate on our present meter rates."

Since the organization of the company, he pointed out, 40,000,000 persons have ridden in Diamond taxicabs without a fatal accident. This record for safety, he said, can hardly be maintained under the new rate.

Mr. Davis has not informed the Public Utilities Commission of the change and furthermore, he emphasized, does not intend to. Regulations for taxicabs recently laid down by the Public Utilities Commission, which claims jurisdiction over the machines, are now in court on a petition to restrain the commission from enforcing them. At present the commission is seeking specific legislation from Congress to give it authority over the taxicabs.

Mr. Davis claims that the 35-cent cabs are operating against the District regulations in cruising through streets soliciting passengers. They are not operating from livery garages as they should, according to Mr. Davis. He further argues that according to the District law, only 800 livery cabs can be licensed, while at present 1,100 permits have been issued.

"Any Government worker," he stated, "who owns an automobile may operate it as a taxicab, with a consequent unfair competition to the established companies."

Under the new 35-cent rate the city proper zone is bounded by the Wharves and Macomb street on the south and north, and Fifteenth street and Wisconsin avenue on the east and west. Outside this area is the 60-cent zone. The highest zone charge is 85 cents, the fare from the city proper to the sections on the District line.

Francis Cannon, manager of the Black and White Taxicab Co. and the Yellow Taxicab Co., last night announced that the companies will not join in the rate cutting war. "No one can furnish safe transportation at 35-cent rates. Drivers will speed and accidents will increase. Our rates will be the same as heretofore," he said.

ATLANTA SIUICED'S ACTIVITIES SOUGHT

Man Who Became Baker Case Suspect Identified as New York Resident.

JANNEY ALIBI ACCEPTED

Identification of an Atlanta, Ga., suicide as Frank McDonough, of New York City, yesterday prompted an attempt by local detectives working on the Mary Baker murder case to trace the activities of the man about the time of the killing.

Aid of the New York Police Department and Atlanta authorities has been enlisted by Inspector William S. Shelby. This inquiry is justified, according to Inspector Shelby, by the elaborate precautions in removing identification marks which were taken by the man before he hanged himself.

More detailed information regarding the history of the man is being sought by Inspector Shelby. McDonough bore a general resemblance to the suspect in the case.

A communication was received by local detectives from Atlanta saying that the police department of that city could not make photographs of the man for lack of proper equipment. Pictures wil lbe sought at the home of the man in New York City.

Robert J. Janney, who has been under severe grilling for the past week, which was actuated by his alleged annoyance of a woman in the vicinity of the Ellipse, has been cleared of al lsuspicion in connection with the murder. He satisfied police that he was in New York City on April 11, the day of the murder. He will be held on other charges.

An itinerant painter is also being sought for questioning by police. He is said to have boasted that he knew Miss Baker.

FINANCING THE DISTRICT.

The House District committee seems to be favorably disposed toward the bill offered by Mr. Moore, of Virginia, providing for a commission which would inquire into the fiscal relations of the Federal and District governments, with a view to ascertaining what would be a reasonable and just amount to be paid by the Federal Government toward the expense of the District government.

A joint committee of citizens representing local commercial and civic bodies presented a petition to Congress yesterday urging the restoration of the rule which calls for a 40 per cent contribution by the Federal Government. The law already provides for this apportionment, but Congress since 1925 has exacted a larger proportion than 60 per cent from local taxpayers, while appropriating only $9,000,000 a year from the Treasury. The growth of the city has been handicapped in consequence, although the value of the Federal Government's property in the District has greatly increased.

Vice President Curtis told the committee that the Federal Government should pay one-half of the expenses of the District government. He favored this 50-50 proportion when he was chairman of the Senate District committee. For many years this 50-50 rule was in effect, and under it the city's needs were adequately provided for.

The prospective early enactment of the Cramton parkways bill, providing for a magnificent development of the Potomac Valley, Anacostia Park and Rock Creek Park, makes it necessary that Congress provide a fair contribution from the Federal Treasury for the maintenance of the District of Columbia. The park bill provides for a loan from the Treasury to the District of $16,000,000, to be repaid in six annual installments. If the Federal contribution should remain at $9,000,000 a year, the taxpayers of the District would be required to pay over 75 per cent of this loan, in addition to paying the lion's share of the cost of District government. As this great parkway development is an improvement of the National Capital as such, and is immeasurably more ambitious than the District would require as a municipality, it is obviously unfair to the local taxpayers to saddle them with an expense that should be borne at least equally by the other taxpayers of the United States.

If this question could be laid before the people of the country it can not be doubted that they would demand fair treatment of District taxpayers, and would be perfectly willing to pay one-half of the cost of governing the National Capital. The stumbling block is in the House, where a handful of obstructionists have gained a position where they can inflict injustice upon District residents. Apparently their only object in doing this is to gain fictitious credit with their far-off constituents upon the false plea that they are "watchdogs of the Treasury."

The Senate has voted to make the Federal contribution $12,000,000 instead of $9,000,000. This more nearly approximates the 60-40 proportion advocated by the joint committee of citizens, and is certainly fair to the Nation's taxpayers. The Senate can make its will effective against the House obstructionists if it will stand firmly for the increased Federal contribution. For one year, at least, a more equitable apportionment can be made. In the meantime Mr. Moore's bill should be enacted, so that Congress will have the benefit of a careful study of District-Federal fiscal relations.

THE SENATE FLOPS.

The country is beginning to wonder if the Senate knows its own mind on the immigration question. When the Harris bill to restrict immigration from other countries of the Western Hemisphere was before that body recently the Senate tied itself into such a parliamentary knot that it was necessary to recommit the bill to the immigration committee. But as soon as the dissension had subsided the measure was revived, decked out in a new garb, and slipped through the Senate with but 16 negative against 51 affirmative votes.

The original Harris bill provided quotas to restrict immigration from all Latin America. It met with opposition on the ground that no Latin-American country, except Mexico, sent enough settlers to the United States to warrant such action. Senator Harris then made an attempt to limit the scope of the bill to Mexico but his move was decisively routed by a vote of 66 to 11. When Senator Copeland secured consent of the Senate to reconsider its vote Senator Harris brought out this same amendment and scored an overwhelming approval. In addition to voting contradictory amendments and running off on tangents not germane to the bill the Senate has completely reversed itself within three weeks.

CHIEF JUSTICE WHEAT.

In appointing Associate Justice Alfred A. Wheat to be chief justice of the District Supreme Court President Hoover has made a popular choice. In the short time that Justice Wheat has been on the bench he has gained the respect of the bar and the confidence of the public. His elevation to the highest judicial position in the District comes as recognition for service rendered.

President Hoover has not yet decided upon a new associate justice. It has been five months since Chief Justice Walter I. McCoy retired, and in view of the congestion in the District Supreme Court the appointment of an additional justice may be considered urgent. Legislation is now before Congress for the creation of two additional seats on the District supreme bench because the court is so far behind its calendar. In view of this situation it is to be hoped that the President will find in the near future an able justice who is familiar with the problems of the District.

INDIA'S SPREADING REVOLT.

Lord Irwin's attempt to extinguish the conflagration that is sweeping over India by a warning and a promise comes several months too late. The followers of Gandhi are sincere in their belief that the rule of Britain ought to be destroyed. The viceroy's warning that their campaign of civil disobedience will only postpone fruition of their plans for India will no doubt fall upon deaf ears. For years the Indian leaders have been promised dominion status for their country, but now, when they have embarked upon a campaign of revolt, the promise of the mother country sounds empty and meaningless.

A years ago the Nationalists of India were working toward dominion status. They were pledged to place their demands before a round-table conference this year and to seek an amicable settlement. But the British authorities did not meet the conditions upon which the invitation to the conference was accepted, and both sides recognized the futility of conferring further. Following a conference between Lord Irwin and Gandhi last December the Indian leaders refused to negotiate further with the government, and launched their movement of noncooperation.

The conference to be held in London next October, therefore, may have little effect on the present crisis. The government proposes to invite representatives of all parties and interests in British India and delegates from the Indian states to discuss all of India's problems. This conference will have before it a detailed report from the Simon commission, which made an exhaustive study of the Indian situation last year. But the followers of Gandhi have abandoned their hope of obtaining dominion status through negotiation, and are determined to win independence by disobedience and by boycotting the British. They will probably refuse to participate in the conference unless the government yields to their demands.

Once the flame of revolt has been kindled among the "dumb millions" of India it can not easily be stamped out. Leaders of the civil disobedience movement have learned to distrust the British, and those who are led enter into the campaign with a sort of religious zeal which takes no cognizance of warnings or official conferences. It appears that the conference stage of the Indian question has definitely passed, that Britain is faced by an active revolt which makes widespread bloodshed inevitable. The immediate future of India is more likely to be determined by continued use of the boycott and noncooperation, by riots and violence, and the free use of the bayonet.

COMMUNIST THIEVES.

In spite of its communistic ideals, Russia has need of capital. The economic system which the bolshevists have tried to develop for the purpose of ridding the world of capitalism can not function, it seems, without a certain amount of capital. Since the capital of the bolshevists has been squandered they have been forced to seek money in other countries. Naturally they turned their eyes toward America. But they found the great majority of financiers in this country cautious. That obstacle could only be overcome by offering liberal concessions.

The more astute business men discounted the value of these concessions, knowing the character of the government with which they would have to deal. But some concerns accepted the representations of the Soviet dictatorship at face value, and launched enterprises in Russia. A certain radical element here came to regard Russia as a great source of wealth, and urged the United States to recognize the bolshevist regime in order to promote American-Russian trade. They pointed to the Soviet concessions as proof of a willingness to deal fairly. Now the fruits of those supposedly rich concessions granted by the communists are beginning to ripen.

One firm, much of whose stock is owned by Americans, obtained a mining concession. Capital amounting to $50,000,000 was involved. Last December the Soviet sent its secret police upon the premises of the company in half a dozen cities. Files were confiscated. The general manager was arrested and fined. Other officials were sentenced to six years in prison on charges of espionage and counterrevolution. The Soviet justifies its action on the ground that the company gave orders not to work unprofitable fields, and that attempts were made to realize excessive profits.

The contract granting the concession guarantees an orderly liquidation, but the Soviet refuses to submit the matter to a court of arbitration as agreed, and the company is left holding the bag. The contract has been repudiated, and the concession withdrawn on trumped-up charges. The case fully reveals the perfidious character of the Soviet government. It was absurd to suppose that a government that is dishonest politically would live up to its obligations of a business nature. The Americans who have been swindled by the Muscovites have only themselves to blame. They were warned that they were dealing with thieves.

A Georgia professor lays the crime and divorce wave to coffee, tobacco and automobiles. How about radios?

Corks, bottles and barrels follow cracked ice to the suspected list. The country is being forced back to the old oaken bucket.

AMERICA FIRST

From the Chicago Tribune.

It is coincidental that Congress has before it as matter of first importance a bill to increase the tariff and, in its upper chamber, a treaty to limit the Navy. The two are not related in treatment, but they are in fact. It is of no significance that the two questions are up at the same time. It merely happens so; but it does not merely happen that they are interlocked, although not so regarded.

The Navy is not thought of as a national decoration, memorial, or plaything. Its value is not in itself. It is necessary to look elsewhere for the reasons for its existence. It is maintained because of a belief that without it the preservation of other things would be precarious. The national security is related to the national will to shape conditions in ways considered most advantageous to the people of the country. Two of the measures taken for this purpose are the tariff and the immigration restriction law. They are to keep goods and labor out of the United States, and unquestionably they are not intended for the benefit of mankind in general but for the particular benefit of the people of the United States.

American internationalists and pacifists have whittled at the Navy and Army, endeavoring to trim them gradually to nothing, but they are not all foolish enough to mistake the cause for the effect. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University and president of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, recently gave the annual Richard Cobden lecture before the Royal Society of Arts in London. With Cobden as his theme, he had the American tariff as his target. The sentiment may be found in one paragraph: "It is much easier to be prosperous than it is to be civilized. If a nation is to be truly civilized it must be much more than prosperous; it must use its prosperity to a high international and human end as a member of the family of nations."

Dr. Butler is not to be understood as suggesting that the United States should have almoners to dole out charity or distribute benefactions from the accumulations of its prosperity. He means that the factors which are supposed to be at the bottom of its well being should be available to other peoples. The uncivilized thing which America does, in the international view, is to retain an exclusive use of the materials and opportunities available to it. It has a wall around its markets against the products of alien labor and another wall around its territory against that labor itself. Neither may enter freely. Dr. Butler said to his British audience:

"It will be but a partial victory over the forces of unreason if, as military and naval armaments are done away with, tariff walls and trade barriers are multiplied in length, in breadth, and in thickness."

That may be accepted as orthodox and perfected internationalism in the United States. The offense America gives the brotherhood of man is not found in expansions of its Army and Navy but in restrictions of the economic privileges it offers the rest of the world. The military establishment is only an indication of its purpose to defend its peculiar benefits if other people seek to seize them and take them for their own enjoyment.

Free trade and free markets and free labor may constitute theoretical ideality. Free trade may be sound economics for the world in general, but the United States has found that it can make a tariff work for its own large area wherein there is free trade. The particular advantages which restriction of alien enjoyment of American opportunity has given the people here are the real objectives of internationalist attacks. This should be better understood in the United States. What is desired is such a civilization of this country as will make it again a free source of profit elsewhere.

AGE AND YOUTH.

They say it's not so long in looking back.
Those who have fared the 70 miles of time
Tell younger pilgrims courage not to lack,
The hills are not so difficult to climb.

And oft they smile to hear us whimpering
About the petty grievances which fall,
Some yesterday they shared the self-same thing,
The book of care they've read and know it all.

We who are younger think our goals lie far,
We slowly count the years which lie ahead,
They try to tell us just how near they are
And just how swiftly have the moments fled.

We, craving wisdom, think its progress slow.
We would go marching to the stirring drum.
They, who resting, smile because they know
How surely and how swiftly all things come.

If You Invite an Extra Guest, You Must Cut Thinner Slices for Everybody.

By ROBERT QUILLEN.

At least forty leaves are required to feed an apple.

If a tree holds more than one apple to each forty leaves, the fruit can't develop normal size and flavor.

The grower must decide whether to produce many apples of inferior grade or a smaller number of better quality.

To produce fine apples he must remove the surplus, leaving on the tree only the few that can be fed abundantly.

When a litter of pups or of pigs contains a greater number than the mother can supply, the breeder kills the surplus.

If he doesn't, the weaker ones starve to death or survive as useless runts to handicap their more fortunate mates.

When the food supply is limited, those to be fed must be given short rations or reduced in number.

That is the only solution, whether the hungry are apples, pigs, pups or people.

Members of the laboring class endure occasional periods of want because their number is greater than the number of jobs.

When jobs are few and laborers many, men bid against one another for the chance to work and wages fall.

The surplus workers go hungry, and their presence handicaps those who have jobs.

The poor, in short, are hopelessly poor because they are so many.

Only by reducing their number to match the number of jobs can they induce employers to bid for their services and thus provide abundant food for all.

Restricted immigration could solve part of the problem, but restricted birth must solve the remainder and that is a problem for each individual household.

Responsibility of parenthood is the greatest man can assume.

To create another life—to bring into the world another being who must compete with his kind for the right to live—is to share responsibility with the Creator of all life.

Those who would become parents must ask themselves: "Will our child be equipped by nature and trained by environment to win a place among those who have abundance, or will he swell the ranks of those who struggle for bread?

Is it fair to throw a child into the water if you know it can't swim?

Is it fair to leave your child on the doorstep of the poor to take food from their mouths?

Every child doomed to struggle for bread makes life harder for those who now fight over crumbs.

You can shirk responsibility and let Nature determine the number of apples on the tree, but they will be off-grade apples hard to sell at any price.

He pets it and coddles it so much I swear
'Twill die very young of the excessive care.

He darts from the office and homeward he speeds
To caress each blade and to see what it needs;
He potters about with his rake and his hose,
Though what he accomplishes nobody knows.

III.

He has a nice lawn mower, shiny and bright,
To push in the morning and also at night,
And when he's not pushing it, frenzied and mad,
His manner is most inexpressibly sad.

IV.

He also has shears and a clipper or two,
A hoe and a weeder, all painfully new;
He tinkers with one and then plays with another,
As though any lawn could be worth all the bother.

V.

He sprinkles it evenings and prays for some rain,
And after the rain comes he wets it again;
Whenever the sun shines he fears it's too hot,
And when the sun doesn't he fears it is not.

To see if perchance it has suffered a blight
Or if it still grows by the dawn's early light.

All properly labeled with cute little tags;
He sprinkles it 'round, as is always his wont,
And some of it grows, but the most of it don't.

And bites little children who step on the grass;
He throws rocks at robins that peck at a blade;

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Veteran's Tribute to Representative Edith Nourse Rogers.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Representative Edith Nourse Rogers, Republican, of Massachusetts, is conducting a series of hearings for the expenditure of more than $30,000,000 on a building program called for under the Williamson bill, which will provide for the consolidation of the Veterans' Bureau, the Pension Bureau and all national homes for disabled volunteer soldiers.

Mrs. Rogers sees that her first problem is to get a clear picture of the whole situation. She will study former service men's needs and the needs and demands of the different States involved in allocating and authorizing the building of all the hospitals, clinics, dispensaries and other governmental institutions. She will try to reconcile all these needs and demands with President Hoover's unification plan, as embodied in the Williamson bill.

Well qualified by her long and varied experience overseas, in volunteer nursing at Walter Reed and in committee work, Mrs. Rogers stands out as the best qualified member of Congress to make a detailed and extensive study of veterans' affairs.

Mrs. Rogers holds an enviable position in the minds of all former service men. All know her for her ability and fairness, her sincerity and generosity and her enthusiastic interest and zeal in all things "ex-service," and all are proud to be numbered among her friends. Mrs. Rogers personally knows hundreds of veterans, who have all felt the benefit of her efforts and her most generous sympathy. Called upon to solve all kinds of veterans' problems and difficulties, Mrs. Rogers is constantly busy with veterans' relief. Expecting much from her, veterans always receive much. She never disappoints.

Heavy Property Losses Resulting From Inadequate Police Protection.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: One of the most vital matters affecting the people of the District is the increase of taxes, especially real estate. As I understand it, it is likely that the tax of $1.70 per hundred will be increased to $1.90. During no other period of my life in the District of Columbia, now over 50 years, have taxpayers had so little protection for their property. One of the greatest acts of vandalism has been the destruction of property.

No sooner is a house vacated than it is robbed of its plumbing, electrical fixtures and other improvements. I have in mind a property consisting of a four-room house, a well of water and outhouses connected with it. All have been carried away except the house and the hole, and to cap the climax, 36 glass panes knocked out. This is one of many cases of its kind in the District.

The junk dealers are reaping a harvest in lead and brass and other things, while we are becoming poorer. If a survey of such properties were made at this time it would show a heavy loss for many of the property holders. As the summer months are upon us and the schools are about to close we can look for nothing more than an increase of such depredations by the boys who roam the city with nothing special in mind to do.

The city today is so large that the police force is inadequate to handle the situation. It is up to Congress to be more liberal in its appropriations for that department, so that the city may be adequately patrolled.

Not All Hicks Are Born in the Sticks—Go to a Ball Game and See the Small-Town Stuff.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: It is one of my favorite boasts that I have never been fooled with the idea that so-called small-town interest in irrelevant trivialities is anything but the manifestation of a trait common to humanity. That this is so will be admitted by any one who takes note of the antics of a baseball crowd.

Last Sunday's conflict between the Griffs and White Sox was tense enough to make a dyed-in-the-wool fan sit tight from start to finish. Yet, in the section where I sat, a slight disturbance by a quarrelsome spectator held a large part of the crowd on their feet, so that a view of the batter and much of the diamond was shut out from view for several minutes.

It is noticeable, too, that a great many among the tens of thousands who gather in major league ball yards seem to be more interested in scrambles for foul balls knocked into the stands than on the game itself.

It is true that these distractions interfere with the full enjoyment of natural-born fanatics. But why should they kick? Baseball furnishes indiscriminate millions with rejuvenating hours of relief from the cares and monotony of hard work, and that is the important consideration.

What I do object to is the assumption of the self-centered cityite that all the hicks are born in the sticks.

Look for Jupiter and Venus in the Western Sky Early in the Evening.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Golden Jupiter and white Venus shining in the evening sky! We should look for these planets in the west and northwest. Giant Jupiter is more than 1,300 times larger than our own planet, and between 367 and 600 millions of miles distant. Jupiter's year has 4,332 days; its day has ten hours. Astronomers have called it a "semisun."

White Venus is the brightest planet—our earth's "twin sister," almost the same size. It is between 25 and 161 millions of miles distant. Venus' year has 225 days; its day is probably just as long. It reflects about 60 per cent of the sunlight received. We know very little respecting conditions upon its surface.

BALBOA FETES BYRD, AGAIN ON U. S. LAND

Explorer Treads American Soil First Time in Year and Half.

WILL SAIL IN FORTNIGHT

Balboa, Canal Zone, May 14 (A.P.). For the first time in a year and a half, Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd set foot on American territory today, returning from the southernmost regions of the world in the steamer Rangitki.

With him were five members of the expedition which made history in the Antarctic—Lloyd Berkner, Charles E. Lofgren, William C. Haines, Richard Konter and Russell T. Owen, correspondent of the New York Times. They had remained at Dunedin, New Zealand, after leaving the polar regions, while most of the other members had gone either to the United States or the Canal Zone previously, or are traveling on the other Byrd ship, the City of New York.

After about two weeks here, the time to be spent in assembling as many of the expedition members as possible, the party will steam to New York for a triumphal return to the homeland.

For the Canal Zone, the arrival of the explorer probably was the biggest day since the Panama Canal was opened. The party was welcomed with zest by the population in general, while for reporters and photographers it was a field day.

As one of his first acts, Admiral Byrd called upon Maj. Gen. Malin Craig, commandant of the zone, while thirteen United States Army fighting airplanes circled overhead in honor of the explorer.

The Antarctic conquerer tonight paid tribute to Dr. Fridjof Nansen, famed Norwegian explorer of the Arctic, who died in Oslo yesterday.

"Although I never met Dr. Nansen," he said, "I, like all explorers, have always admired him and looked up to him. I was very sorry to hear of his death."

Besides his call on Gen. Craig today, Admiral Byrd reviewed a detachment of Boy Scouts; called on Col. Harry Burgess, Governor of the Zone; on Roy T. Davis, the American Minister, and on Admiral J. R. V. Blakeley, commandant of the Fifteenth Naval District.

Broker Pleads Guilty In Utah Lead Case Trial

New York, May 14 (A.P.).—William H. Rankin, former Salt Lake City broker, and one of eight defendants being retried in Federal Court on a mail fraud indictment in the Utah Lead case, halted the trial abruptly today and entered a plea of guilty. Sentence was deferred and the trial of the other defendants proceeded.

Rankin's bail of $5,000 was continued. When the second trial started, he told the court he was without funds and an attorney was assigned to him. The attorney, Clarence Hussey, was not in the courtroom when Rankin entered his plea.

The Listening Post

By CARLISLE BARGERON

WHEREVER political men meet nowadays—in the Capitol narrows and byways instead of the tavern, as of old—there is discussion as to just how politically pigheaded was the writing of that Dixon letter that bobbed up in the Parker debate.

That it was touched with a certain amount of pig-headedness seems not the question at all. That much follows because the letter was revealed. And the letter, of course, had its effect. For one thing, it gave those senators who did not want to vote for Judge Parker a reason for not doing so. Inasmuch as the nominee was only defeated by one vote, or, rather, a one-vote switch would have given the deciding vote to Vice President Curtis, it might well be contended that the letter was the cause of the administration defeat.

* * * *

THE point, then, is not whether the letter was smeared with pig-headedness, but whether it was not conceived in such. That is to say, whether Mr. Dixon, in penning the statement that the appointment of Judge Parker would be a major political stroke, was not simply talking through his hat.

There are many who argue that he was. The appointment of a Supreme Court justice from a State, it is contended, would not affect the electorate at all. State pride does not go that far.

* * * *

USUALLY, this would undoubtedly be true. Patronage favors affect only those receiving them and the organization boys who are inspired by virtue of them to do a little harder political work.

But the elevation of Judge Parker would have had more effect than this in North Carolina. It so happens that all over the South there are thousands of voters trying to justify their bolting of Smith in 1928. Many of them would like to remain out of the Democratic party.

This is particularly true in North Carolina, where the Republicans have a quite respectable organization and have been pressing the Democrats for many years.

* * * *

THE Republican party in that State has, in fact, grown to its present strength and respectability by just such splits in the Democratic party in the past as that which occurred in 1928. In no instance have all of the bolters returned. A percentage has always remained with the Republicans and these recurring percentages have largely made the Republican party what it is in North Carolina today.

Judge Parker was a Republican, of course. But his confirmation would have had its persuasive effect with many of those former Democrats now roaming about the State trying to make up their minds whether to return to the fold or remain with the Republicans. It would have had a tendency to justify them in their vote for Mr. Hoover in the first place, the fact that he came into their State for a member of the highest court in the land.

Of course, as things turned out the reaction will be the other way. It is not that any great reaction hung on the appointment one way or the other, but only a comparatively little reaction is needed in North Carolina to tip the scales. And the Republicans had hoped to hold a lot of those bolting Democrats. They always have in the past.

The only pig-headed thing about the Dixon letter was that it was found out.

Three Cars of Rum Seized in Florida

Shipment Was Consigned to Potomac Yards for Diversion.

Ocala, Fla., May 14 (A.P.).—Three solid carloads of liquor, billed as peppers, were seized by Federal dry agents in the railway yards here today. The liquor was consigned to Potomac Yards, Va., for diversion.

Orders were issued for officials at Baldwin, a junction point of the Seaboard Air Line Railway near Jacksonville, to examine two additional cars of the same shipment. Dry agents had not checked the quantity of liquor seized here, but said it would run into thousands of sacks of choice smuggled brands. The shipment was said to have originated at Pompano, Fla., between West Palm Beach and Miami.

Governor's Fate Will Go to Jury

Judge Overrules Motion by Defense for Directed Verdict.

Sheyboygan, Wis., May 14 (A.P.).—A jury will decide whether Gov. Walter J. Kohler, of Wisconsin, violated the State corrupt practices act and should be removed fro office.

This was determined today when Judge Gustave Gehrz overruled a defense motion for a directed verdict of acquittal. Final arguments then were started.

The jury is to return a "special verdict." The court today propounded eight questions to be answered "yes" or "no." Each deals with some phase of the ouster case evidence. After ten of the twelve jurors have agreed, a verdict will be submitted to the judge for his final decision.

CHINA NATIONALISTS TAKE 10,000 REBELS

20,000 Wounded in Six-Day Battle and Province Is Recaptured.

AMERICANS IN DANGER

Shanghai, May 14 (A.P.).—The Nationalist government forces defeated the northern alliance rebels in a six-day battle, taking 10,000 prisoners and driving the enemy out of Anhwei Province, the government announced tonight. Although casualties were not stated, the severity of the struggle was attested by previous dispatches which said that the Nationalists' wounded in the first two days of fighting numbered 20,000.

Pursuing the retreating rebels, the Nationalists attacked their new base at Kweiteh, in Honan Province. Capture of that city, the Nationalists asserted, would force the northerners to fall back upon Kaifeng to consolidate their shattered ranks.

Led by Chiang Kai-shek, president of the Nationalist government and generalissimo of its armies, the Nationalists captured numerous field guns and 7,000 rifles with their prisoners.

New Offense Developed.

The rebels, beaten back in eastern Honan, developed a new offensive in central Honan as other columns drove southward along the railway toward Hankow, key point of central China. They were dispatched by Marshal Feng Yu-Hsiang, one of China's leading generals and former supporter of the government. Advancing to meet the rebel threat, a Nationalist force moved northward from Hankow, with a major engagement expected.

The Nationalists, said Nanking advices, are attacking Kweiteh and expect by its capture to shatter the northern alliance rebel resistance in eastern Honan Province. Fall of the city would cause the rebels retreating westward to center their defenses about Kaifeng, it is claimed. President Chiang Kai-shek is reported to have left Suchow and entered the front lines, commanding the Nationalists' advance into Honan Province.

Meanwhile, the Nationalists along the Peiping-Hankow Railway are reported moving northward preparing to attack Chengchow, seeking to follow up the havoc done by Nationalist airplanes which dropped bombs upon the city.

(Associated Press.)

The State Department yesterday was informed by the Chinese Nationalist government that Americans in Chengchow should evacuate immediately.

State Department records show eight Americans at Chengchow: Mr. and Mrs. Victor Koon and three children, Gainesville, Tex., and Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Lawton and one child, Greenville, S. C. Nelson T. Johnson, American Minister at Peiping, advised them to withdraw to safety.

The department also announced that Douglas Jenkins, American consul general at Canton, had informed it that armed protection to enable American missionaries to escape from Kweihsien had been promised by Chinese authorities. The department said on May 10 that seven missionaries were believed to be endangered there. The promise of safety was contained in a telegram from Gen. Huang Shao Hung.

Italian forces began an offensive in the Piava area with good results.

Police Charge Striking Dock Workers in Burma

Rangoon, Burma, May 14 (A.P.).—Police charging with drawn weapons into a melee of striking dock workers and rickshaw pullers today prevented a battle between them. The clash began when the strikers attempted to make the rickshaw pullers join in their strike.

The police intervened last night also to prevent an attack by the strikers on the wharves. Six thousand dock workers have struck, completely paralyzing shipping.

New British Submarine Launched at Chatham

Chatham, England, May 14 (A.P.). The submarine Rainbow, of 1,475 tons, first of her class in the royal navy, was launched today. There are three other submarines of this class and twelve others in hand, to replace 36 submarines which automatically will become obsolete by the end of 1932.

If no more are laid down the British submarine strength then will be cut from 50 to 30.

LEAGUE WILL STUDY TRAFFIC IN WOMEN

$12,500 Gift to Be Used in Investigation Tour of Eastern Countries.

U. S. MAN TO HEAD GROUP

Geneva, May 14 (A.P.).—A gift of $12,500 from the Social Hygiene Bureau of New York City for an inquiry into traffic in women and children in the Eastern countries was accepted today by the council of the League of Nations.

Bascom Johnson, American official of the bureau, will head a commission of three social experts on a tour of investigation in the Far East. The other two members were not designated. The commission will visit Japan, China, India, Persia, the Malay States and Java.

The secretary-general of the council today said he would ask permission of the United States to include the Philippines in the inquiry.

The council took steps to back up the league's antiopium crusade. Mexico, Uruguay, Spain and four other countries where the narcotic traffic was said to be heavy were asked to appoint a committee to the council. It developed that few of the Latin-American countries had furnished the council committee with statistics on narcotic traffic.

Informal discussions this afternoon of various outstanding matters took place in the absence of Foreign Ministers Grandi, of Italy, and Briand, of France.

These two ministers attended a tea at which their countries naval ratio problem was discussed. M. Briand also was closeted with Julius Curtius, the German foreign minister, and it was said by usually well-informed persons that they talked of the future status of the Saar territory.

Discussion of a proposed economic European federation also was believed to have taken place.

Bad Weather Fails to Halt Horse Show

Many From Washington See Bradley Farms Spring Event.

By JEAN ELIOT.

IT was a horse show, not a fashion show out at Bradley Farms yesterday, when the National Capital Horse Show Association's annual spring exhibition got under way. Threatening skies accounted for a rather slim attendance, but those present were so keenly interested in what was going on in the ring that they didn't miss the usual springtime parade of smart modes.

Mrs. Edward Everett Gann occupied the "presidential box," with the Secretary of State and Mrs. Stimson as next door neighbors. With Mrs. Gann were Mrs. William M. Jardine and Mrs. Jacob Leander Loose. Secretary and Mrs. Stimson also had guests with them, among them the secretary's aid, Capt. Eugene Regnier. Mrs. Robert Patterson Lamont, accompanied by her daughter, Miss Gertrude Lamont, was likewise there to represent the Cabinet group.

Mrs. Gann presented the cup to the winner in class 20 for 2-year-olds, shown in hand, and cups were also presented in the afternoon by Mrs. Stimson and Mrs. Jardine.

Mrs. James Couzens, whose daughter, Mrs. William Jeffries Chewning, jr., showed several entries yesterday, was an interested spectator. Mrs. David Aiken Reed was present, and so was Mrs. Arthur H. Vandenberg, who was in a box with a number of ladies, including Mrs. John J. O'Connor. Representative Ruth Hanna McCormick arrived quite late, accompanied by her small daughter "Baisie," just in time to see Johnny McCormick take his horse over the jumps in the difficult "touch and out class."

The two youngest of the several Szechenyi girls, charming flaxen-haired youngsters, occupied the box of the Minister of Hungary and Countess Szechenyi. Mrs. Claude Swanson was in Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Davies' box, where Mr. A. Mitchell Palmer, Attorney General in the Wilson administration, was also a guest.

Mrs. Stephen H. P. Pell entertained guests in the box reserved for her father, Col. Robert M. Thompson, who is honorary president of the National Capital Horse Show Association and who has been actively interested in the success of its annual show since it was founded, well over a score of years ago. Mrs. Nellie Tayloe Ross, formerly Governor of Wyoming, was another distinguished spectator.

With Mrs. Alexander Legare were Mrs. Mark Bristoe and Mrs. Chandler Anderson, and Mrs. Tracy Dows had as her guests Mr. and Mrs. Warren Delano Robbins, Miss Helen Robbins and Miss Deborah Dows.

Gen. and Mrs. Charles P. Summerall were present through the afternoon, Mrs. Summerall having entertained at luncheon preceding the show in the tea room in the Bradley farmhouse, which is to continue through the rest of the week for the benefit of the Soldiers, Sailors and Marines Club. Members of the Women's Army and Navy League are in charge, under the direction of Mrs. Lutz Wahl. Yesterday business was good both at luncheon and at the tea hour.

Although held under cloudy skies, the show yesterday was eminently successful from the point of view of the spectators. Fine horses from far and near were shown, with locally owned mounts carrying off a fair share of the ribbons. The rain held off until the late afternoon; the air was soft and balmy and it was delightful to look off across the animated scene in the ring to a pleasant prospect of rolling meadows and woodland.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Mondell entertained a box party, their guests including Mr. and Mrs. William Mondell and Mr. asd Mrs. Alexander Gregg. Others glimpsed at the show—some in the ring and others in the boxes—were Mrs. John Allan Dougherty, Mr. and Mrs. William McClellan Rider, Mrs. Hampson Gary, Mrs. Walter R. Tuckerman, with her daughter, Miss Laura Tuckerman; Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Meyer, Miss Persis Myers, Miss Louise Myers, Maj. and Mrs. Ennalls Waggaman, who had guests in their box, among them Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Waggaman; Mrs. John Buchanan, who had come from Warrenton for the show; Col. Douglas McCaskey, Col. Kenyon Joyce, Maj. George Forster and Maj. Raymond McQuillan. Mrs. Bernard Gimbel, of New York, with her daughters, Miss Carol Gimbel and Miss Hope Gimbel, were also present, as were Mrs. Caspar Whitney and Miss Joan Whitney, also of New York.

Ambassador of Poland Is Guest at Dinner.

The Ambassador of Poland, Mr. Tytus Filipowicz, was the guest in whose honor Mrs. M. de Clare Berry gave a dinner last night at the National Women's Country Club, in commemoration of the anniversary of the founding of Jamestown, Va., in 1607. Mrs. Berry used an attractive decorative motif, having small ships for place cards upon which was engraved the name Sarah Constant, the flagship which brought to the shores of America the permanent settlers from England.

The centerpiece of flowers was flanked with replicas of the Santa Maria, flagship of Columbus, and the three ships, Sarah Constant, the Discovery and the Goodspeed, which composed the first trio of the 90 English ships landing at Jamestown before the year 1620.

At the dinner were the Minister of Guatemala and Senora de Recinos, the Minister of Czechoslovakia and Mme. Veverka, the Minister of Ecuador and Senora Dona Rosa H. de Viteri, Senator and Mrs. Charles L. McNary, Senator Arthur Capper, Mrs. Florence P. Kahn, Representative John Q. Following the dinner, Senora Dona Rosa de Viteri, who is an accomplished pianist, gave several delightful numbers.

The marriage of Miss Frances Bacon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Elmer Bacon, to Ensign William Eager Howard, U. S. N., son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Howard, of Hyattsville, Md., took place at noon yesterday at the home of the bride's parents, 3103 Cathedral avenue.

The Right Rev. Mgr. P. C. Gavan, of the Shrine of the Sacred Heart, officiated. The drawing rooms had an effective arrangement of peonies and gladioli against a background of palms and ferns; tall standards, holding sprigs of spring blossoms, formed an aisle to the improvised altar, where masses of palms and white flowers with cathedral candles on either side, completed the altar effect.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a white satin gown, fashioned on princess lines; her tulle veil fell from a cap of rose point secured by a bandeau of orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of sweetheart roses and lilies of the valley.

Miss Ann Hamilton Bacon, who was maid of honor for her sister, wore a gown of powder blue crepe with shoes to match. Her hat, of blonde lace, was trimmed with pink velvet ribbon. Mrs. Howard's costume was of beige chiffon and silk lace, with black hat and shoes.

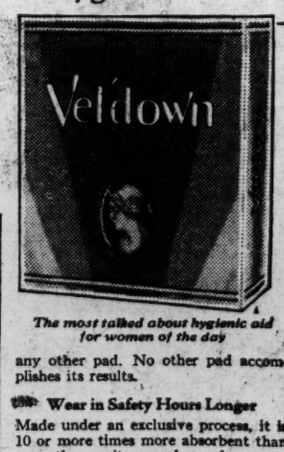
A Discovery
That Banishes Chafing and Discomfort from Women's Hygiene

A New and Totally Different Sanitary Protection. Pure RAYON Cellulose Filled

Soft and Gentle as Fluffed Silk And—Effective 3 Times Longer



The most talked about hygienic aid for women of the day

THERE is now an utterly new and totally different hygiene for women. Not merely another sanitary pad, but an invention of world-wide importance to women.

A sanitary napkin that is NEW in design. New in material. New and remarkable in the results that it gives.

Women by the thousands are discarding old-type pads and adopting it. For it does two things no other pad made now or ever made can claim.

Ends All Chafing—All Irritation!

Developed in the world-famed laboratories that cradled the Rayon industry, it is filled with pure RAYON cellulose. Thus it cannot chafe or irritate. Hence, no more discomfort, no more irritation from wearing a sanitary pad! Consider what this means.

Its softness is the gentle softness of Fluffed Silk. Its "feel," a contrast that once you experience, will keep you forever from the irritating old ways. Try it. What you find will amaze you.

Patented under U. S. Patents (U. S. Pat. No. 1702530) it is different from any other pad. No other pad accomplishes its results.

Wear in Safety Hours Longer

Made under an exclusive process, it is 10 or more times more absorbent than any other sanitary pad now known or ever known to women.

Thus it can be worn in complete safety and protection hours longer than any other pad yet developed. Consider, too, what this means.

Specially treated, its deodorizing power is far greater than that of any other pad—and thus ends even slightest danger of offense. Discards, of course, easily as tissue.

Go today to any drug or department store. Obtain a box of Veldown. Use six. Then—if you don't feel that it is a Vast and Great Improvement on any other pad you have ever worn, return it—and receive your full purchase price back. 152

KING GEORGE, QUEEN RECEIVE U. S. GIRLS

Eight Amerioan Debutantes Presented at Premier Court of Season.

800 ATTEND FUNCTION

London, May 14 (A.P.).—In a magnificent setting of gold and scarlet, King George and Queen Mary tonight sped hundreds of palpitating debutantes—including eight Americans—on their way to social careers.

The eight Americans presented were:

Miss Eleanor Edwards, of Cincinnati, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward William Edwards.

Miss Katherine K. Tod, of New York, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Tod, of 655 Park avenue.

Miss Eunice Bennett, of New York.

Miss Charlotte Dorrance, of Cinnaminson, N. J., and Radnor, Pa., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Dorrance.

Miss Elizabeth Kent, of Philadelphia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Atwater Kent.

Miss Isabel B. Henry, of Philadelphia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Charlton Henry.

Miss Griselda A. Forbes, of Boston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Grant Forbes.

Miss Frances Hutchinson, of Philadelphia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sydney B. Hutchinson.

Girls Oblige Photographers.

The first court of the season in Buckingham Palace—the first in two years where the king has stood beside queen—was a great success, ideal weather contributing no small part.

Thousands of amiable onlookers, many of whom arrived five hours before the court began, jostled to get close enough to view the powdered and befeathered debutantes who waited in parked motorcars along the mall for the royal summons.

All of the girls from the United States obligingly poked their heads out of the windows to pose for photographers, and smiled graciously to acknowledge the acclaim of the spectators.

Before Impressive Background.

The regal splendor of the Buckingham Palace throne room made an admirable background for the girls in frothy white and pastel-hued gowns.

The queen, who smiled encouragingly at each nervous presentee, wore an imposing gown of blue-silver brocade, the famous Kohinoor diamond gleaming from her breast.

King George wore the scarlet full dress uniform of colonel in chief of the grenadier guards, and presented an impressive picture as he stood by one of the twin-gold thrones, mounted on a gold and scarlet dais, under the golden canopy in the state ballroom.

Dawes in American Attire.

With the Prince of Wales, who wore the uniform of the Welsh Guards, was Princess Mary, wearing a gown of pale blue trimmed in diamante. A silver tissue train and a diamond sapphire tiara completed the ensemble.

Most of the 800 guests, who were principally from the diplomatic corps, were resplendent in their uniforms but the American and Russian Ambassadors were conspicuous for their sombre garb.

Ambassador Charles G. Dawes remained faithful to the usual American evening dress, while M. Sokolnikov, the Russian, wore an evening coat with black knee breeches.

Miss Eleanor Edwards wore a simple gown of pink tulle, made in a series of flounces, edged in silver and she carried an old-fashioned nosegay of roses and lilies of the valley.

Two Auctioned Pictures Bring $107,000 Total

London, May 14 (A.P.).—Two pictures offered at the West End auction rooms today created a surprise inasmuch as they realized £34,000 (about $170,000) in a few minutes of bidding.

The first was a hitherto unrecorded Rembrandt bearing his signature and the date 1658 which brought £18,500. The other was a Flemish school portrait of Dame Elizabeth Bullen for which the purchaser paid £15,500.

Flaming Youth Ranks Joined by Speeder, 83

Chicago, May 14 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—"These gay, young, machine-age kids break the speed laws every day," muttered motorcycle cop Hubert Kelsh, of Evanston, as a car hitting 50 miles an hour passed him on Ridge boulevard. He gave chase and forced it to the curb. Astonishment seized the policeman.

"Your name and address?" he said to the driver.

"Lionel E. Bush, 1206 Elmwood avenue, Wilmette."

"Occupation?"

"Retired."

"Age?"

"Eighty-three!!!"

Mrs. Frances Bush, aged 75, was with her husband.

They took the ticket.

Spartanburg, S. C., May 14 (A.P.).—Effie May Elm, 19-year-olds girl, of Clifton, S. C., was arrested today in connection with the investigation of the slaying of Walter J. Hall, 19, mill operative, May 6. No formal charges were lodged against her.

Sheriff N. L. Bennett said the girl admitted leaving Clifton with Hall on the afternoon he was killed. She would make no further statement, he said. The girl was arrested when she returned to the home of her father, Perry Elm, from Royston, Ga., where she went the day Hall was killed. Hall's body was found on a lonely road near Converse, S. C., the night of May 6. He had been shot to death.

Jackson, Miss, May 14 (A.P.).—Mississippi's first impeachment trial in 54 years was opened this afternoon for the purpose of hearing charges against Lester C. Franklin, chairman of the State tax commission. Senator John Kyle, of Sardis, entered the motion which resolved the senate into a high court of impeachment.

The youths said they declined to accept the proposal and proceeded to the next town. Keating was killed in a pay roll holdup several days ago. His home was in Oil City, Pa.

Help U. S. Vessel Rendered During Vestris Disaster to Be Acknowledged.

New York, May 14 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—Sir Harry Gloster Armstrong, British Consul General, will board the U. S. S. Wyoming tomorrow afternoon to present to the officers a silver cigar box for use in the ward room in recognition of the services rendered by the ship on the occasion of the sinking of the Vestris November 12, 1928.

The description on the box is as follows: "Presented by his Britannic majesty's government in the United Kingdom to the United States battleship Wyoming in acknowledgment of services rendered in assisting to rescue the survivors of the British S. S. Vestris, of Liverpool, which foundered in the Atlantic Ocean on the 12th of November, 1928."

Within two hours after the Vestris sent out the S O S call, the Wyoming received orders from the Navy Department to proceed at once to the scene of the disaster. The battleship immediately got under way, and, although she started from a point about 250 miles away, arrived in time to rescue five women passengers and three Negro members of the crew.

Hot Dog Curfew Fixed As Sensitive Nose Balm

Evanston, Ill., May 14.—If you like "hot dogs" and happen to be in Evanston you'll have to look around a bit to do your shopping if it is after 11 p. m.

The city council today decreed the 11 o'clock curfew for "hot dog" stands on the city's streets, on the ground that the aroma of frying frankfurters offends sensitive olfactory nerves, especially after 11 o'clock at night.

Roy D'Arcy Again Divorced by Wife

Woman He Wed Second Time Accused Former Film Star of Cruelty.

Los Angeles, May 14 (A.P.).—Roy D'Arcy, former film actor and now a New York night club operator, was divorced by his wife, Mrs. Laura Rhinock Guisti, for the second time today. An interlocutory decree was granted Mrs. Guisti after she had testified in superior court to her husband's temperamental cruelties, threats to kill her and refusal to give her money.

She said that after she remarried the actor and they went to New York, "he immediately began staying out nights until 3 or 4 in the morning, and telling me it was none of my business where he had been. Two or three times he came home late at night, awakened me, took out a revolver and said he would like to shoot me, himself and the whole household."

D'Arcy, whose legal name is Guisti, and his wife married first in 1926. She obtained a divorce February 26, 1929, and one month later remarried the actor at Tia Juana, Mexico.

Two Capone Clubs Closed by Judge

Brother of "Scarface" Is Named in Action as Owner of Both Resorts.

Chicago, May 14 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—Judge Wilkerson in the Federal court today enjoined the Cotton Club and the Montmarte Club, both in Cicero and both important outlets for the Capone liquor, from continuing business. The clubs represent an investment of $200,000. Those named in the injunction are: Ralph J. Capone, owner, and Percy Haller, manager.

Ralph J. Capone is an elder brother of Al Capone and recently was found guilty of defrauding the Government of $350,000 in income taxes and faces a prison sentence and fine.

Two other popular clubs, the Cinderella and the Cocoanut Grove, both near the University of Chicago, were closed by injunctions.

When a Child is FEVERISH, CROSS, UPSET

Colic, gas, sour belching, frequent vomiting, feverishness in babies and in children, generally show food is souring in the little digestive tract.

When these symptoms appear, give Baby a teaspoonful of Phillips Milk of Magnesia. Add it to the first bottle of food in the morning. Older children should be given a tablespoonful in a glass of water. This will comfort the child—make his stomach and bowels easy. In five minutes he is comfortable, happy. It will sweep the bowels free of all sour, indigestible food. It opens the bowels in constipation, colds, children's ailments. Children take it readily because it is palatable, pleasant-tasting.

Learn its many uses for mother and child. Write for the interesting book, "Useful Information." Address The Phillips Co., 117 Hudson St., New York, N. Y. It will be sent FREE.

In buying be sure to get genuine Phillips Milk of Magnesia. Doctors have prescribed it for over 50 years.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Chas. H. Phillips Chemical Co. and its predecessor, Chas. H. Phillips, since 1875.

On the Rules of Traffic

By WILLIAM ULLMAN

A parking light is mandatory under the District traffic code, which provides that whenever a car is parked on any street during the period from a half hour after sunset to a half hour before sunrise, it must display a white light in the front and a red light in the rear.

The parking light may be a single lamp, mounted on the left side of the car, or the two cowl lights or dim headlights in front together with the tail light. In any case, they must be visible 200 feet in either direction.

Example: A driver parks his car on a well-lighted street and does not turn on a parking light, believing that the street lamps make it clearly visible. Though this actually is the case, he still has violated the regulation.

Meals are "Happier"

due to this new luscious cereal with a "VEGETABLE EFFECT"

So dainty and alluring that every child delights in it. Brings a desired health-regulation in an entirely new way.

You know the story, Mother: Vegetables and fruits would answer the entire question if you could get your young folks to eat enough of them. But that is often difficult. And that . . . strange as it may seem . . . is where HEINZ Rice Flakes step in! . . . the new, delicious cereal made by HEINZ of "57" fame.

It is almost unbelievable, in fact, that a food so dainty in flavor and appearance could furnish bulk and roughage in such effective quantity. This, however, is the latest HEINZ development in foods, due to a fine food-substance known to scientists as vegetable-cellulose—a part of rice itself. We retain it in HEINZ Rice Flakes by a special process, patented and owned by us.

ALL BRAN REMOVED

This, too, may be interesting to you: This food-substance isn't bran, but is soft and fluffy so it cannot irritate. HEINZ Vegetable-Cellulose multiplies itself in bulk four to six times when moisture is absorbed after eating. Thus it forms one of the mildest, gentlest, yet most effective types of natural bulk and roughage that Science knows—the same kind, in fact, that vegetables themselves contain. HEINZ experts worked eight years in perfecting it. Some of the world's ablest authorities collaborated. In the form used by HEINZ its preparation costs much more than the rice grain itself.

LET CHILDREN CHOOSE

Simply let your children try HEINZ Rice Flakes and see how they like them . . . let them become familiar with these oven-toasted, crunchy, crisp, delicious flakes. Then begin to serve this new cereal twice daily for one week to start the benefits; once daily thereafter to maintain them. Serve in the morning and as dessert at lunch or dinner the first week. That is easy. Children want a food like this. Notice how health-habits are improved the second week. If for any reason you are not pleased, your grocer will refund your money gladly. We have arranged for that. Meals are happier, and you and your little ones actually do become better pals when you present such benefits in a manner so attractive.

BE SURE

Be sure that you get HEINZ Rice Flakes, because no other cereal of any type supplies this most important feature in this alluring form.

Of course, HEINZ Rice Flakes furnish all the energizing food-value that any rice-food offers in addition to HEINZ Vegetable-Cellulose. And these rice flakes are just as good in every way for adults as for children, so let your entire family benefit by them.

ASK YOUR PHYSICIAN

He will tell you of the efficiency of vegetable-cellulose in the absorption of moisture and the resulting bulk and roughage.

The Preferred Newspaper In Preferred Homes

To advertisers who seek an audience, culled of unresponsive elements, and representing the highest purchasing power of the Washington market, The Washington Post is the essential medium . . . Those whose products exert a "mass appeal" will also find Post advertising most profitable because its readers are of the type who first recognize and enjoy the advantages of new products, or services, and whose selections are the criterion for other thousands.

The Washington Post

—is the only morning newspaper in Washington providing the world-wide news service of the Associated Press, and its local news is unsurpassed in quality and volume.

¶ The Washington Post does not give undue emphasis to stories of a sensational or criminal nature.

¶ The Post is a leader in the modern school of news reporting—which gives all the facts in simple, concise language, without expression of opinion or conjecture . . . This effects a great saving in the reader's time while conveying all essential information in a more clear and understandable manner.

¶ In its editorial aspect The Washington Post is possibly the most famous of American newspapers, and will be found quoted most frequently in the Congressional Record.

¶ The Post is consecrated to the welfare of the community and is fearless and outspoken on all matters pertaining thereto. Editorial opinions, however, are never permitted to influence or color the impartial recording of all news affairs.

¶ In the social world The Post occupies a position of acknowledged authority—as it also does on all matters of financial concern. Through its special evening "Bull Dog" edition it is invariably first in the presentation of COMPLETE sporting news.

¶ The finest entertaining and informative features are employed by The Post, and in these it continues to reflect the clean, wholesome ideals that make it "The Preferred Newspaper in Preferred Homes."

The character of The Washington Post is an accurate reflection of the type of people who are its readers—people of intelligence, discrimination and high ideals—people who guide the business, political and social affairs of the Nation's Capital.

PERNAMBUCO HAILS FRANCE'S SEA FLIER

Noisy Throng Meets Mermoz, Arriving From Natal; Fiancee Is Present.

TELLS STORY OF EXPLOIT

Pernambuco, Brazil, May 14 (A.P.).—Jean Mermoz, French pilot who yesterday conquered the south Atlantic by flying the first mail between Africa and Brazil, arrived here today by airplane from Natal, greeted his fiancee, and was hailed by a tumultuous multitude. The intrepid Frenchman was accompanied by his radio operator, M. Guimie, who flew the land plane from Natal to this city.

Officials of Campo Ibura flying field and governmental dignitaries greeted Mermoz. They delivered addresses of welcome and enthusiastically hailed his performance. Mermoz replied:

"I am satisfied because I established a new world record for hydroplane flights as well as bringing the first air mail across the Atlantic to you. The flight was made not only for the glory of France but for a new triumph of aviation."

The trip was made under ordinary conditions as far as the equator, he said, but then the ship ran into heavy rains and strong head winds with but little visibility. "The sky was overcast. On the afternoon of Monday we picked up the Aero Postal steamer Phocee which was waiting for us en route. They asked us, 'How is everything; and we replied, 'All's well'."

Mermoz, who is 28, has been flying commercial planes several years. He said he would return to Natal tomorrow to prepare for a start for Dakar or St. Louis, Senegal, Africa, on Sunday.

His fiancee arrived today from Buenos Aires on the steamship Mendoza, which stopped at this port for two hours on the way to France.

With NELSON B. BELL

It is an obvious fact that forms of audible screen entertainment that packed theaters of the largest capacities when first introduced, now seem to increase no blood pressures and run up no temperatures.

Recent conversations with those engaged in the purveyance of screen diversion to the masses lead me to believe that the boys are in a bit of a quandary as to just what it is the public wants in its cinematographic fare. Types of stories that used to pack 'em in now find themselves projected to large areas of empty seats; musical revues, such as at first knocked the neighbors for long rows of spool tickets, now awaken no more than a ripple of desultory interest. The observation might be continued to indicate something of the waning concern over detective mystery tales and the utterly defunct status of the courtroom scene—not to mention the lukewarm reaction to operettas that prove to be nothing more than photographic reproductions of stage offerings, unaltered to meet the divergent requirements of the cameras and microphones.

The inevitable conclusion seems to be that the producers will soon be compelled to depend less upon the novelty of sound and color to salvage their investments than upon some discernible merit in plot structure, characterization and utilization of the more comprehensive possibilities of the camera.

Instances might be cited of recent local engagements that were anticipated as knockouts and turned out to be lamentable flops, but it appears to be the part of better judgment merely to sound a warning that it is not impossible for the industry to find itself in the same sort of slump as immediately preceded the advent of sound, as a result of its present sheer indifference to the development of screen technique in keeping with the importance and popularity of the celluloid medium.

I have a suspicion that this need has already been foreseen by the high command and that that is why the wide-angle projection with its oversize screen and supposedly third dimension is being kept off the current market to serve as an ace in the hole when the present product really seriously palls on a satiated public.

That's my story, even if I'm stuck with it!

Robert Z. Leonard has been pretty well represented on F street these last seven days, having directed both Norma Shearer's production of "The Divorcee," at the Columbia—which has done such heartening business that it was seriously considered holding the film over for a third week—and Ramon Novarro's "In Gay Madrid," at the Palace, for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

Mr. Leonard, it will be recalled, was the former Mr. Mae Murray before the removal of legal hindrances made it possible for her to share a brace of foreign princes with Pola Negri and for him to wed Gertrude Olmsted, another well-known screen actress.

Speaking of the Palace, it is interesting to note that Alice Swanson, of the team of Burns and Swanson, appearing in the "Russiantics" stage show with Dave Apollon, is a cousin of Gloria Swanson, by whom she was inducted into the intricacies of show business and trouping. During their New York engagement at the Capitol Theater, Burns and Swanson played seven shows a day, doubling into a night club after the last theater performance.

Positive assurance comes to this desk from Andy Sharick, managing director of the Rialto, that after next week the Ninth street house will, at least for the time being, abandon royalty.

Since its reopening the Rialto will have played "Captain of the Guard," which had a kingly background; "The King of Jazz" and, beginning Saturday, "The Czar of Broadway."

The complete line-up for next week, as it came to this department late yesterday afternoon, is as follows: Earle, John Barrymore in "The Man From Blankley's;" Columbia, all-star cast in "Paramount on Parade;" Fox, Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell in "High Society Blues;" Palace, Lupe Velez and Jean Hersholt in "Hell Harbor;" Rialto, John Wray, Betty Compson and Johnny Harron in "The Czar of Broadway;" Metropolitan, Maurice Chevalier and Claudette Colbert in "The Big Pond;" R-K-O Keith's, Bert Wheeler, Robert Woolsey and Jobyna Howland in "The Cuckoos," held over a second week.

It is well to bear in mind that the Metropolitan and Earle bills are inaugurated tomorrow; the others on Saturday.

Those crazy robins aren't so dumb as I thought. They do all of their romping around out in the umbrella tree in the back yard, but they sneaked their nest into the big Georgia pine that grows at the northwest corner of the front porch.

Now, let's see the cat figure that one out!

Committee to Prepare Pharmacopoeia Revision

Revision of the United States Pharmacopoeia was considered yesterday at a session of the U. S. Pharmacopoeia Association at the Willard Hotel.

Committees were appointed by E. Fullerton Cook, of Philadelphia, presiding officer, to prepare sections of the book for revision. The work of changing standards of drugs will take three or four years. About 50 leading pharmacists from different States attended the conference.

Gravely Cleared In Shooting Case

Grand Jury Action Comes After Trial Board and Court Exoneration.

Detective Spottswood F. Gravely, of the Third Precinct, was exonerated by the District grand jury yesterday on a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon in connection with the shooting March 19 of James Crotts, of Lexington, N. C.

The grand jury's actioin completely clears the policeman, he already having won acquittals before Judge Robert E. Mattingly in Police Court and before the Trial Board. The grand jury was asked to consider the charge after Judge Mattingly had refused to hold the policeman for grand jury action.

Crotts was shot when Gravely and Detective W. F. Burke, also of the Third Precinct, went to the house of Rose Marie Foster, on First street northwest near U street, to investigate complaints that three men had attempted to extort money from her. Crotts was shot by the policeman when he fled from the scene. Crotts, John C. Elgin and Ardie C. Swortzell, suspended policeman, are now under indictment charged with conspiracy to extort money from the Foster woman and another woman.

BOTTLE-SMASHING AUTOIST CUTS HANDS

Police Claim, However, That Two Holding Gin Were Overlooked.

WOMEN ARE ARRESTED

One prisoner suffered severe lacerations of the hand and feet while breaking liquor bottles and three men and a woman were taken in custody in a series of raids conducted late yesterday by Sergt. Oscar J. Letterman's squad.

Charles Pagioli, 26 years old, of N street near Twelfth street northwest, who, according to Detective J. A. Mostyn, is a former pugilist, whom he fought with in the ring a few years ago, was the prisoner who was cut. Detectives say that as they approached Pagioli's machine in Twelfth street between L and M streets northwest, the motorist began to break bottles containing liquor with his feet and hands. The police, however, say they seized two bottles believed to contain gin.

Pagioli is alleged to have attempted to resist arrest. He was taken to the First Precinct Station, where he was charged with transporting and possessing liquor.

Police say that when they visited an alleged speakeasy on the third floor of a residence in Thirteenth street near L street northwest, they found several women, whose names were obtained as Government witnesses. They say they seized more than 40 quarts of liquor and took in custody Joseph D. Lockwood, who was charged with possession and maintaining a nuisance, and Walter Chapman, who was charged with sale possession and maintaining a nuisance.

Police also visited a speakeasy in G street near First street northwest and arrested two colored persons, who identified themselves as William H. Allen and Ellen Mae Tinsey. Allen was charged with sale and possession and the Tinsley woman with possession.

Driver Exonerated in Fatality.

DIAL FLASHES

By ROBERT D. HEINL

STATION WMAL has filed an application for authority to install an automatic frequency control. If this is granted the station proposes to spend $3,000 for the device to assure the commission and listeners that it is continually on its assigned frequency.

Complaints have been made that the station is broad, but Milton Baker declared yesterday that, though WMAL had been checked frequently, it had never been found off its frequency. He attributed the complaints to the fact that some types of receivers had a tendency to tune broader on the lower frequencies, such as WMAL, which is on 630 kilocycles and sharper on the higher, such as WRC on 980.

This, he said, gave the impression the former station was occupying more of the dial than the latter, which, in fact, he asserted it was not.

A LETTER was received from Miss Mildred Hall, secretary to Mrs. Hoover, by Columbia's Washington office conveying the thanks of the First Lady for an opportunity to listen in when her son Herbert described the Army Air Corps maneuvers from an airplane over San Francisco Bay.

In the middle of Babe Ruth's broadcast recently, the foot of Nicholas Cortolongo, a page boy in the broadcasting studios, who was watching Babe admiringly, slipped and Cortolongo fell with a crash on the studio piano. Babe jumped; others in the room sat aghast.

When Ruth's talk was signed off, the boy, completely crushed, crept from behind the piano with tears in eyes and stammered, "Gee, Mr. Ruth, I'm awfully sorry."

"Forget it, kid," said the Babe, "when I saw it wasn't a pop bottle everything was all right."

The Bach Festival at Bethlehem tomorrow and next day will not be broadcast.

DESPITE the approaching summer season, new programs are being offered. One of these is the "Knights of the Garter," which begins tonight (WMAL—8:30).

Justices in the New York Special Sessions Court will permit Baby Rose Marie, 5 years old, to sing over the radio during early evening hours, but fined the child's father for permitting her to perform at a late night gathering.

Amid the tumultuous roar of the generators and the racket of receivers tuned to the 600-meter watch and broadcast wavelengths, the census taker visiting Station WABC in New York queried:

"Do you have a radio?"

TO entertain the American Association of Advertising Agencies at their dinner tonight Columbia has brought down a carload of its radio stars. The speech of Ogden Mills, Undersecretary of the Treasury, will be broadcast (WMAL—8 p. m.), but not the stars.

However, after calling on President Hoover at the White House this afternoon, they will put on a special performance for the boys at Walter Reed Hospital, if time permits.

Hoping to get a few pointers, the Nit Wits will visit the Senate.

Because New York as well as Philadelphia has refused to allow its baseball contests to be described over the radio, WRC, the sole local station thus far to volunteer, has thrown up the sponge on broadcasting Washington's out-of-town games.

A new stunt, the NBC will broadcast a description of the review by the President of the battle and scouting fleet in Hampton Roads next Tuesday. This will be done by short wave from the deck of the recently completed 10,000-ton light cruiser Salt Lake City.

Dare Interprets the Mode

Some blues are bright these days, as in this georgette frock with its dotted white collars and cuffs. (Courtesy of Joseph Paquin, Paris.)

Paris, May 14.

I THINK we too often forget how much we like flowers, and neglect the trouble and possibly the expense of having them around. How regrettable this is! For one of the luxuries of loveliness are cut flowers, and nothing so expresses the feminine personality that dominates the room as her choice of flowers and her arrangement of them!

One should have for one's flower repertoire certain vases which just seem to be made especially for certain flowers, you know. Little round flat vases for the small flat flowers, tall slender ones for the occasional rose, squatty ones, oddly shaped and with very small mouths, for tulips, and tall, wide-mouthed ones for lilacs.

And then the art of restraint! It is part of flower knowledge to know how to center attention on one lovely branch or one or two perfect roses by putting them by themselves in a vase, resisting the temptation to crowd them or to hide their loveliness with artificial-looking greens.

And as for extravagance, the one or two dollars a week that you might spend for flowers is really nothing compared to the mental and spiritual good that they do by their very presence.

The thought struck me that for Thursday, May 15, the weather might be fair and warmer and your fancies would be turning to thoughts of light-blue georgette dresses with white georgette collars and cuffs embroidered in white silk dots. So I hied me to Joseph Paquin for the model and I have sketched it in time for today's warm weather fancies. And there you are! Was I right—about the weather, I mean?

• • • • •

Alexandrine and imagination! For evening elegance she has assembled the set I illustrated for you—long black suide gloves with trimming of brilliants, a little evening purse of black and silver brocade in the form of dots—and a very unusual necklace made of grouped squares of tiny mirrors—each square showing four sides of mirrors edged in black.

And in case anybody still feels inclined to bewail the passing of real jewelry in favor of costume jewelry, I wish he or she would have to price this set!

One woman's house dress is another woman's—tennis frock, or vice versa! Because it can be worn both ways and several others, too, if it's made by the new Dah-ray pattern. But it'll never be made by the new-ray design if you don't send your stamped, self-addressed envelope right away quickly "toute suite" (as the French say) to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for the illustrated leaflet of directions.

And sh-h-h-h-h-h, it has such great big wide pants that they can be pressed double into two innocent-looking inverted pleats, and who is the wiser that your skirt isn't a skirt at all but trousers? Also a skirt that goes on over them, and a wee cape for shopping.

Indoor and Outdoor Gardens

By JANE LESLIE KIFT

ANSWERS TO INQUIRES.

PLEASE tell me the name of a little plant with a flower like a violet, only a trifle larger, that blooms the entire summer and is seemingly not injured by the sun. I had these in a garden about a cottage which I rented last summer in Maine. I am anxious to secure some of these plants for my home garden.

MRS. CHARLES T. Y.

The viola is likely the variety to which you refer. This is a worthwhile edging or rock-garden plant.

Can you tell me how to find the four o'clocks in any catalogue? I want to order some and do not know their real name. Also, is bonemeal a good fertilizer for peonies?

ANNA N. M.

Four o'clocks, mirabilis, or marvel of Peru is the way it is listed in most catalogues. Bonemeal is an excellent food for peonies. Apply it at this time, again in July and in early September. Keep your peonies well watered at all times.

Please tell me the name of the variety of fuchsia that is never troubled by insects. Also a petunia for indoor use only. MRS. G. G. T.

I am so sorry, but I know of no fuchsia that is never attacked by insects nor do I know of a variety of petunia grown exclusively for indoor use. Cold soapy water will usually keep a fuchsia free of insects. Spray the plants twice each week with this material. As a rule, while petunias are grown for garden decoration they can sometimes be coaxed to blossom in the house in a sunny window.

Please give me some instructions about watering a bed of perennials. This is my first attempt to grow any outdoor flowers. HELEN T. G.

If the soil is properly prepared and cultivated, water is only needed in a perennial garden during the most severe droughts. Many plants may be encouraged to bloom the second time if they are watered thoroughly. Water the plants in a leisurely fashion, giving each clump a good long drink. Merely wetting the surface soil is injurious to the plants because it coaxes the roots to the surface soil and thus gives the sun an opportunity to parch their feeding roots.

Please tell me whether nicotine is useful in killing rose lice.

MARY T. L.

Nicotine is death to rose lice or any other lice or sucking insects. Purchase it in concentrated form and then follow directions on the container. Some gardeners add soap to the mixture, as it helps the nicotine to adhere to the bodies of the insects.

Please tell me what to do for my holly fern, which is covered with parasites. M. C. D.

Better take a small brush and scrub away the insects until the fronds are free of them. Spray the plant twice a week with cold soapy water in order to prevent a return of the pests.

Please tell me when to transplant seedlings. MRS. THOMAS F. L.

Transplant your seedlings when the wee plants have developed two true leaves.

FRANCES M'DONALD

"Why Women Must Please."

DEAR Miss McDonald—Fay wishes to know why the woman should be forever worrying about how to get a husband," how to retain a man's love, and so forth; why, in fact, the reverse should not be the case. "Did anyone ever hear of any man worrying about how to hold a woman's love?"

Thus do the young rave. To be sure men do not seek help in such matters though, many the man who would give much to know in what way he failed, what thing he left undone; how he might have held what once was wholly his. But such instances are still the exception rather than the rule. In most cases the man has no reason to worry, blunderer though he is.

And so the young rave, and the wise smile. And Fay wants to know. Well, it all began a long, long time ago, we are told, when a long-haired blade named Adam awoke one morning to find himself heir to the whole works. As he had no slightest recollection of where he had been the night before, he assumed, and therefore all assume, that he hadn't been anywhere—and that was really his bona fide appearance. Details being lacking, we suppose he breakfasted and decided to see the sights, and from thence on dated his dissatisfaction with the whole scheme. There he was. And there was the whole world just waiting for him, and not a girl in sight. Of course, there are cynics who contend that it was having to get his own breakfast which made him realize that there was a flaw somewhere. But such materialists are not to be taken too seriously. Most heavy thinkers agree that what the men needed was a companion with a mentality like his own. Someone who could appreciate him! What he sought was an intelligent and appreciative audience to listen to his views. And forthwith he found this treasure added to his possessions.

And thus, from thence on, man's thought processes have worked. Possessing everything, except a combination audience and a valet, man casts his eye about among the possibilities. The possibilities may not seek him, though an up and doing possibility always knows enough to be around. But the real privilege of demanding, or as we now quaintly call it, "selecting" is a uniquely masculine prerogative. More's the pity. Woman should from efficiency's standpoint have been the one to go out hunting likely material for life partnerships.

She does hunt; but having made her selection, she must stop short and wait for the selection to select her. Which it doesn't. And that is why woman must worry and writers must tell her how to worry, and how to make man worry. It isn't anything to rail about. It just is. Man inherited the earth—and he's been a mean landlord. He can be managed. He can be seen eating meekly from the hand or brandishing his mighty arm, depending upon the sort of audience-slave he happens to belong to.

For he does belong to his audience-slave, though many a woman does not even know that much about the mysterious business known as "loving." It isn't anything to rave over. Fay, but, oh my dear, what a fascinating thing to think over! The whole wide world at his feet, my child, and yet unhappy until he belonged to somebody—somebody who probably crinkled up her eyes, and looked through her eyelashes. Poor simple man. Really we women should worry, unless we happen to have eyelashes!

Uncle Sam's Home Hints

GRUELS FOR CHILDREN.

(Children's Bureau, Department of Labor.)

Thick cereal water is often called gruel. Grains, such as pearl barley or oat flakes, in the proportion of from 2 to 4 tablespoonfuls to the pint of water, may be used instead of flour, but require much more cooking. Gruels made of grains should be strained for infants under 1 year of age. Gruel thick enough to jelly when cold is often called cereal jelly.

Farina Gruel—One tablespoonful farina, 1 tablespoonful cold water, ½ teaspoonful salt, 1 cup boiling water, 1 cup scalded milk. Mix the farina with the cold water, add to the boiling water, and boil 30 minutes. Add the scalded milk and salt.

Oatmeal Gruel—One-fourth cup coarse oatmeal, ½ teaspoonful salt, 1½ cups boiling water, hot milk. Add the oatmeal and salt to the boiling water and cook from four to five hours in a double boiler. Strain and dilute with hot milk to the desired consistency either of thin paste or jelly.

Cornmeal Gruel—One tablespoonful cornmeal, ½ tablespoonful flour, ¼ teaspoonful salt, 2 tablespoonfuls cold water, 1½ cups boiling water, milk. Make a smooth paste of the meal, flour and salt with the cold water and stir into boiling water. Cook in a double boiler 1½ hours. Dilute with hot milk to the desired consistency of thin paste or jelly.

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

HOW TO TREAT SPRAIN.

DR. J. J. MOORHEAD advises the following treatment for bad sprains:

In a bad sprain there is always a tear in a ligament with some hemorrhage into the tissues. The first step in treatment is to discover whether there is a fracture or a dislocation. If none are found, he advises the free use of warm applications. Some others apply cold and pressure to stop the oozing of blood before they make use of hot applications. He then massages the sprain with warm camphorated oil and gives it a treatment with light and heat. For this purpose he uses a 50-watt electric light, unfrosted. Next he straps the sprain.

He does not advocate immobilizing the sprained joint or not making any use of it. He says that a sprained joint will heal faster and better if it is used, or at least manipulated with reasonable discretion and judgment.

The use of heat and light from this 50-watt electric light is repeated daily as a part of the treatment, ranking only second to judicious use of the joint or manipulation of it.

His treatment of burns is as follows:

A shallow burn, one that does not cause blisters, requires no dressing other than a wet dressing. For this purpose he uses a 10 per cent solution of bicarbonate of soda. This is kept up for three days if necessary. After the third day the only treatment is expose to electric light. He exposes the burned area for one hour of each four except during the period of sleep. The ordinary electric light is used for this purpose.

If the burn is severe enough to cause blisters, he follows much the same plan. He does not think one should be in a hurry to empty the blisters. When this is finally done a fine sterile needle should be used and the dead skin should be left in place as long as possible. Deeper burns he treats with a dressing of camphorated oil and sterile olive oil, equal parts. Oils that are not sterile should not be used. He is not opposed to the tannic acid treatment which is now in vogue.

In wounds generally he is a strong advocate of thorough cleansing and rather opposed to the use of chemical antiseptics. In fact, about the only antiseptics, if they may be called such, in which he has much faith are sunlight, other light, sea water, and open air.

THREE NAMES FOR SAME THING.

D. T. S. writes: Will you tell me what causes papilloma, verruca, warts on feet? I have about eight and am having them burned off with acid, but can't seem to find out from the chiropodist whether they are curable and what causes them.

REPLY.

Three names for the same condition.

Warts on the sole of the foot can be burned off by electricity. If properly removed, the wounds heal nicely and the warts do not return.

What Today Means to You

"TAURUS."

If May 15 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 5 a. m. to 7 a. m., from noon to 1:30 p. m., and from 10:30 p. m. to 11 p. m. The danger periods are from 10 a. m. to 11 a. m., and from 6:30 p. m. to 8 p. m.

Society people and social interests will be benefited by influences on this date—a time for merriment and gayety. Psychic or occult experiences may be met with. Harmonizing and humanizing influences generally.

The child born on this May 15 will have a somewhat serious, grave and thoughtful nature, with a good deal of patience, perseverance and firmness. It will have a comprehensive mind, and a good memory, and will be fitted for a quiet position in life, but a responsible one.

You have the moral courage to stand free from the herd. Your latent ego is developed to the fullest; your personality is outstanding. You do things differently, not from affectation but because your tastes are individual. You do not ape others. When custom or tradition get in your way, you ignore them. You do that which pleases you, and that which you deem to be right. You are charitably minded toward others, and are prepared to allow for the odd and contradictory mixtures to be found in our fellow-men and women.

You do not work efficiently under orders or supervision, but if left on your own, you do things well in your own way. Your mind is receptive to new methods or devices, and you usually keep up with, or ahead of the times. You like unusual and eccentric people, regardless of their pedigree. You are an enthusiastic being, but not a demonstrative one, as far as your affections are concerned. To be taken up by you, however, is sufficient proof of your feelings, for you callously ignore everyone in whom you are not interested.

It is indicated that you have a love for money, but that you are lavish in its expenditure. You are generous to your friends, and moderately charitable.

Successful people born May 15:

1. Thomas Prince—Clergyman and author.

2. Levi Lincoln—First U. S. Attorney General and governor of Massachusetts.

3. Jacob Thompson—Secretary of Interior under Buchanan.

4. Thomas Lake Harris—Spiritualist.

5. Williamina P. M. Fleming—Astronomer.

6. Samuel Walker Beyer—Geologist.

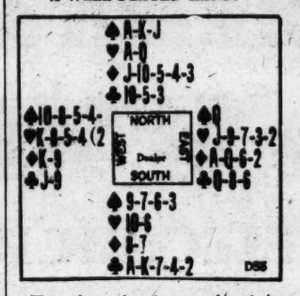
A WELL PLAYED HAND.



The above hand was played in a game of Contract. South bid one Club and North three No Trumps. What North would have done if South had passed is a bit doubtful. Had North feared to bid after a pass by South, a game opportunity would have been lost.

In Auction Bridge the bidding doubtless would have been: South one Club, West pass, North one No Trump.

In the play, North being the Declarer, East led the Trey of Hearts and North's Ace took West's King. The Declarer appreciated that an attempt to establish his Diamonds would involve the loss of three Diamond tricks; that, when the first Diamond was won the adversaries would lead another Heart and establish that suit and would run three Hearts when they won their second Diamond.

Declarer's best chance for game seemed to be to add to the four assured tricks in the North hand, the four Club tricks which probably could be won by South, and then to try for the Ninth by risking the Spade finesse. Consequently to trick 2 North led a Club, won it in dummy and returned a small Club so as to establish dummy's Clubs before the last North Club was taken out. West won the second Club and led a Heart which North won. The main point of the hand turned up here. Before dummy was put in to run his three established Clubs, North led the Ace of Spades to pick up a seventh trick and a possible singleton Queen before trying the Spade finesse. When the Queen fell and made the finesse unnecessary, game was easy for the Declarer.

Had Declarer tried the Spade finesse before playing the Spade Ace or King, the adversaries would have won seven tricks and Declarer would have gone down three. It is well to cash one high car dbefore trying a finesse, when the finesse can be postponed conveniently until the second round.

MISSES COLLETT, HICKS SURVIVE IN BRITISH GOLF

Pegler

LEXINGTON, Ky., May 14.—Against the names of some of the Kentucky thoroughbred horses, there stands a typographical symbol, something like a fireman's scaling ladder, a perpendicular stroke with a couple of little bars across it. This means that the family identity of some forbear of the horse in question was lost when Gen. Morgan and his Union army came storming through these parts in the Civil War and hopped off their own miscellaneous lop-eared service mounts to ride away aboard Kentucky thoroughbreds, suitable for racing purposes.

Such a horse and all descendants thereof, forever are barred from the English thoroughbred family on the theory that one nail-hole in a tire punctures the whole tire or that one drop of poison in a bottle of Kentucky moonshine would poison the moonshine.

This latter way of putting it strikes me as a thoughtless injustice to the more respectable poisons. From what I have been hearing about the present character of the Kentucky shine, which is made in a tin still from raw sugar and aged while the victim waits, I judge that one drop of shine in a cask of poison would poison the poison. This is strictly hearsay, however.

Steeds Returned At End of War.

After the Civil War some of the Kentucky thoroughbreds which Gen. Morgan and his boys had requisitioned were repatriated in the belief that while all the run might have been ridden out of them, their blood was still the same and that their progeny would be veritable Kentucky thoroughbreds. But, by that time, a great many of the men who could have identified their horses were gone and, while it was possible to identify some of the repatriates by name, there were some that could be identified only in a general way.

A Negro stable hand, called on to recognize a horse, would say that, yes, that certainly was Colonel So-and-So's mare, but would not rightly remember the name. So the steed in question would be awarded to the heirs of Colonel So-and-So and accepted as a Kentucky thoroughbred, but for the purposes of the official records it could only be set down as a horse that just happened. It began life over, without official ancestry, and the little typographical symbol was adopted in lieu of a pedigree.

Same Confusion Could Happen Again.

I am told that the same jumbling conceivably could happen again today at Col. Ed Bradley's farm or Mr. Joe Widener's farm or any of the big farms around here. If some mob of racketeers, such as infest the business life of the big cities and are always muscling into the racing business, should descend on one of these farms at this time, execute the owner, the superintendent, the trainers and a few stable hands, and turn the horses loose in a panicky herd on the public highway, there might be some young thoroughbreds in the lot, unfamiliar to the neighbors, which would lose their identity and thus have none to pass along to their get.

There is some feeling on the subject of this bar sinister against American horses in the English registration, the sentiment being, as I get it, that the doubt originating in the Morgan raid was only a quibble in the first place and has been minimized by careful keeping of the records since then to such a degree that nowadays it is only a stubborn prejudice.

Ancestry of Horses Concerns Kentuckians.

A horse becomes a parent in three or four years, and the Kentucky horses whose family records were lost as long ago as 1860 may boast an ancestry of many more generations than most human beings can trace for themselves. However, while some people make some boast of their personal ancestry in these parts, the greatest interest of the largest number pertains to the ancestry of horses, and it seems impossible for a blue grass Kentuckian to mention a horse named Bubbles and let the matter drop there. At the very least he would say, "Bubbles, the son of Imported Clay Pipe, out of Soapsuds, she by Hot Water, out of Soap."

Remembering that Lord Derby recently remarked that Orby, the American horse owned by Dick Croker, which won the English Derby some years back, was not a fine horse and that it was a mistake to introduce him to respectable English mares, I have brought up the subject with several horse people here in Lexington. They have not only disagreed with his lordship, pointing out that he was horse enough to beat England's best horses in England's most important English race, but have suggested that perhaps it was the least bit embarrassing to be beaten

Nats Slowed By Western Invasion

Gain But Even Break in 12 Games; Outplay Rivals, However.

Cleveland Will Face Jones Today in Final Tilt of Series.

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

WASHINGTON'S stand against Western invaders ends with this afternoon's game against the Cleveland Indians, this series being limited to two contests because of wet grounds yesterday. Nothing short of a victory will satisfy home fans, as a loss would put the Nationals third in the standing by 10 percentage points, although they and the Tribe would be virtually tied for second. "Sad Sam" Jones will be given the assignment of preventing such a calamity as this, while Peckinpaugh is expected to use either Willis Hudlin or "Wes" Ferrell.

Aside from second place being at stake this afternoon, the Johnsons need victory to give them better than an even break against the West, something which a team is expected to yet achieve on its home grounds. So far, clubs from the other sector have broken even in the twelve games played with the Nats this season, the Browns taking the only series which the natives have lost to date, the Tigers dividing four games, and three victories out of four contests having been rung up at the expense of the White Sox. Cleveland won its only 1930 start here Tuesday.

Club's Fielding Disappoints.

While the Nationals have been one of the surprise teams of the league so far, especially as regards hitting power, they have not been particularly fortunate in distributing their bingles and runs to the best advantage. They have outscored their collective Western opponents, 77 to 54; have outhit them, 129 to 116, and have undererrored them, 17 to 21.

However, as may be seen from the figures given below, there have been too many games in which there was a big surplus of hits and runs, while there have been several others in which the Nats have lacked but one or two needed hits. Although they made less miscues than their opponents, this feature of their play has been the most disappointing, as, if there was one department in which they were expected to be strong, it was in fielding, and an average of approximately 1½ errors per game is not up to par, they having played only two games of their last dozen without being charged with at least one.

Invade Philadelphia For Twin Bill.

Following this afternoon's game, Manager Johnson will take his men to Philadelphia so that they may get a good night's rest before tackling the world's champions in a doubleheader in Shibe Park tomorrow. Although the Nats already have taken as many games from the Men of Mack this season as they were able to win throughout 1929, having won the last four times the two teams met, the home boys know that tomorrow is another day and that it will take superplaying to make a good showing.

While the Nats themselves are predicting a double victory tomorrow, the wish is probably father to the thought, and most of the Washington fans figure that an even break will be about as good as can be expected. Irving Hadley is due to get one of the assignments, while Manager Johnson is considering using Adolph Liska in the other. The Nat leader believes that a low-ball pitcher, such as the subway hurler, has a good chance of stopping the heavy Mackian sluggers.

Myer's Return to Line-up Possible.

There is a possibility that Second Baseman Buddie Myer will be back in the line-up this afternoon. His sinus attack is not serious and he was re-

IN TRAINING FOR THE FIGHT OF HIS LIFE

Max Schmeling, the new German menace, the Old World's most serious challenge to American heavyweight supremacy, will tell readers of The Washington Post why and how he believes he will beat Jack Sharkey for the world's championship.

In a series of daily articles, tsarting tomorro, Schmeling will tell Washington Post readers of his training camp observations, written by himself, in the first person, in a style smacking of the devastating punches that he has tossed at all opposition in America.

No matinee idol like Carpentier, this Schmeling. No mere exhibition boxer, like many invading Englishmen, or good in spots, like Firpo, but a young, smart, virile gure of the prize ring, who has rightfully earned the soubriquet of the "German Dempsey." The most serious of the foreign threats.

In The Post tomorrow morning, Schmeling's first article.

G. U. DEFEATS GUILFORD, 8 TO 3

Pound Zachary for 4 Runs in Fourth to Wipe Out Lead.

By JACK ESPEY.

CHARLES ZACHARY, 20-year-old Guilford College junior, and a cousin of old Tom Zachary of major league fame, faced Georgetown's heavy hitters from the pitcher's box at Washington Barracks yesterday. Only for three innings did Charles uphold the family's pitching reputation, for, starting in the fourth, his curves and fast ones were driven all over the lot, the result being Georgetown's nineteenth victory in 22 games, by a score of 8 to 3.

It was the Hilltoppers final home game of the season.

Young Zachary, who flings in the orthodox style in contrast to his illustrious relative who carried the Guilford banner back in 1915, not only muffled the Georgetown guns in the first three frames, but gave his team a two-run lead with a pair of singles which in each instance scored Bunn.

Throughout these innings he had been shooting the ball over the center of the plate or "down the alley" as the boys say. It was a good exhibition of control, but too good for Zachary's best interests. Finally, with the appearance of Bob Wholey at the plate in the fourth, the Hilltoppers began banging the ball back at the Quaker hurler as fast as he delivered it to them.

Wholey Cracks Out Home Run.

Wholey, who was to be the leading hitter of the game, followed Johnny Dunn, who had scratched a single to second base, and walloped the ball far and high into left field for a home run, reaching home well ahead of the return throw.

Zachary recovered temporarily to strike out Johnny Scalzi, but Walter Morris lashed into him for a line single to center, while Jack Tierney pounded out another circuit blow to right field.

With these runs supplying him with a lead of 4-2, Ed Leary, making his pitching debut for Georgetown, bore down to keep the Quakers subdued. Although Bunn found him for a homer in the seventh, he acquitted himself well, and Coach Red Smith excused him at the start of the eighth, Hal Poole pitching the rest of the route.

Georgetown's attack on Zachary did not stop with the fourth-round explosion, the Hilltoppers producing a run in the sixth when Wholey scored on the front end of a double steal with Morris, and counting three more in the eighth when Morris tripled behind Scalzi, who had singled, and Donovan, in place of Tierney, connected for a homer to right field.

First Baseman Chisholm and Center Fielder Shore, of Guilford, contributed the fielding features, the first named racing into right field to snare a looper that appeared good for a single, and Shore taking a drive off his shoe tops.

Chevy Chase Medal Title Shared

Hoblitzell, Canadian, Ties Moore, Beaver Dam, With 73.

Cards of 81 Qualify for Match Play in First Sixteen.

By HENRY LITCHFIELD WEST.

THROUGHOUT a day marked by alternating sunshine and showers and culminating in a drenching rain storm at 6 o'clock when there will still be between 40 and 50 players out on the course, the qualifying round of the Chevy Chase Club invitation golf tournament was played yesterday.

The struggle for the low medal resulted in a tie between Fred. Hoblitzel, Toronto, Canada, and W. Bion Moore, champion of the Beaver Dam Club, with scores of 36—37—73 and 39—34—73, respectively. Both played early rounds and were fortunate enough to escape the driving rain. They led the field by two strokes, Harry G. Pitt, Manor, following with a card of 38—37—75.

Each of the two leaders were aided by two birdies apiece, Hoblitzel starting with a birdie 3 on the first hole and scoring another birdie 3 on the fifth hole, while Moore's birdies were obtained on the fifth and the thirteenth holes. Both scores of 73, four over par, were as follows:

Out—
Hoblitzel . .3 4 4 3 3 5 5 5 4—36
Moore . . . .6 4 5 3 3 5 4 5 4—39
In—
Hoblitzel . .4 5 5 3 4 4 4 4 4—37—73
Moore . . . .3 4 4 2 4 4 5 4 4—34—73

When all the scores had been turned in, and the qualifying round became rather disorganized toward its finale by the fact that an effort was made to qualify nearly 240 players in one day and by the downpour which came late in the afternoon, the board showed 21 players with cards of 81 and under.

Davidson, Nicholson Win in Draw.

This necessitated a draw and R. P. Davidson, Chevy Chase, and Henry D. Nicholson, Washington, landed in the first sixteen, while C. B. Asher, Columbia; P. W. Calfee, Washington; Luther Florine, Bannockburn; M. Parker Nolan, Congressional, and W. C. Baty, Army, Navy and Marine Corps, were relegated to the second flight.

Page Hufty, of the Congressional Club, had a most unfortunate experience, disqualifying himself on the eighth hole by playing two shots with the wrong ball. On this hole Gordon McCarter, of Toronto, who was playing with Hugh Saum, Columbia, lost his ball in the rough after his drive, and the pair motioned to Hufty and his partner to come through. After Hufty had played his second shot and in fact was on the green Saum discovered that his ball, a green dot, had been played by Hufty, who was using a red dot, but it was then too late for Hufty to rectify his error. Hufty's elimination of himself was greatly regretted by the golf committee, but under the rules there was no redress for the player, as every contestant is supposed to identify his own ball throughout the round.

Sweepstakes for Wet Group.

As there were exactly 64 cards of 87 and under no one lost out in the draw. In view of the unexpected and disastrous interference of the storm with the late players in the qualifying round, the golf committee met and decided to allow all contestants who were officially scheduled to start on and after 1:58 o'clock yesterday afternoon and who were unable to continue on account of the rain, to participate this afternoon in a sweepstakes, starting at 3:20 o'clock, with a set of matched wooden clubs for low gross and golf shoes and a golf umbrella for the two low net prizes. Among those who were compelled to quit yesterday was John F. Brawner (Columbia), who, with four three-putt greens was out in 39 and might easily have qualified in the first sixteen, but almost swam into the caddy house from the ninth green. Paul Y. Anderson (Columbia) made a suggestion when he remarked to the golf committee that the prizes for the drowned-out players who compete this afternoon should be a canoe, a raincoat and a bathing suit.

Alibis of Defeated Are Numerous.

The alibis of the players who failed to win the medal were numerous. Pitt, for instance, would have had a 72 if he had finished the last four holes in par, but took three 5s. Stevinson, who was out in 39, wrecked his chances when he took 5 on the short par 3 tenth hole, playing his tee shot into a trap and then failing to get out with his second. There were also many curious haps and mishaps, particularly the experience of Ray Farrell (Manor), who, on the fifth hole, drove into a trap, played his second into another trap, his third into still another trap and then exploded his ball out of the sand into the cup. His card of 87 was just enough to land him in the fourth sixteen.

As might have been expected when it became known that even comparatively high scores would not qualify, a multitude of withdrawals occurred. The pairings and times of play this morning are as follows:

FIRST SIXTEEN.

10, Alex Cole, 79, Philadelphia Country Club, vs. Albert R. Mackenzie, 78, Columbia; 10:05, C. Ashmead Fuller, 77, Chevy Chase, vs. Harry G. Pitt, 75, Manor; 10:10, Hugh P. Reid, 79, Toronto, vs. A. Bion Moore, 73, Beaver Dam, vs. R. P. Davidson, 81, Chevy Chase; 10:30, Everett Eynon, 78, Columbia, vs. Donald Parsons, 77, Chevy Chase; 10:35, J. John Hirmenz, 77, Lancaster, Pa., vs. H. D. Nicholson, 81, Washington.

8 2-Ball Foursomes Open Play; Singles Listed Tomorrow.

SANDWICH, England, May 14 (A. P.).—Sixteen crack amateur golfers of the United States and Great Britain go out early tomorrow morning to start the biennial competition for the Walker Cup, emblematic of international team supremacy.

Tomorrow will be devoted to the foursomes in which two on each side play alternate strokes with the same ball, the matches being decided over 36 holes and each counting 1 point. Eight single matches Friday, also at 36 holes, will conclude the competition.

The Americans are hoping for their sixth straight victory in the team series. Great Britain never has beaten the United States in Walker Cup competition, inaugurated in 1922, but the Britons' chances this year are considered much brighter than they were, for instance, in 1928, when the competition last was played.

Pairings for the foursomes tomorrow were announced tonight and call for play as follows:

George Von Elm and George Voigt against Cyril J. H. Tolley and Roger Wethered.

Robert T. Jones, jr., and Dr. O. F. Willing against Rex Hartley and T. A. Torrance.

Roland Mackenzie and Donald K. Moe against Sir Ernest Holderness and J. A. Stout.

Harrison R. Johnston and Francis Ouimet against William Campbell and John Nelson Smith.

The players from the United States, with the exception of Voigt, took a golf holiday this morning and drove to Canterbury to see the cathedral. Voigt remained at Sandwich to practice.

This afternoon, however, Capt. Bobby Jones and his players were on the course playing foursomes. Jones and Willing lost by a hole to Von Elm and Voigt, the winning combination having a score of 74.

Some great golf was exhibited on the first nine holes, each pair reaching the turn in 36 strokes. All four were faulty in their long game, but relied on good pitching and accurate play on the greens.

Moe and Mackenzie Beat Veterans.

Jones made only two slips in the round, topping a second shot at the fourteenth into the "Suez Canal" and getting off the line with a tricky chip at the next hole.

In the other match, Moe and Mackenzie defeated Ouimet and Johnston in a close battle. Although they played good golf, this quartet did not take the game very seriously and several times tried their shots over.

There was some trepidation in British circles today when it was learned that Hartley, the star youngster of the team, had cut his left hand with the broken stem of a wine glass, but apparently it will not interfere with his grip, and he will play tomorrow.

Joe Judge Testimonial Committee in Meeting

The committee conducting the Joe Judge day testimonial, scheduled for June 28 at Griffith Stadium, will meet at 1 p. m. today in the Hotel Occidental to hear reports and complete plans.

The goal of the committee, which is headed by Jim McNamara, director of the athletics of the Jewish Community Center, is a substantial purse of gold which will be presented the Washington Nationals' veteran first baseman on behalf of local fans in appreciation of his services here over a stretch of fifteen years.

McNamara last night received a telegram from former Mayor Wiseman, of Lewiston, Me., the home town of Mrs. Judge, in which it was stated that the citizens of that place are solidly behind the testimonial plans.

Persons wishing to contribute to the purse are requested to send their donations to Robert V. Fleming, treasurer of the committee, at the Riggs National Bank.

Luque Beats Old Mates, Robins Winning, 7 to 4

Cincinnati, May 14 (A.P.).—Adolfo Luque, the veteran Cuban who pitched for Cincinnati for fourteen seasons, went against his old mates today and hurled the Brooklyn Robins into third place in the National League standing with a 7 to 4 victory over the Reds.

Luque pitched a good game, allowing the Reds only nine hits and keeping them well scattered except in the first inning. He received a large amount of assistance from Glenn Wright, who hit a home run, two triples and a single in four times at bat, scored two runs and drove in another.

Wright's homer tied the score at 3-3 after the Reds had bunched four hits in the opening frame for two runs. In the sixth Johnny Frederick drove the ball into the right field bleachers with two on base to give the Robins a safe lead. Bob Meusel outdid the others in hard hitting in the same inning with a homer that did not stop until it struck a wall on the far side of York street beyond the left field wall.

Eppa Rixey started the game for the Reds, but was taken out after he had allowed thirteen hits in six innings. Ray Kolp finished.

Cards Beat Giants, 7-3, To Win 8th Straight

St. Louis, Mo., May 14 (A.P.).—The Cards scored their eighth consecutive victory today and climbed into the first division of the National League as they defeated the Giants 7-3 in the second game of their series.

Led by Frank Frisch, the Cardinals staged a six-run rally against Fred Fitzsimmons in the fourth inning, while Herman Bell did a great job as relief pitcher to hold the lead. An error by Eddie Marshall started the rally and doubles by Douthit and Adams and a home run by Frisch followed to complete it.

Grabowski started for the Cardinals, but was taken out for a pinch hitter in the fourth after giving three hits and as many runs. Bell finished, holding the Giants to one hit in five innings, and was credited with his first victory of the season. Terry's double with the bases full in the third saved the Giants from a shutout.

5 of American Contingent Defeated

Enid Wilson, Winner Over Miss Orcutt, Plays Miss Hicks.

Glenna Eliminates British Captain on 23d Hole.

FORMBY, England, May 14 (A. P.).—Glenna Collett and Helen Hicks today fought their way to the quarter-finals of the British Women's Golf Championship, while five other American players who started the day's play were eliminated.

Both Miss Collett and Miss Hicks had to play courageous golf to remain in the competition. Molly Gourlay forced the American champion to the twenty-first hole before she surrendered in the fourth round, and the hard-hitting "Billy" Hicks needed nineteen holes to dispose of Mrs. Percy Garon in the same round.

Safely past the morning round, their afternoon tasks proved easier, Miss Hicks defeating her fellow countrywoman, Mrs. Leo Federman, while Miss Collett was disposing of Beryle Drown, a Formby girl.

Miss Orcutt Beaten in Fifth Round.

Maureen Orcutt reached the fifth round without incident, but there encountered Enid Wilson, the golfing giantess of Nottingham, and in the face of a shower of fours from her opponent, was eliminated.

Virginia Van Wie, Edith Quier and Mrs. Stewart Hanley were eliminated in the fourth round, leaving the United States without representation in the lower bracket of the draw.

Miss Wilson will be Miss Hicks' opponent tomorrow morning and if the American wins and Miss Collett stops Hilda Cameron, her Scotch rival, the stage will be set for another All-American match in the afternoon.

The last eight, who will engage in the battle of youth tomorrow, is made up of two Americans, two Scots, three English and an Irish girl.

The 21-hole battle between Miss Collett and Miss Gourlay dwarfed today's play with its intensity. It was the English girl's birthday and she received scores of presents, but she said tonight the gift she wanted most was denied her, although Miss Collett gallantly offered to present it several times.

Sportsmanship Features Match.

The old Scottish proverb that "two up and five to play doesn't win a golf match" almost came true for the American champion. They reached the ninth almost flawlessly, although Miss Collett always seemed to have more in reserve than her opponent.

The match was featured by the finest sportsmanship both by players and the gallery of nearly 5,000, which swept over the Formby fairways and engulfed the American when she won, rendering rescue difficult by her companions. The authorities gave Miss Collett an extra hour of rest before she was called out to play her afternoon match.

Miss Gourlay started nervously, although her little bronze rabbit mascot, which had been lost all week, was found just before play started. The English player missed a short putt at the first hole and Miss Collett, with a sporting gesture, conceded her one at the second that might easily have been missed. Molly steadied then and holed a 15-foot putt at the third.

Miss Gourlay had a great chance to win and go 1 up at the seventeenth

GALLANT FOX WORKS FAST IN MUD, ELATING SANDE

Derby Choice Gains More Followers

Opinion Grows That Belair Colt Outclasses Field.

Buckeye Poet's Trial Makes Bradley's Hand Stronger.

By J. B. SNODGRASS.
(Staff Correspondent of The Post.)

CHURCHILL DOWNS RACE TRACK, Ky., May 14.—The workout in the mud this morning of the Belair Stud's Gallant Fox, Derby favorite, dispelled whatever anxiety his followers may have had of his qualifications for a heavy track.

Under stout restraint all the way, the Preakness and Wood Memorial winner demonstrated to the satisfaction of the early watchers that mud had no terrors for him, although no attempt was made for time, and it was more of an exercise than a workout.

The horse ran a mile and a furlong in 2:04 with Sande up, and the jockey who rode him in his previous races, and who will ride him in the Derby, was well pleased with his showing. Sande regarded the condition of the track Saturday as immaterial. Gallant Fox will continue as the strong favorite, and it is the general opinion that he outclasses his field. There were several prominent Derby candidates on the track before and after Gallant Fox.

Gone Away Impressive In Workout.

Gallant Fox wore blinkers, and after going a mile and a furlong went on to a mile and a quarter in 2:19 galloping. William Ziegler, jr.'s, Gone Away worked impressively, going with blinkers, and was timed in 2:01 for a mile and a furlong.

Hot Foot went a mile and a furlong in 2 minutes flat, but was driving, and did not gain any prestige, although making the fastest time of the morning. He appeared about done after the gallop.

E. R. Bradley's Buckeye Poet went the Derby route, a mile and a quarter, in 2:14, and it was an impressive move, and strengthens the Bradley entry on top of the good showing of Breezing Through yesterday. Crack Brigade, Sydney and Gallant Knight worked well at short distances and Sydney went the Derby route in 2:16.

But the impression is growing rapidly that Gallant Fox will perform the feat of Sir Barton by winning both the Preakness and the Derby, and that he will not be hard pressed in doing it. He will be one of the heaviest favorites in several years.

The weather cleared somewhat today, with much cooler temperature, but if the track should be heavy on Saturday, it appears that it will not be of serious consequence to any of the field, as most of the entries can take care of themselves in any going.

Two Camps of Followers Again Arise.

There always arises in racing, where one horse appears to stand out over the others, two camps—one class of followers having their loyalty increased by the victories of their choice and the other camp having a desire to knock the favorite down. This was the case when Reigh Count came to the Derby a favorite largely on his record as a 2-year-old. Gallant Fox brings a record of more recent victories as a 3-year-old, having done all that could be asked of him, having gathered in a Preakness and a Wood Memorial in his two starts, and come on to Kentucky sound and ready for the Derby fray, he appears to surpass the Western horses as decidedly as he did the Eastern horses.

There are those who believe that Tannery is the best Gallant Fox will have to whip. This is very doubtful. The showing made by E. R. Bradley's pair in workouts—Breezing Thru and Buckeye Poet—does not entitle them to first consideration, but it may give them the honor of being contenders. Before they can be accepted as dangerous to the favorite, let either come through with a victory like the Preakness behind him. It would be wild guessing to insist that the Bradley colts, showing little as 2-year-olds, and on the flimsy backing of impressive workouts, should be taken in preference to a horse that has shown in competition under colors what he could do. The mud—if it should be muddy Saturday—might have cast a doubt on Gallant Fox until this morning, when he removed that bugbear.

POTOMACS CHANGE NAME.

The Potomac A. C. will take the name of the Nolan Seniors this year, being backed by the Nolan Motor Co. Manager Irving has requested that all uniforms be brought to the meeting tonight in order that the necessary change may be made in the name.

SCOTLAND was sent into contention soon after start, slipped through on inside to the stretch turn where, forced to outside, gradually got to the front, but just lasted long enough. VALDOSTA, Late, saved ground wherever possible, responded gamely on the inside and would have won in a few more strides. BLACK FLIER, away well and racing forwardly throughout, only faltered final hundred yards. RELLINE showed good early speed and when seemingly tiring, came again and held on well.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—ZOOM, $4.34, $3.44, $2.66; HIGH STORM, $8.90, $4.90; GOVERNOR PRATT, $4.54.

ZOOM worked way up swiftly after first three-eighths and, taken to outside through stretch, gradually disposed of leaders, but was doing best to hold HIGH STORM safe at the end. Latter raced sluggishly first half mile, came with a rush last furlong and was closing rapidly on winner near the end. GOVERNOR PRATT was far back to the main stretch and, forced slightly wide, closed resolutely when clear. TOMMY TICKLE loomed up dangerously midway of the stretch, then weakened as if trifle short. SKY HIGH was pinched back first part of it while racing on inside.

DIXIE LAD, under stout restraint until reaching far turn, came around leaders when called upon on extreme outside and, getting on even terms with BILLY CHAMP, a sixteenth out, got up in final strides to outfinish latter. BILLY CHAMP held the lead under steadying restraint, was taken wide in best footing entering stretch and only faltered final strides. SOUTHLAND PAL raced strong when straightened in stretch. ALCIABIADES raced close behind the pace until reaching stretch turn and, moving up on outside steadily, assumed the lead and drew out decisively last sixteenth. HONEY LOCUST, slow to start and saving ground to stretch, was taken in firmest footing, closed stoutly to outgame UNDER THE ROSE. Latter set the pace most of the trip under pressure, but tired badly when the final test came. RICH WIDOW improved position steadily and, although closing stoutly, could not improve position.

SIXTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Fillies. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:23. Off at 4:25. LADY WITT, forced to front on first turn, withstood repeated challenges from UPSEDAISY while racing on inside and, continuing courageously, held POMPON safe at end. Latter, restrained first half mile, moved up fast after reaching stretch and, continuing strongly, was rapidly getting to the wire winner. MISS LEE had usual early speed and, holding usual, came again to regain third position from UPSEDAISY. Latter, much used up forcing the pace and losing ground on outside, weakened badly last sixteenth. DASHAWAY had no excuses.

AIMEE GOLDSMITH, away well and at home in the going, held HELENE M. safe in the early stages and, responding gamely after reaching stretch, began drawing in the stretch turn where, forced to outside, gradually got to the front, but just lasted long enough. VALDOSTA, Late, saved ground wherever possible, responded gamely on the inside and would have won in a few more strides. BLACK FLIER, away well and racing forwardly throughout, only faltered final hundred yards. RELLINE showed good early speed and when seemingly tiring, came again and held on well.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—ZOOM, $4.34, $3.44, $2.66; HIGH STORM, $8.90, $4.90; GOVERNOR PRATT, $4.54.

ZOOM worked way up swiftly after first three-eighths and, taken to outside through stretch, gradually disposed of leaders, but was doing best to hold HIGH STORM safe at the end. VIRGINIA CADETS AGAIN DEFEAT MARYLAND, 10 TO 3

Nolle Pitches V. M. I. to Victory

Cadets Gain an Early Lead and Play Errorless Baseball.

Chalmers Is Bright Spot in Weak Old Line Defense.

BUNCHING hits and taking full advantage of wobbly University of Maryland fielding, Virginia Military Institute's Nine handily defeated the Old Liners, 10 to 3, yesterday at College Park. It was the second setback the Cadets have handed Maryland on the diamond this season.

The game was the last for the Old Liners in the Tri-State League of the Southern Conference, in which they have won six and lost five.

Most of the scoring yesterday was confined to the first three innings, during which the Cadets gained an 8-2 lead. They added another run each in the sixth and seventh inning. Maryland scored two of its runs in the first inning and the other in the seventh.

Noble Has Situation Well in Hand.

Noble, who held the mound throughout for V. M. I., was never in much difficulty and was given errorless support, two snappy double plays, both from Biggs to Grow to Jacobie, being turned in by the invaders. Grow and Biggs were the brightest performers on defense for the Cadets, the former at second base handling nine chances cleanly, and the latter at shortstop taking care of seven without a slip-up.

Maryland used two pitchers, Milburn and Phipps. Both pitched creditably but were handicapped by poor support, particularly Milburn.

Work of Shorty Chalmers at shortstop was the high spot from the Maryland viewpoint. He gobbled up nine chances in faultless style, several of them being difficult.

Conditions Favor New Mark In 15-Mile Title Run Here

Course for A. A. U. Championship Race Here on June 7 Practically Level; Whitey Michelsen Holds Present Record.

CONDITIONS favoring the prospects of a new record will exist in the fifteen-mile run for the national amateur championship to be held here on June 7 under auspices of the District of Columbia Association, A. A. U., in cooperation with the Welfare and Recreational Association.

According to Winfree Johnson, official of both associations, who is actively behind the staging of the event, the entire course of the race will be virtually level, while at several points there are long straightaways which will afford the contestants the chance of speeding their pace.

Provided the field of contestants includes the leading distance runners in amateur ranks, says Johnson, the record of 1 hour 23 minutes 44 4-5 seconds should be perilously close to toppling. The record was set by Albert "Whitey" Michelsen in 1925.

The course lies in that section bounded by the Ellipse on the north, Seventeenth street on the west, the Speedway on the south and Fourteenth street on the east. The evenness of the surface is broken in about three places but in none is there an incline of troublesome proportions.

D. C. COLLEGE ATHLETES IN 3 SPORTS

Baseball and Tennis Here Today; G. U. Golfers in N. Y.

LOCAL college athletes will participate in three contests today, weather conditions permitting. Two will be staged here, Georgetown meeting Richmond in tennis at Columbia Country Club and Maryland opposing Washington College in baseball at College Park, while at Rye, N. Y., Georgetown's Golf Team will engage Dartmouth. The home battles are scheduled to get under way at 3 p. m.

In four matches thus far, Georgetown's Tennis Team has only broken even despite the presence of its strongest array in years. The Hilltop netmen, among whom is Gregory Mangin, ranking tenth nationally, have bowed to Duke and Penn State, while winning from Johns Hopkins and George Washington.

Maryland Nine Plays Washington College.

Maryland hopes to return to the win column in baseball in its engagement with Washington College, and if the Terrapin Nine plays up to its early season standard it should capture the decision.

Georgetown's golfers, minus their star, Maurice McCarthy, one of the Nation's best amateurs, are seeking their second triumph in the Eastern Intercollegiate Golf League in the match with Dartmouth. They have been defeated by Penn, Princeton and Harvard, and have won over Holy Cross in four matches to date. Tomorrow they meet Brown and on Saturday are scheduled to encounter Williams and Yale in the concluding matches of the season. Thus, with four battles ahead of them, they face a chance to bring their mark for the campaign up to .500.

CANADA AND U. S. START CUP PLAY

Lott and Van Ryn in Singles at Philadelphia Today.

PHILADELPHIA, May 14 (A.P.).—Rain today drove the American and Canadian Davis Cup Teams from the tennis courts, and they put in the afternoon hours playing golf.

Both teams had planned final workouts today for the opening of the cup matches on the courts of the Philadelphia Country Club tomorrow.

John Van Ryn, East Orange, N. J., will oppose Dr. Jack Wright, Canada, in the opening singles match tomorrow at 1:30 p. m. (Eastern standard time), and immediately upon its completion George M. Lott, jr., Chicago, will meet Marcel Rainville, Canada.

The doubles will be played on Friday, and on Saturday Lott will play Dr. Wright and Van Ryn will oppose Rainville. Selection of the doubles teams will not be announced until tomorrow. The team which wins the majority of the five matches will qualify to meet Mexico at Chevy Chase, Washington, D. C., next week, and this match will conclude the play in the American zone.

Capt. Dixon Chooses Players.

Prior to today's drawing for the order of play here, Capt. Fitz Eugene Dixon, of the American Team, chose Lott and Van Ryn as his singles players, and Capt. Wright, of the Canadians, named himself and Rainville.

Capt. Dixon gave close attention to his selections before announcing his line-up, and during the last few days of practice tilts made a close study of the performances of Van Ryn, Lott, Wilmer Allison, John Doeg and Berkley Bell.

The practices of the Canadians were under the watchful eye of Capt. Wright and Garnett H. Meldrum, president of the Canadian Lawn Tennis Association.

Alexandria High Wins As Triple Play Features

Special to The Washington Post.

Alexandria, Va., May 14.—A triple play in the eighth inning by the Alexandria High School Baseball Team featured the victory of that nine's easy 10-2 victory over the Woodward School, of Washington, D. C., here yesterday.

With men on first and second, a line drive was hit to Martin in deep center field. After the ball was caught, after a beautiful run, both runners tried to advance. Martin whipped the ball to Schreiner at second, who caught the runner coming in, who in turn threw to Left Fielder Cliffe, who had run in to cover third, and the third man was caught by inches.

Election of Captains Abolished at W. & L.

Special to The Washington Post.

Lexington, Va., May 14.—Athletic team captains are a thing of the past at Washington and Lee University. Today the Ring-Tum-Phi student newspaper of the university came out with the announcement that captains already elected for next year will serve, but that in the future there will be no team leaders elected before the season begins.

The athletic council of the university, after a long session in which the matter was discussed from all angles, voted to allow the election of an honorary captain at the end of each sport season. Captains for individual games will be appointed by each just before the game begins.

For years captains of the Generals' sport teams have been chosen on merit alone, but this year charges that Greek letter society cliques have dabbled in athletic elections caused the athletic council to follow the example of having no elected captains set by many American colleges and universities.

White, William and Mary, Hurls No-Hit, No-Run Game

Freshman Star Near Perfect Game as Indian Cubs Defeat Navy Plebes, 5-0; One Walk, Two Errors Allow Players to Reach 1st.

Special to The Washington Post.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., May 14.—Carter White, of Fork Union, Va., pitcher for the William and Mary Freshmen Nine, cut himself a niche in the Hall of Fame of his institution when he hurled a no-hit, no-run victory over what heretofore has proved a brilliant Naval Academy Plebe Team. The score was 5 to 0.

White, a southpaw with perfect control and a great fast ball which was abetted by a dark day, fanned fourteen Navy yearlings and issued but one base on balls. Three runners got as far as second, as a result of a pass and two errors, but none got as far as third. White was in trouble in one inning, the third, when mates committed their only two boots.

Plebes Go Down Swinging.

Navy's team went down fighting, most of the strikeouts registered by the portsider being the result of missed third swings, but one batter taking the third strike. Campbell, on the hill for the Middies, also twirled a nice game and was given good support at times, especially by Paul Cronin, at second, who made some of the most brilliant plays ever witnessed here.

William and Mary scored what proved to be the winning run in the initial frame, on Lacroix single after Sorrel had reached first on a boot and had been advanced on Harkins' sacrifice. Green's triple resulted in a second tally in the second, and Christen's three-base smash another in the third. White aided his own cause with a three bagger in the seventh. The final run was a gift as a result of two of the Plebes' four errors. The game was fastly played, lasting an hour and 45 minutes.

For Your Daughter

Daughter of Mrs. Victor H. Call
Route #4, Box 76, San Antonio, Texas

"My daughter Kathleen is fifteen years old. For the past three years she suffered with pains as many young girls do. One day we saw an advertisement about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the San Antonio Evening News. She has been taking it regularly and is now completely relieved and able to attend school every day. You may use this letter because another woman's letter first told us about your medicine."—Mrs. Victor H. Call.

Daughter of Mrs. Floyd Butcher

"My thirteen-year-old daughter Maxine was troubled with backache and pain when she came into womanhood. I knew Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound would help her because I used to take it myself at her age. Now she does not have to stay home from school, and her color is good, she eats well and does not complain of being tired. We are recommending the Vegetable Compound to other school girls who need it."—Mrs. Floyd Butcher.

RAILS AND UTILITIES LEAD RISE IN STOCKS

Rumors of Power Mergers Stimulate Advances in Several Shares.

TOBACCOS, COPPERS OFF

New York, May 14 (A.P.).—The bulls nailed their colors to the utilities and rails today and marched quietly through a stock market session that offered comparatively minor obstacles to progress toward higher ground.

There was little or no effort to overextend the gains, however, and speculators for the rise were satisfied with one to three point mark-ups in the leading shares. Volume of trading expanded considerably over yesterday's, exceeding 3,000,000 shares, but the public's participation in the market remained negligible.

The price structure appeared substantially firmer, but some of the foundation stones on which any market must rest displayed signs of further sagging. Steel trade reviews pointed to price weakness, intermittent specifications, fluctuating mill operations and dull buying. Iron Age called attention to slight gains in automobile releases, in fabricated structural steel awards, in demand for pipe and in large construction projects, but also reminded that railroad equipment orders were light, that tinplate output had declined to a 75 per cent rate and that production of farm implements was showing signs of tapering. Iron Trade Review reported that prices on steel plates and shapes in the Pittsburgh district were the lowest since 1915.

Grain Quotations Decline.

Grain quotations again declined, wheat dipping from ½ to ⅞ of a cent and corn closing steady to ¾ lower. Cotton was off 17 to 25 points at the finish. Sugar and coffee were fairly steady.

A small increase in car loadings and a petroleum production statement showing virtually no change were favorably regarded, while a cut in short-term time money reflected the current easiness of the credit position. The market for investment bonds was firm but dull.

Rail stocks, pushed to the front during the early trading, responded smartly, but the move was taken more as an indication of the general dullness of the list than of especially favorable news concerning the carriers, whose April earnings statements are expected soon. The rally ran itself out by midafternoon, but numerous stocks in the group, including Southern Railway, Erie, Atchison, Missouri Pacific and Canadian Pacific made net gains of 2 to 3. Texas Pacific rose 6.

Operations in the utilities met with about the same success. The current cheapness of money, it was pointed out, is favorable to the expensions plans of the light and power companies, and there were also revived reports of merger negotiations, especially in the Eastern natural gas territory. Advances of 2 to 3 points were made by such stocks as Public Service of New Jersey, Standard Gas, Consolidated Gas, Pacific Lighting, Pacific Gas, American Water Works, American & Foreign Power, Southern California Edison, and North American. United Corporation also was in demand.

Communication Stocks Rise.

Communication stocks, especially American Telephone and Western Union, responded with fair gains. Columbia Gas & Electric was an exception to the general trend, selling off 1½ net on profit taking from yesterday's advance.

Steel stocks disregarded the news from their industry. Vanadium was marked up 10 points. Michigan Steel forged ahead to a new high, but reacted, while Midland Steel Products, Republic and Gulf States and Ludlum rallied 2 to 4. United States Steel sold as high as 175⅜, about 10 points above its year's low, established last week, and closed at 174¾, up 1⅞.

Points of weakness included the American Tobacco issues, off about 8 points each on realizing. The coppers were heavy on lighter purchases of the metal, although the president of Cerro de Pasco said some companies were refusing to sell all that could be disposed of at current prices.

International Salt dropped 16 points on early profit taking but closed only 4½ points lower.

Most of the leading foreign currencies were firm. The rate on Spain hirdened, but the Dutch guilder eased.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, May 14 (A.P.).—Notwithstanding announcement that world available supplies of wheat have decreased 13,397,000 bushels in the last week, wheat values today showed renewed downward trend. Low-priced offerings of Canadian wheat abroad, together with considerable selling here on the part of Eastern holders of future delivery contracts were largely responsible. Another notable bearish influence was uncertainty prevalent as to what extent Government-sponsored agencies would support prices for new-crop deliveries.

Closing quotations on wheat were unsettled, ⅜ cent to 1⅛ cents a bushel below yesterday's finish. Corn closed unchanged to ⅞@⅞ cent down, oats ½@¾ cent off, and provisions unchanged to a setback of 5 cents.

Throughout the day, wheat traders here kept an uneasy eye on Winnipeg dispatches, assertions being current that the Canadian growers' pool was selling wheat for export at flat prices which competitors were inable to meet. New York messages were also circulated saying that export business appeared to be almost nil, and it wasn't until dealings were the day here were bout over that any special improvement was generally known. Late estimates, however, put the total purchases from Manada and the United States today for overseas at 700,000 to 800,000 bushels. Meanwhile, Oklahoma reports indicated better crop prospects for that State, with a promise now of Oklahoma yield of 40,000,00 bushels.

On he other hand, about the only stimuuli today for friends of higher prices on wheat came from reports by a leading crop exert that there is immediate need of rain in some parts of Kansas, especially Morin and Stevens Counties, where the outlook at present was given as less than 5 bushes an acre. The same authority also asorted that more rain is generally required in ten days or two weeks, and a great dal during the next three or four weeks. From other sources, too, reports were at hand that in at least some parts of Kansas, cool, favorable weather has not brought about the crop improvement which could odinarily be expected, and that many sowers are now looking for much below normal yields, a majority of samples showing an average of 2-inch heads that will not lengthen.

Corn and oats went lower with wheat. Canadia points advised that Argentine corn is being offered at much below a parity wih corn from the United States.

Provisons held relatively steady, owing to an ustward trend of hog values.

CONVERTIBLES RISE IN BOND TURNOVER

American Telephone 4½s, With 2½-Point Gain, Leads Movement.

FOREIGN ISSUES STEADY

New York, May 15 (A.P.).—Stock-privilege issues felt the buoyant effects of a rising stock market today and stole the spotlight from investment issues.

The demand for convertibles was the heaviest in some time. American Telephone 4½s led the movement, both in volume and advance, finishing 2½ points higher. Share-feature rails participated in the rise. In contrast to the accelerated movement of convertibles was the rather quiet trading in investment issues, which moved with some uncertainty in the absence of extensive support. Buying was on a broadened scale, however, with continued favorable conditions in the money market, and the trend was unchanged. The large turnover in convertible issues helped expand the volume to the highest point of the week, although the day's sales were still below normal.

The turnover in American Telephone 4½s was extensive in view of the rapidity with which the bonds have been surrendered for conversion. The corporation announced today that only one-third of the total issue of $219,000,000 remained outstanding. Philadelphia Coal & Iron 6s equaled the year's high but sagged slightly to gain one point net.

Improvement Program Planned.

The bond has shown strength in the past few weeks. The company has embarked upon an extensive improvement program involving several millions and is expected to strengthen the earnings of the stock for which the bonds are exchangeable. The conversion privilege extends to March 1, 1939.

Foreign issues were firm and the widest interest centered in Japanese bonds and South American governments. Japan 6½s and the new 5½s gained fractionally. Brazil 6½s moved up a point or more, and Chilean and Argentine bonds tended upward: European governments were steady and quiet, with French 7½s the most active and higher.

The heavy movement in rail convertibles detracted from the legal issues and they moved narrowly, with many turning fractionally downward. Rock Island 4s, Baltimore & Ohio ref. 5s, Chesapeake & Ohio 4½s, Erie 5s and Missouri Pacific lost some ground. Southern Pacific 4½s with warrants, Erie General 4s, and Pennsylvania 4½s were steady.

American Telephone Loses.

North American Edison 5s, Public Service 4½s, American Telephone 5s, International Telephone 5s and Utah Power & Light 5s lost fractionally.

In the amusement group, Loew's warrants 6s established a new 1930 high at 130, up 2 points. The demand for United States Governments was small. Most issues made small advances.

New offerings tomorrow include a $20,000,000 issue of Great Northern Railway for General Mortgage 4½s at 97. They are due in 1977.

Other offerings are: $15,000,000 National Power & Light 100-year debenture 5s at 91; $3,333,000 City of Quebec 30-year 5s at 101.95; $5,451,000 City of Pittsburgh Serial 4¼s priced to yield 3.50 to 4.05; and $13,396,000 City of Toronto Serial 5s to yield 4 to 4.85 per cent.

Life Insurance Company Meeting.

The New York Life Insurance Co. will hold a convention at the Willard Hotel tomorrow and Saturday to be attended by representatives of the sales force in Pennsylvania and New Jersey. There will probably be about 400 in attendance.

The meeting will be in charge of George W. Long, inspector of agencies at Philadelphia and also by a delegation from the home office, headed by Senior Vice President Thomas A. Buckner. The meeting is one of a series being held to celebrate Mr. Buckner's fiftieth anniversary of service with the New York Life. Earl D. Krewson is local agency director.

The executive council of the auditors' section, District of Columbia Bankers Association, has appointed the following committee to select nominees for the council for the next administrative year, to be elected at the annual meeting: J. E. Benton, American Security & Trust Co., chairman E. H. Parkaley, National Bank of Washington; S. Peacock, Chevy Chase Savings Bank; A. A. P. Savage, National Savings & Trust Co.; Eugene Marks, Merchants Bank & Trust Co.

The increasing importance of the South as an industrial territory is generally recognized and constantly reflected in new business enterprises locating below the Mason and Dixon line, but a fact of relative importance is often overlooked. That fact is the necessity for adequate office accommodations, in the population centers, for sales and other executive functions required by this new trend in Southern economic affairs.

New Baltimore Building.

In Baltimore, the nearest large industrial city to Washington, the situation has already been realized and steps taken to meet the growing demand by the erection of the new Court Square Building and a new 37 story building by the Baltimore Trust Co.

The question of earlier closing for local banks has been referred back by the executive council, District of Columbus Bankers Association, to a special committee preparing a tentative plan for member banks consideration.

John D. Mothershed takes charge of the local office of Fenner & Beane, succeeding John McLean, transferred to St. Louis.

George A. Garrett, resident partner of F. B. Keech & Co., will attend the Derby at Louisville, Ky.

Paul W. Chapman, chairman of the board of United States Lines, is spending a few days in Washington.

Life Underwriter Officers.

At the annual reorganization meeting of the board of directors of the District of Columbia Life Underwriters Association, the following officers were elected for the coming year: President, John H. Snyder, Mutual Benefit of New Jersey; vice president, Paul D. Sleeper, Aetna Life Insurance Co.; second vice president, Philip L. Baldwin, Northwestern Mutual; secretary, Alton G. Grinnel, New England Mutual; treasurer, George B. Farquhar, Penn Mutual Life. Directors are H. D. Kraft, John L. McElfresh, John F. Cremen, J. E. McCombs and John P. Lynch.

The new president, John H. Snyder, has been interested in the insurance business for 25 years. He is held in high regard by all members of the insurance fraternity in Washington. His election to the presidency of the District is a recognition of his clean cut business methods and the personal esteem in which he is held in this city. The association looks forward to a year of continued growth under his leadership.

Curb Review

New York, May 1 A.P.).—The Curb Market again worked moderately higher in quet trading today, as speculation for the rise was concentrated in the electric power and natural gas issues and some of the specialties. Total sales, at 803,700 shares, were substantially larger than yesterday's turnover of 675,200, but still considerably below normal.

Wall street has been buzzing with rumors of natural gas developments and power mergers of late, and the utility shares have rebounded rapidly from the low levels of ten days ago. There is a feeling in some quarters that several utility mergers will be rushed to completion before the next session of Congress, when serious attempts to bring utility companies under more rigid control are expected.

Electric Bond & Share rose about 3 points to 106, a new high for the movement, and such issues as American Gas & Electric, American Light & Traction, North American Power & Light, United Light A, and American Superpower, rose 1 to 3 points. In the natural gas group, Missouri Kansas Pipe Line, United Gas, Memphis Natural Gas, and Southwest Gas Utilities were in good demand.

Among the industrials and specialties, Cooper Bessemer, Lily Tulip Cup, and Electrographic rose 2 points or mor to new high ground. Neet, Inc., continued to reflect favorable earnings and merger reports. Aviation stocks encountered some profit taking, but Irving Air Chute was a firm spot. The company now has sufficient orders to keep its plants busy for the remainder of the year. Deere new stock slipped back 2 points, and Van Camp Packing, which shot up more than 6 points yesterday, attracted large scale realizing and closed off 4½.

Oil shares turned rather sluggish. A feature was McColl Frontenac, a Canadian refining and distributing company. The stock rose 5 points to 27½, equaling its best figure of the year.

It has been comparatively inactive since it was first admitted to trading on this market in January. Gulf rose a couple of points, and Cities Service rose fractionally.

Trading in Cotton Quiet.

New York, May 14 (A.P.).—Trading in cotton was comparatively quiet today, with prices showing a tendency to work lower owing to relatively easy Liverpool cables and reports of beneficial rains in the Eastern belt. Declines brought in some covering, but it was supplied on moderate rallies with the mid-afternoon market quiet at net losses of about 18 to 25 points.

OIL COMPANY EARNS $120,912,794 IN 1929

Head of Standard Concern of N. J. Briefly Reviews Industry's Condition.

CURTAIL EFFORTS GIVEN

New York, May 14 (A.P.). — The Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey in its annual report for 1929 published today shows net profit of $120,912,794, equal to $4.75 per share of capital stock outstanding at the end of year, as increased from $108,485,686, or $4.44 per share in 1928.

The net profit was equal to 10 1-5 per cent of the net assets of $1,184,697,419. Total assets were carried at $1,757,377,555, an increase of approximately $200,000,000 over the total as carried at the end of the previous year. Cash and marketable securities totaled nearly $242,000,000, as reduced from approximately $264,000,000 at the end of 1928.

In his summary of conditions in the industry, W. C. Teagle, president, said, "After three years of effort to relieve itself of the incubus of overproduction, the industry found itself at the close of 1929 with record stocks in storage. Operators in a number of producing areas have adopted a wise course in their voluntary curtailment of output, and a situation that might have had disastrous consequence was kept measurably in hand. The industry has not made progress to the extent of bringing about an actual reduction of stocks, but in its spasmodic attempts to attain that goal it has at least prevented more excessive overproduction than actually occurred."

"The degre of prosperity experienced by the industry," he continued, "has been demonstrated to tend in inverse ratio to the amounts of surplus crude and products which carries from year to year. The extent to which both producers and refiners recognize that not the volume of production, but the ability to measure production to fit the requirements of the consuming markets as these requirements arise, will determine the future of the industry."

The gross crude production of the company and its affiliated and subsidiary companies was 101,100,098 barrels, an increase of approximately 15,000,000 over 1928, and crude runs by refineries was 196,797,000, also an increase of about 15,000,000. There were practically no increases in crude stocks or stocks at refineries at the end of the year, as compared to the end of last year.

Regarding the company's new hydrogenation process, owned jointly with the Lerman Dye Trust, Mr. Teagle said the technic is adaptable to supplementing as well as replacing to a considerable extent the present refining methods. He said its development would be slower than was that of the cracking process, but he predicted that it would eventually place the industry on a plane of stability comparable to that of other basic industries.

ARLINGTON SEWAGE PROGRAM INDORSED

Virginia Health Department Approves Plan to Install Trunk-Line System.

REPORT TO BE DRAFTED

ARLINGTON COUNTY.
BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

The State health department yesterday indorsed the program which has been prepared by County Engineer C. L. Kinnier for the installation of a county-wide trunk line sewerage system.

The action by the State followed a conference held by County Health Officer Dr. P. M. Chichester, which was attended by Richard Messer, sanitary engineer of the State health department; R. E. Tarbett, of Washington, sanitary engineer United States Public Health Service, and County Engineer C. L. Kinnier. Mr. Tarbett attended the conference as guest of Mr. Messer.

During the conference, which was held in the courthouse and lasted more than four hours, Mr. Kinnier explained fully what areas will be covered and stated that the work of installing the system would cover a period of three years.

Concluding the conference, Mr. Kinnier announced that he will submit to the county board of supervisors at its meeting today at the courthouse a complete detailed report covering all angles of the system showing cost of each single section of the system and what the approximate increase in taxes will be.

He stated further that the report will be studied by the board and will include recommendations for the adoption of a special ordinance which will provide that it become mandatory upon all property owners to connect with the system after reasonable notice.

Mrs. Gladys Monroe was reelected president of the Parent-Teacher Association of the Thomas Nelson Page School at Ballston at the meeting held in the schoolhouse last night. Other officers are Mrs. Helen Hayes, vice president; Fred Edwards, secretary, and Miss Elizabeth Beall, treasurer.

Walter U. Varney, attorney, addressed the meeting. He stressed the need of additional room at a number of the county schools and appealed to his hearers to support the bond issue for schools.

The association went on record as opposing the use of the old Cherrydale School for either a House of Detention or a training school for incorrigible children.

The newly elected officers will assume their new duties at the meeting to be held Tuesday night, June 3.

Mrs. Goldie Thompson, of Falls Church is in the Georgetown Hospital as the result of injuries sustained in an automobile accident yesterday on the Lee highway near Leeway.

Following a number of complaints reaching the courthouse against the use of the vacant lot on Wilson Boulevard near the courthouse as a storage yard for building material, the first warrant charging violation of the county zoning ordinance was issued against M. Bregman yesterday by Commonwealth's Attorney William C. Gloth.

The warrant, it was learned last night, was issued after Gloth had held a conference with Robert M. Forman who has been appointed administrative officer for the zoning ordinance.

Bregman will be given a hearing today in Police Court before Police Judge Harry R. Thomas.

Both speakers will discuss the Back to the District movement and its advantages in having Arlington County again become a part of the District of Columbia.

Among other matters to come before the meeting will be the election of officers.

Plans have been completed by the teachers of the James Monroe School in cooperation with the Parent-Teachers Association for the holding of the annual May Day celebration on the school grounds today at 6:30, weather permitting.

The Arlington Rotary Club will hold its weekly luncheon meeting today at the Washington Golf & Country Club at 12:30 o'clock. Dr. Richard N. Sutton, president, will preside.

With one dissenting vote the Clarendon Citizens Association at its meeting held last night in the rooms of the Arlington County Chamber of Commerce went on record as indorsing the proposed bond issue for the installation of a county-wide trunk line sewerage system.

The association voted on the project following a lengthy discussion and detailed report on plans for the intallation of the system as given by County Engineer C. L. Kinnier.

Other speakers were County School Superintendent Fletcher Kemp, who spoke on the proposed school bond issue, and Mrs. Mary M. Lockwood, who explained the progress being made by the Arlington District Public Library.

The Parent-Teacher Association of the Henry Clay School, at Lyon Park, will hold a benefit bake sale in the Atlantic & Pacific Tea Store tomorrow.

Chief A. C. Scheffel of the Arlington Volunteer Fire Department announces the appointment of Edward G. Goldblatt as superintendent of machinery for the department.

A petition calling upon the County Board of Supervisors to appoint a public utilities commission to act in a semiofficial capacity in cooperation with them will be filed at the meeting of the board today by representatives of the Arlington District Council of Citizens Associations.

CHILD DIES IN AUTO OF MYSTERY CAUSE

Family Reaches Baltimore in Car With Boy Dead, and Father and Son Ill.

PILLS TAKEN FOR RASH

Baltimore, Md., May 14 (A.P.).—Motoring here from South Carolina, Robert Demsky and his family arrived today with one child dead and the father and another child so ill of an undiagnosed malady that they were taken to a hospital.

The dead child was Elmer Demsky, 6, who died en route here from Petersburg, Va., police were told.

Demsky, coming into Baltimore, stopped his car and called to a policeman, "I have a child dead." The policeman called a patrol and sent the child and its mother to a hospital.

The patrolman then saw the man waver and fall to the sidewalk, and Demsky too was sent to the hospital. The patrolman then decided physicians should examine Marion, 8, the other child, and sent him to the hospital also.

Demsky told the patrolman before he collapsed that they had left their home in South Carolina to visit a sister here. A rash appeared on the children and a doctor was consulted en route at Petersburg, Va. The children were given some pills to take, he said, and nothing more thought of the matter until after midnight when Elmer died as the family neared the city.

Convent Burglar Bites Pair in Fight

Baltimore Cloisters Broken Into for First Time in History.

Baltimore, May 14 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—For the first time in criminal pursuits in Baltimore, a burglar today turned to convents.

With one man under arrest on a charge of robbing St. Agnes's convent, police are seeking another man who ransacked St. Rita's Convent and escaped with $15.

Both convents were entered while the sisters were at mass early today. Edward Heath, janitor at St. Agnes', told police he saw a man leaving the building and tackled him.

The man struggled to an automobile parked nearby. As Heath tussled with him he bit the janitor's hand. Edward Lancasinger, who saw the two men struggling in the car, joined the melee and also was bitten. The alleged thief told police he was Walter M. Onunsky, of New York.

Daily O'Currences

By JOHN DALY

AFTER a lot of dial-twisting, just when a distant station came in strong with some red-hot jazz, Luella looked over her book and grew fidgety.

"Do," she said, in somewhat peeved terms, "Do turn off the Stentor——"

'Twas a new one on me.

"The Stentor? Whatd'ye mean, the Stentor?"

She laid down her book.

"Sometimes," she said, condescension in her tone, "sometimes I think you're only half educated——"

"Half-educated! What's that got to do with the Stentor? Never heard of such a thing. You said turn off the Stentor."

"That's just what I said—and it's what I mean—please turn off the Stentor!"

• • • •

THE old radio was rattling along in great shape.

"What do I know about a Stentor?" I asked, flabbergasted.

"You studied Greek mythology, didn't you?"

"Certainly! What of it?"

Luella leveled me with a look.

"If you studied Greek mythology," she flashed, "you should certainly understand a request to turn off the Stentor."

DOG-GONE this business, getting all jammed up just when a good station is coming in clear—with lots of peppy jazz.

Without waiting for me to answer, Luella came over and shut off the radio.

"There," she said, "I've turned off the Stentor."

"Stentor, me eye! That's the radio."

"What d'ye call this thing the noise comes through?" she asked.

"Noise? Music! It comes through the loud speaker——"

• • • •

LUELLA laughed: "Well, that's the Stentor."

"What's the Stentor?"

"The loud speaker's the Stentor."

"Says you——"

"Yeah—says I—the Stentor."

To prove it, she went to the bookcase and got a tome.

"There," she said, pointing to a passage: "Stentor, Greek hero at the seige of Troy recorded by Homer as able to shout louder than 50 ordinary men——"

"Well?" I fumbled.

"In other words, a loud speaker," said Luella, in stentorian tones, and to show that the idea registered I turned on the Stentor—but the distant station had faded.

Legion Post Plans 1930 Poppy Sale

Proceeds Are to Be Used to Aid Disabled Veterans in Loudoun County.

Special to The Washington Post.

Leesburg, Va., May 14.—The poppy sale in Loudoun County, held under the auspices of Loudoun Post, No. 34, American Legion, is scheduled to start on Saturday, May 24. This little red flower, which serves a double mission—that of honoring the dead and serving the living—will adorn the lapels of several thousand coats in the county.

Lieut. Comdr. Richard Wainwright, jr., as chairman of the poppy sale committee, and Harry G. Breckenridge, post commander, hope that 3,000 poppies will be sold. The proceeds will go to the relief of the disabled, their families and the families of the dead.

Those on the committee helping Mr. Wainwright are Mrs. S. T. Ish, Aldie; Mrs. William Hay, Ashburn; Mrs. Nancy Warner, Hamilton; Mrs. H. G. Breckenridge, Herndon; Mrs. W. O. Cummings, Hillsboro; Mrs. Richard Wainwright, jr., Leesburg; Mrs. H. W. Beatty, Lovettsville; the Rev. D. C. Mayers, Middleburg; Mrs. Grace B. Popkins, Purcellville; Miss Maria A. Copeland, Round Hill, and Mrs. J. R. Mays, Waterford.

Relatives to Contest Dr. J. I. Triplett's Will

Special to The Washington Post.

Winchester, Va., May 14.—Contest of the will of the late Dr. J. I. Triplett, capitalist and philanthropist, Mount Jackson, Va., was indicated here today. The contest is planned by close relatives, who will attack the provision of the will which undertakes to bequeath a large amount of money to establish a business college for worthy boys and girls in Shenandoah County. The Triplett estate has been valued at approximately $1,000,000.

The will is to be attacked on the ground that the provisions for the business college are "vague and indefinite," although the testator provided for a board of trustees who should administer the funds and direct affairs of the institution. Between $250,000 and $300,000 was to be provided for the college building and endowment for its maintenance.

County Tax Rate To Remain Same

Montgomery Levy Set at $1.30 on $100 Worth of Property.

Montgomery County's tax rate will remain unchanged in the coming fiscal year although the expenses of the county are higher than this year, according to Lacy Shaw, acting president of the board of county commissioners. The present tax rate is $1.30 on $100 real and personal property. The county's fiscal year begins June 1.

The county commissioners expect to have the annual budget ready by July 3, at which time the tax rate will be officially fixed. The county's taxable basis shows an increase of approximately $1,500,000 since last year's levy and this will care for the increase in county running expenses incident to the growth of the county.

The State tax rate will be 25 cents on each $100, which is 74-100 cents less than last year's rate.

Soldier Trio Sentenced On Charges of Robbery

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., May 14.—Three soldiers from Fort Meade were found guilty of robbery by Judge Robert Moss in Anne Arundel County Circuit Court here today, and each was sentenced to 30 days in jail. The offenders are Frederick F. Richards, George N. Rupp and Clyde Smith.

They were charged with entering the home of John Krainer, near Laurel, last New Year's night and making away with $35. Krainer stated that Smith covered him with a gun while Rupp rifled his pockets of between $5 and $7. The rest of the money was taken from a box. Rupp soon will be brought to trial on an additional charge of attacking Krainer's wife.

STATE PROJECT AIDS ELECTRICAL SERVICE

Virginia Plan Enables Many Rural Homes to Enjoy Power Lines.

ONE POLICY IS STANDARD

Blacksburg, Va., May 14 (A.P.).—Electric service has been made available to many rural communities and farms in Virginia through adoption of a Statewide plan for the extension of rural electric power lines, Charles E. Seitz, professor of agricultural engineering at Virginia Polytechnic Institute, said here today. Under the plan adopted the electric companies finance the construction of all rural lines except on private property and supply power at rates applying in the cities or towns from which the extensions are built.

Thousands of farms and residents of small rural communities located reasonably near cities or electric power lines will now be able to secure electric service at a comparatively low cost, said Prof. Seitz, who pointed out that the State plan may result in speeding up construction of electric lines to many farms and rural communities.

He said that before the Statewide plan was adopted practically every power company had a different policy or plan for building rural power lines. In most cases farmers were compelled to pay all or a large part of the cost of building the lines, being charged a rural rate in addition to the rate applying in the city from which the extension was made. "This made the cost prohibitive," declared Prof. Seitz, "and caused the farmer to feel he was being discriminated against."

Early in 1929 former Gov. Harry F. Byrd appointed a State committee on rural electrification to develop a standard plan for making rural line extensions. The committee adopted a plan which was approved by the governor, the State Corporation Commission, the State Agricultural Commission and 18 electric power companies supplying more than 90 per cent of the electric energy used in Virginia. Under the plan the consumer guarantees to use monthly electricity equal to 1 2-3 to 3 per cent of the cost of the particular line constructed.

During 1929, Prof. Seitz said, 816 miles of rural lines were built in Virginia, making a total of 2,860 miles of electric lines serving approximately 35,000 rural customers, of whom about 6,500 are farmers. In 1924 there were only about 500 farms connected with electric service. Prof. Seitz said that this year the power companies estimate that they will build about 1,200 miles of rural lines to serve at least 7,000 additional rural customers.

Directors of Fair Recall Stock Suit

Shenandoah Agricultural Can Not Find Original Owners of Shares.

Special to The Washington Post.

Winchester, Va., May 14.—Directors of the Shenandoah Valley Agricultural Society, which has managed the Winchester fair for the past 62 years, have abandoned hope, at least for the present, of ascertaining by means of a suit just who owns the capital stock of the society.

Since the original shares were issued, most of the stock has changed hands so often that a commissioner in chancery found it extremely difficult to locate any considerable number of real owners of the stock. As a result of many complications, the directors today decided to abandon the suit and pay court costs already incurred. It was indicated that the directors would undertake to locate owners of the stock without court action.

Suggestions have been made that the property of the society, about 30 acres, could be sold at highly satisfactory prices, in view of the fact that the fair grounds are virtually surrounded by manufacturing plants and attractive suburban developments, and the proceeds divided among the stockholders. The society has paid no dividends for a long time, but has managed by strict economy to pay its fair premiums and other expenses.

HORSE SHOW VIEWED BY COLORFUL CROWD

Robert Robey, on Spirit of St. Louis, Winner in Feature Event.

GELDING GETS BIG HAND

Unmindful of menacing clouds and intermittent showers, sleek thoroughbreds showed their mettle in gaits and high jumps yesterday before a colorful crowd of social registerites at Bradley Farms Md., for the opening of the National Capital Horse Show Association's four-day spring meet. All but two events on the program were run off before a shower sent the crowd of about 500 scurrying to their cars.

Robert Robey, up on Leon Arnold's dun gelding, Spirit of St. Louis, was an easy winner in the feature event, a touch and out contest for hunters and jumpers. Taking the 4-foot hurdles without extending himself, the big gelding drew the biggest hand of the day from box holders in the flag-bedecked grandstand.

Miss Ruth Cowans, riding Lucifer, finished second, and Miss Doris Hofheimer's Sovereign Gold placed third. Fred King's Sky High was fourth. The Army fared badly in the high jumps, none of the dozen or more cavalry entries succeeding in clearing more than two of the seven barriers.

Miss Burrland First Winner.

The first event—a jumping contest for untrained light hunters, was won by Miss Burrland, with Roger Bailey up. Frosty Anderson, riding the Chilmark Stable's chestnut mare, Springweather, was second, with Capt. Peter T. Carpenter's Clean a close third. Bandit Flag, owned by G. W. Rust, and ridden by Louis Leith, was fourth.

In the 2 and 3 year olds suitable hunters class, Louis Leith rode Jolly's Double to an easy victory, featured by form and superb handling. Clearanfast, with George P. Plummer up, was second; Coq D'Or, ridden by Thomas Spinks, was third, and Scioto, with Karl W. Corby up, fourth.

Mike Devaney's management of the temperamental Sinbad, owned by Mrs. Harry Frank, jr., won the blue ribbon in the lightweight hunters' jumps, but the judges debated at length before placing him above Red Roberts, ridden by Miss Margaret Standardt. Prince Charming, the Warfield Farms' brown gelding, placed third, with Jimmy Maloney up, and Holy River, ridden by Thomas Spinks, was fourth.

Col. Eaton Has Two Winners.

Lieut. Col. W. F. Eaton had two winners in the jumps for middle and heavyweight hunters, his Ravenscrag finishing first, with his Rathlea placing third. Prince H., another of Louis Leith's entries, was second. Aquila, of the Twin Lake Stud Farm, was fourth.

Shortly after the novice road hack contest opened, rain began to fall heavily, but the event was completed in scheduled time, first place going to Robert Robey, on W. Frank Burrows' brown gelding, Happy Time. Miss Mae Furneyhough, up on Memorial, captured second place, and Frosty Anderson came third on the Chilmark hunter, Hottentot. By Jingo, ridden by Col. Harry N. Cootes, was fourth.

No jumps were taken in the novice event, the judges basing their decision on the form exhibited by riders and mounts in the walk, fast trot, slow canter and hand gallop. The individual riding honors went to Robert Robey, who placed in four events. Louis Leith had three mounts in the ribbon winners.

Postponed Events Today.

The two events postponed because of rain will be run off at 1 o'clock this afternoon, before the jumping contest for green hunters opens. They are a form exhibit for thoroughbreds, and jumps for hunters other than thoroughbreds.

Judges of the saddle and hunter classes yesterday were: J. Gardner West, Garnersville, N. Y.; Charles H. Barrie, Media, Pa.; George Elliott, Toronto, Canada; H. M. Luttrell, Delaplane, Va.

More than 400 entries from 99 stables in nine States, the District of Columbia and Canada will participate in the four-day meet, which officials of the association declared was the largest ever held in Washington.

Heavy Downpour Breaks Drought in Rockingham

Special to The Washington Post.

Harrisonburg, Va., May 14.—A drizzling rain early this morning and a heavy downpour, lasting an hour this afternoon, partially broke the longest spring drought of the past half century in Rockingham County. The early hay crop and the growing wheat have been seriously damaged by the long dry spell, and farmers declare the rain today must be followed by others if any permanent help is to be given growing crops.

Hundreds of farmers in Rockingham are hauling water to their stock on farms. Many wells are dry and nearly dry. State Senator George B. Keezell, who has been operating a farm over 50 years, said the spring drought in Rockingham is the worst in his memory.

Blind Man Faces Maiming Charge

Resident of Winchester Declares He Acted in Self-Defense.

Special to The Washington Post.

Winchester, Va., May 14.—West Virginia authorities, it was learned here today, intend to press a criminal charge of cutting and maiming against a blind man, Luther Harper, although his victim, C. E. Clarke, Bloomery, W. Va., indicated a desire to adjust differences amicably. State officers held, however, that a statute of West Virginia had been violated, and they came here and served a warrant on Harper, who said he would not resist extradition.

In explaining the cutting, Harper said that last January 28 Clarke came up behind him and grabbed him in such a manner that he he was unable to free himself. Acting in self defense, Harper said he took out his pocket knife and cut Clarke in order to free himself. Clarke was brought to a Winchester hospital for treatment, and subsequently recovered and returned to Bloomery.

Harper said Clarke was not pressing the charge, but had told him they could easily adjust the matter, referring to medical expenses, and that neither harbored a grudge against the other. Harper went with officers last night to Romney, W. Va., where the trial is to be held.

Annual Session of Fourth Virginia District Held at Strasburg.

STRATFORD FUND AIDED

Special to The Washington Post.

Winchester, Va., May 14.—A recommendation was made today at the annual meeting of the Fourth Virginia District, United Daughters of the Confederacy, at Strasburg, that assessments for various undertakings in which general organization in Virginia has taken great interest be levied as follows: Seventeen cents per member for the Jefferson Davis Historical Foundation, 5 cents per member for a bust of Matthew Fontaine Maury, to be placed in the Hall of Fame, Washington, and 7 cents to maintain a Matthew Fontaine Maury scholarship at St. John's College, Annapolis, Md.

A resolution favors the making of the Jefferson Davis highway at the border of each U. D. C. district. Mrs. C. A. Ford, Clifton Forge, chairman of the Janet Randolph Relief Fund, presented a report of the relief fund for aiding Confederate widows, and made a strong appeal for continuance of the work, declaring that the organization should take particular pride in supporting wives and widows of Confederate soldiers.

Mrs. C. E. Bolling, Richmond, division president, appealed for continued efforts toward raising the State's quota of the Stratford Hall purchase fund. Mrs. B. F. Cary, Front Royal, presented reports on historical and educational work being conducted by the U. D. C. VIRGINIA FRUIT CROP HURT BY APRIL COLD Blooms on Peaches, Pears and Cherries Appear Early and Are Damaged.

APPLES HIT BY FROSTS

Richmond, Va., May 14 (A.P.).—Considerable damage to Virginia fruit crops has resulted from delayed coldness in April, says the Federal-State Crop Reporting Service in a statement based on conditions May 1.

Peaches, pears and cherries bloomed earlier this year and consequently suffered considerable damage during the latter part of March and early April, and this damage was accentuated by late April frost and freezes, says the report, some sections reporting almost an entire failure of stone fruits.

Relatively low temperatures during the last part of March and the first half of April benefited apples by delaying the blossoms, the report adds, but points out that severe frost between April 22 and 27 is believed to have done considerable damage to the apple orchards. Orchards with high elevation and good drainage, it says, were not so severely hit as those with a less favorable location. It continues:

"Reports as of May 1 indicate about 21 per cent of a full crop of commercial peaches for Virginia. Last year on May 1 the indications were for 88 per cent of a full crop, compared with 49 per cent reported on the same date in 1928.

"Growers in both Albemarle and Rockingham, the largest producing counties, report heavy damage in all commercial peach orchards; in some instances growers expect a complete failure. Amherst, Augusta, Botetourt, Shenandoah and Loudoun, other important producing counties, also report severe damage. The total commercial crop will, no doubt, turn out considerably less than last year, when 623 cars were shipped.

"The condition of peaches in ten Southern States exclusive of Virginia was reported on May 1 as 44.5 per cent as compared with 67.4 per cent last year and 73.8 per cent two years ago on May 1. The present condition indicates a crop of about 11,700,000 bushels, which would be about equal to the short crop produced in 1929 and about 35 per cent smaller than the five-year average production.

"The indications now point to a larger crop than last year in the five coastal States from North Carolina to Alabama. In the remaining five States further west the prospects for a crop below that of 1929 are indicated. Of the more important States, Arkansas was the most seriously damaged during the past winter, very little commercial production now being anticipated in that State. Georgia prospects are for a larger crop than last year, but still about 32 per cent below the five-year average for that state."

Canal Reopening Is Held Probable

Special to The Washington Post.

Hagerstown, Md., May 14.—The possibility that the Chesapeake & Ohio Canal, which has been closed for some years, will be reopened this summer, was revealed today by the filing in court here of the report of the trustees. The report was signed by George W. Colston and Herbert P. Preston, and states that it was the intention of the Canal Transportation Co. to operate the waterway last year, but that plans were abandoned for lack of sufficient coal hauling contracts due to market conditions.

The report further states that the company then decided to operate in 1930 between Cumberland and Williamsport, Md.

The trustees further state that the physical condition of the canal is good and that the waterway could be put into first-class condition without great expense.
